A Noble Character.
The Earth a Steel Ball.
Lady Godiva and Modesty.
Rabbits Against Eagles.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE DEATH of Dr. Albert A. Michelson is a loss to science and to the world. His life honors his country, his family, and the Jewish race.

A graduate of the Annapolis Naval Academy, Dr. Michelson returned to the academy to teach science. He returned to active service in the war, devising scientific methods for detecting the approach of submarines, and contributing other important discoveries.

BARELY OUT of his teens, he was showing the Annapolis students how to measure the speed of light, with a home-made apparatus, when he discovered that the accepted light measurement was erroneous, and notified the scientific bodies of the world of his corrected measurement, 186,000 miles per second.

THUS, HE gave to the world a correct "cosmic yardstick" by which the distances of fixed stars and outside universes are measured. So many "light years," so many miles.

THE FRENCH kept deep underground a meter made of platinum as a permanent record of their measurement of the earth, on which their decimal systems of weights, measures and money is based. That meter, kept at even temperature, not contracting or expanding, would always re-establish metric system.

Michelson said:

"I shall give you something more permanent and you will need no meter of platinum."

HE MEASURED one of the rays in the spectrum, that of a certain metal, announced the result, which was about the millionth part of an inch, and said:

"Multiply the length of that ray by so many millions, and you will have your meter, so long as the world lasts."

French science verified his measurement and the Nobel prize for physics was given to him.

SCIENTISTS IN Berlin, praising and crowning Michelson after the Nobel prize award, said:

"We wish also to honor his distinguished father, for his great service in measuring the speed of light."

They did not think one so young could have made the light measurement so many years before and concluded that Michelson's father must have done it. Michelson said to this writer:

"I did not tell them that my father, who kept a small clothing store in Virginia City, wondered what good I could do myself or anybody else trying to find out how fast light travels."

Michelson's modesty equalled his greatness. He was asked at the Quadrangle Club in the University of Chicago:

"Do you think I could possibly get any clear idea of modern higher mathematics?"

He replied with perfect sincerity:

"Well, I think you might, but I cannot."

AT THAT TIME by mathematical calculation he was computing the rigidity of the earth, which he established at about the same ridigity as though the earth were made of solid steel.

He measured the rise and fall of the tide in a pipe one inch in diameter, more than a mile long. You know, of course, that the tide rises and falls in a small pond, a tea cup or an inch pipe, just as it does in the ocean, only the tide is not so high in a tea cup.

WITH THE SUN and moon pulling together, the tide rises to a certain, maximum height. With the moon above and the sun off to one side, pulling against each other, the tide is lower, because the conflicting pull draws the earth out of shape. And the amount of the earth's distortion enabled Michelson to show that the earth is as rigid as a steel ball. But, he did not call that "higher mathematics."

HE WAS a great man, thought little of himself, except as he hoped to be useful, thought nothing of money, never considered it. Yet, Dr. Millikan, one of his students of 34 years ago, says:

"I personally believe that the United States has not had, in this generation, a greater economic asset than Albert Michelson."

It would interest Michelson, the father, who had the little Virginia City clothing store, to know that his son Albert, who knew and cared nothing for money, dying poor, after spending his Nobel prize money in scientific experiment, had contributed billions in wealth to his native country.

PROVIDENCE IS not wasteful or wilfully destructive. There must be a place, somewhere in space, to which a spirit of such great genius and noble character can go and continue work.

DR. EINSTEIN tells Oxford about new proof of his relativity theory. The doctor talked in German. None was admitted except students, the faculty of Oxford and a few visiting British scientists. All the Oxford doorkeepers were needed to hold back the jam. Many escaped a headache that will never know it.

If you can locate your thinking in four-dimensional space and conceive an adjustment of that space to include electromagnetism, it will be plain to you.

YOU MEET with relativity in real life, for everything is rela-

MAN ENDS LIFE IN LEAP OFF BRIDGE

Passersby See Father of 4 Killed in 65-Foot Plunge From Mission St. Span

By a leap of 65 feet from the Mission Street Bridge, off Brownsville road, Anthony Baker, 38, of 2023 Gregory street, ended his life shortly before noon today.

His crushed body was found in South Twenty-first street and taken to the South Side Hospital, where he died 15 minutes later.

According to the South Side police, Baker had been drinking. He was the father of twins and two other children. Anna and Bernard, the twins, are 6 years old; Anthony, Jr., 9, and Reta, 2. Police say that Baker's father died last week.

Baker left his home in his stocking feet, and his death plunge was made in the presence of several people who were crossing the bridge at the time.

Ill, Former Sailor Kills Self to End Suffering

Alexander R. Greenwald, 30, an ex-sailor, ended his life today in the home of his aunt, Mrs. Nettie Greenwald, 1321 Western avenue, by shooting himself through the head.

He left a note telling his aunt he would rather be dead than bear his suffering from a cancer. Mrs. Greenwald said Navy officials had ordered him to go to Chicago for treatment, but he had refused.

Lands on Head in 40-Foot Plunge From Bridge, Lives

Michael Anchems fell 40 feet and landed on his head early today. He was treated by Dr. Herbert Flemming who put 18 stitches in the wound. He then went to his home at 148 Park road, Ambridge. Anchems fell from the Pennsylvania Railroad Bridge over Nineteenth street hollow, Ambridge. He is expected back at work in a couple of days.

STOCKS OF COAL AT 1922 MARK

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(INS.)—Reaching the lowest point since 1922, commercial stocks of bituminous coal, used largely for industrial purposes, amounted to 29,500,000 tons April 1, the Bureau of Mines announced today.

In comparison with the amount on hand at the beginning of the previous quarter, this was a decrease of 7,700,000 tons.

Exports in the first quarter of 1931 averaged 175,000 tons a week, against 331,000 tons the preceding quarter. The weekly rate of consumption in the United States in the first quarter amounted to 8,868,000 tons, compared with 8,987,000 tons the last quarter of 1930.

'Pa' Bans Stribling From Flying Plane

ATLANTA, Ga., May 11.—(INS.)—William Lawrence Stribling, Jr. has been grounded.

"Pa" Stribling, his father-manager, decreed that Strib is not to fly his plane any more until after the championship fight with Max Schmeling on July 3. "Pa" is tired of having to worry over his son's daredevil pranks, and yesterday barred the Georgian from participating in speed boat races at Macon.

Michelson Funeral Set for Tomorrow

PASADENA, Cal., May 11.—(INS.)—Funeral services will be conducted at 5:30 p. m. tomorrow for Dr. Albert A. Michelson, noted scientist, who died Saturday, it was announced today. The services will be held at the Michelson residence and will be private with members of the family and a few intimate friends present.

Queen Marie Hurt in Fall From Ladder

RUMANIA'S MARIE

BERLIN, May 11—(INS.)—The newspaper Tempo today received a dispatch from Milan that Dowager Queen Marie, of Roumania, was seriously injured near Bellagio, Italy, when she slipped and fell while sight-seeing there.

The accident occurred in a mountain gorge near Bellagio, the dispatch said. The dowager queen attempted to climb a ladder to the top of the gorge for a better view, but missed one of the rungs of the ladder and fell heavily.

Call Money At 1908 Rate

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP.)—For the first time since September 9, 1908, call money renewed at 1 per cent today at the New York Stock Exchange loaning desk.

The renewal rate, which is the interest charged on previously contracted brokers' borrowings, reflects conditions in the short term money market, and today's extremely low figure was an aftermath of the recent cut in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate to 1½ per cent.

The highest call money rate since the establishment of the Federal Reserve System was inaugurated was 30 per cent on November 12, 1919, but the record is the 125 per cent that appeared in October, 1907, during the "money panic."

Zane Grey Lands 980-Pound Fish

SUVA, Fiji Islands, May 11.—(INS.)—Zane Grey, noted author and sportsman, was here today after weeks of fishing in the South Seas.

During his fishing expedition Grey snared a 980-pound swordfish, a dogtooth tuna weighing 80 pounds, a sailfish tipping the scales at 170 pounds and a mako shark which weighed 580 pounds.

Slight to Princess Helen Balks Reconciliation

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
International News Service.

BERLIN, May 11.—A slight to Princess Helen, intentional or accidental, was responsible for Helen's refusal to appear in public with King Carol at the Rumanian independence day celebrations yesterday, and may have upset the carefully laid plans for a reconciliation between the Rumanian royal couple, International News Service was advised today through uncensored dispatches from Bucharest.

Following the intervention by King Alexander, of Jugoslavia, in the marital affairs of King Carol and his divorced wife, Helen returned to Bucharest, but refused to participate with King Carol in the review of troops because only one lady-in-waiting had been assigned to meet her at the station.

Helen, it was stated, feels now that she and the King are wholly unsuited to each other, and is reconciled even to the loss of her son, since Carol has come out victorious in the months-long silent battle which he and Helen have waged for Crown Prince Michael's affections. She is asking Coral for a cash settlement to enable her to live in England.

COURT ENJOINS CITY METER AWARD

Low Bid Principle Upheld In Ruling; Decision of Judge Drew Reversed

The State Supreme Court, reversing the Allegheny County Court, today held in effect that municipal contracts must be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder.

An injunction, sought to restrain the award of a contract for 3,000 water meters and repair parts to the Pittsburgh-Equitable Meter Company, was ordered granted on the appeal of Edward E. Pearlman, taxpayer.

Early in 1930 bids were asked from the Pittsburgh Company, the Meter Company, and the Hersey Manufacturing Company, and the contract awarded to the Pittsburgh Company.

BID LOWER

The Neptune Company, a Brooklyn, N. Y., concern, was approximately 5 per cent lower in its bid than the successful company. Pearlman contended in his suit that the Neptune company was responsible and asked for an injunction. At a hearing last September, before Judge James B. Drew, the injunction was denied and Pearlman appealed.

CITY'S DEFENSE

The city, defending its action and supported by the lower court, held that the Neptune company's bid was unbalanced.

Justice Emory A. Walling, writing the Supreme Court opinion, said:

"It is a novel proposition that the bid of a perfectly responsible party can be ignored because it is whole or in part too low.

"The statute requires that contracts be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder and the courts hold it is for the municipal authorities in the exercise of sound discretion to determine who is such."

The contract was awarded to the Pittsburgh company by Director of Supplies B. L. Succop, March 16, 1930, and involved about $42,000.

Assistant District Attorney W. H. Colvin was studying the opinion to see how it would affect the audit now being conducted in the affairs of the Department of Supplies under Director Succop.

PALMER MEETS SAND CHARGES

Echoes of the exhaustive Department of Public Works inquiry reveberated through the corridors of City Council today as I. Charles Palmer, city engineer, defended his position as a director of the West Penn Sand and Gravel Company, of which Mike Manella, a city contractor, is president.

Palmer said that he had entered the West Penn company as a director in 1927 in the capacity of an advisory engineer. He served the company until February of this year. When he took the position, Palmer said, he had been assured the company would confine its activities to the Beaver Valley territory. He resigned, he said, when the company announced its intention of entering the Pittsburgh territory.

Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, reserved decision.

'Bugs' Greeted, Not Pursued, by Chicago Police

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Chicago: We're going West with a trainload of comic artists and writers.

Got instructions to water them every 48 hours.

They were milling and growling at Buffalo. But at Cleveland we threw 'em a bale of hay and a quart of ink. That kept 'em quiet until we reached Chicago.

The Herald and Examiner met us at La Salle Street Station with a posse of motorized gendarmes. For the first time in our life we had an escort of policemen who weren't chasing us.

There is quite a thrill being whisked up Michigan boulevard at the rate of 48 states and two territories an hour, especially with an escort of constables on coughing bicycles to knock over awkward pedestrians who try to grab themselves a slice of your right-of-way.

There was a slight misunderstanding at the start of the parade. George Jiggs McManus, Milt Screwloose Gross, Ted Cuckoo Cook and Russ Tillie Westover had never been honored by a police escort before.

They tried to climb onto the motorcycles. But Senator Copeland and the Bugs were thoroughly familiar with the details. We knew what to do.

The Senator phoned his lawyer and the Bugs took it on the lamm.

We're out here for the fiftieth anniversary of the Herald and Examiner and we are going to have a big time today when Mayor Cermak gives the Bugs the keys to the lake.

PLANE WRECKED BY BULLDOG

The appearance of an airplane on a golf course was a new experience for Bill, a Boston bulldog and neighborhood favorite.

Bill, whose five years had been spent in chasing stray golf balls for players on the Sewickley Y. M. C. A. course, sensed that something was out of order.

He investigated and ran into the whirring propeller just before the plane piloted by Gus Hingst, 22, of 534 Beaver road, Sewickley, taxied across the course to take off. The plane crashed into a tree on the course as friends picked up Bill's lifeless body and carried it away. Hingst was uninjured, except for scratches.

Chief H. M. Rhodes, of the Sewickley police, said today that he would prefer charges against Hingst for flying low and stunting over the borough.

Bill is being mourned today by Master Billy Wilson, 3, of Chalmyer street, Sewickley.

Teddy Manos, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Manos, of Greensburg, died yesterday afternoon in the Westmoreland County Hospital from injuries received when he ran into the whirling propeller of an airplane at the Greensburg-Pittsburgh Airport.

The child, accompanied by his mother, had gone up for his first ride and eluded attendants on alighting.

Ida Vera Simonton, Author, Near Death

NEW YORK, May 11.—(INS.)—Miss Ida Vera Simonton, well-known author of Pittsburgh, who is ill at Memorial Hospital here, is not expected to live. She is the author of the novel "Hell's Playground" from which the play "White Cargo" was taken.

Actress Will Marry Son of D'Annunzio

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP.)—The engagement of Medea Columbara, musical comedy star, to Ugo V. D'Annunzio, son of Gabriele D'Annunzio, noted Italian playwright and poet, which has been kept secret for a year, was revealed today.

The marriage will take place in the fall. Morris Gest will be best man. Miss Columbara is prima donna of Al Jolson's "The Wonder Bar."

American Duchess Granted Divorce

LONDON, May 11.—(INS.)—The Duchess of Manchester, the former Helena Zimmerman, daughter of Eugene Zimmerman, millionaire Cincinnati brewer, today was granted a decree nisi by Justice Bateson in an uncontested divorce suit.

The couple, married in 1900, have two sons and two daughters.

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED IN MADRID

Zamora Blames Reds, Calls On Soldiers to Quell Mobs; Religious Edifices Attacked

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service.

MADRID, May 11.—Martial law was officially declared in Madrid today as rioting and street disturbances threatened to get beyond control of the civil forces of the new republican provisional government.

The declaration of martial law followed 24 hours of violent outbursts throughout the city in which 10 religious buildings—monasteries, convents and churches—were looted and burned and three persons killed, and many others injured.

In an effort to appease the wrath of the mobs, police rearrested former Premier Damaso Berenguer, released only last Saturday from the military prison where he had been confined by the republican government. He was held originally for examination of his responsibility in the execution of two men convicted of treason in the Jaca revolt of last December. The courtmartial quashed the charge, but rioters today shouted criticism of the government leniency.

REDS BLAMED

The government blamed the rioting on the extreme Lefts or Communists, and announced that it would maintain the republic by force if necessary.

Regular army infantry and cavalry marched into the streets and began taking over the work of the civil guards. Despite this show of force, with its threat of open street warfare, the mobs continued their attack on Catholic institutions. One group of rioters paraded the streets with a placard reading:

"Today's specialty—filet of Jesuits."

Public services in the city were partly paralyzed as trolley car drivers and taxicab chauffeurs quit work, declaring the monarchists had provoked trouble and the workers were now ready to fight.

MONASTERY BURNS

Anti-religious attacks began when a mob attacked and burned a monastery, the Jesuit headquarters, in Calle Flor, and severely beat a priest whom they dragged out of the building. The flames burned an adjoining church and spread to neighboring buildings.

All of the 200 occupants of the buildings were rescued. The monastery formerly was the American embassy.

Firemen refused to fight the flames and the mob cheered. In a few minutes the old building was destroyed. A short time later, mobs set fire to the Carmelite Monastery in the Plaza Espana, near the former royal palace, and then continued their depredations until 10 buildings were smoking ruins.

Infanta Beatrice's Engagement Denied

FONTAINEBLEAU, France, May 11.—(AP.)—Reports that Infanta Beatrice, oldest daughter of the former king and queen of Spain, is engaged to marry Antonio Alvaro d'Orleans, were called "absolutely untrue and ridiculous" today by a member of the royal household at its place of exile here.

'Sold' to Farmer, Youth Declares, Then Recants

An 11-year-old boy's story that he had been "sold" to a Tarentum farmer turned out to be imagination, following an investigation by police and Juvenile Court authorities here today.

The boy, who gave his name as William Shook, was found in a truck on the North Side early this morning. He said he had walked from the farm on his way to Canton, O., to see his mother. His father, he told police, had "sold" him to the Tarentum farmer last year, but on Saturday when he said he was not needed any longer, he started back to his mother.

Later the boy told Juvenile Court authorities he was not sold. He said his father "boarded" him on the farm, but he became "homesick" for his mother and started back last night.

He had previously run away from the farm, authorities here later learned.

QUICK INDICTMENT SOUGHT FOR MANCHESTER SUSPECTS

TWO IDENTIFIED AS ROBBERS BY BANKERS

County Officials Ask Return Of Pair Held With Gang In New York as Bandits

With two members of the alleged bandit gang being held in New York identified as robbers who held up the Manchester Savings Bank and escaped with $52,000, Pittsburgh authorities today were endeavoring to bring the men here for early trial.

Detective Inspector Frank Boyd said that because of the large amount of money taken here, he thought New York authorities would waive their right to prosecute the suspects until after Pittsburgh's case against them is completed.

SEEK EARLY TRIAL

Boyd said evidence against the men identified, Joseph Flynn, 26, and Sam Ruben, 38, both of New York, will be given to the grand jury now in session with the hope of indicting them early this week.

Action against other members of the New York band by Allegheny County will be held up while detectives seek to learn whether they took part in the robbery.

Others being held in New York are James Foley, 40; Barney Niefield, 35, and Robert Maple, 41. New York detectives said that all of the men, with the exception of Maple, have criminal records, and have been identified with one or more of seven robberies, in which the total loot was more than $188,000.

Flynn and Ruben were picked out as two of the men in the Manchester robbery by two employes of the bank.

TRACED BY GLASSES

Detectives said they were able to round up the band because of peculiar nose-glasses worn by a dignified, middle-aged man, who took part in each of the seven robberies. Four weeks ago two detectives saw the man with the glasses coming out of a bank.

CASH RECOVERED

They followed him and learned he is Maple, detectives said, and were able to locate his four companions. Of the loot taken in the robberies, detectives recovered $5,000 in a trunk in Foley's home, and $1,000 in Niefield's apartment, they said. When questioned as to large sums they had spent in night clubs and at race tracks, the men said they were bootleggers, it was said.

The robberies in which one or more have been identified are:

Seward National Bank; Ruben identified; February 8, 1930—West Market street branch of New Jersey National Bank and Trust Company, Newark, $11,000, Flynn identified; February 14, 1930—Merchants Trust Company, Paterson, N. J., $18,000, Foley identified; June 1930—South Side National Band and Trust Company, Newark, $13,500, Foley and Flynn identified; November 26, 1930—Peoples Bank, Hawthorne, N. J., $27,000, Flynn and Ruben indentified; December 16, 1930—Manchester Bank, Pittsburgh, $52,000, Flynn and Ruben identified; March 20, 1931—Philadelphia City National Bank, $37,000, Foley, Maple and Niefield identified.

One Hurt as Pickets Stone Ohio Miners

STEUBENVILLE O., May 11.—(AP.)—George Dailey was injured seriously at the P. R. Nicholson mine today when more than 50 men attempted to keep employes from going to work by stoning the trucks carrying workers to the mine. Last week wages at the mine were cut from $2 to $1.50 per day, with the result that 100 of the 165 men employed walked out.

VOTE MACHINE TEST GRANTED

HARRISBURG, May 11.—(AP.)—A time test of voting machines probably will be held in Harrisburg next week as a response to allegations that they are not capable of handling 500 voters on election day, Richard J. Beamish, secretary of the commonwealth, announced today.

Secretary Beamish today wrote to John A. Glover, of Philadelphia, offering to make such a test with himself and representatives of the Philadelphia newspapers as a committee of judges.

The letter was in response to a statement by Glover that he would immediately withdraw his appeal to the Supreme Court if the secretary of the commonwealth would grant a time test. Glover had charged that part of the voters of a district with 500 voters would be disfranchised if machines were used.

Trade Barrier Lowering Opposed by Coolidge

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., May 11.

To the Editor of The Sun-Telegraph:

Foreigners are anxious to sell us merchandise. Whatever some of our own people may think and say, others are all agreed in considering our markets as the most valuable place to sell in the world. Foreign merchants are not attracted with the prospect of trade in some other country. They leave that attraction to us and are solicitous in proposing that we enter some other markets with our goods, which they say we can accomplish by giving up our own markets to their foreign goods.

Mr. Coolidge

We admit other countries cannot long buy of us unless they sell to us or to others. But merchandise is not the only medium of trade. We buy many foreign bonds. We buy five or six hundred million dollars worth of tourist travel service in Europe each year.

We always consider that our own people ought to have the first chance in our own markets. We believe that we can promote desirable foreign trade only by keeping ourselves able to buy imports. The suggestion that our tariff be generally lowered, our wages, our foreign debts and living standards be reduced and only our domestic taxes be increased, has not appealed to us as a sound method of increasing foreign trade.

tive, or comparative. Lady Godiva rode through the town, dressed only in her hair, which at that time created more excitement than it would do now. One man, for p ping, lost his sight.

AT JAMMU CITY, India, 200,000 men and women crowded the streets when it was announced that the Maharanee of Kashmir would ride through the city with no veil on her face. No wife of a reigning prince had ever done that in India's history. Windows, sidewalks and roofs were packed with Hindus that could not believe their eyes.

IN HAMLET you read:

"There is nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so."

That applies to Godiva, and the Maharanee of Kashmir, also to Mohammedan women, collecting rose leaves for the manufacture of attar of roses in the Balkans, long ago.

An American, the late Albert Brisbane, riding from Berlin to Constantinople, via Athens, on horseback, with two servants, early in the last century, observed that the women, working with bare faces, would instantly cover their faces with their skirts at the approach of strangers. This would not have been done in America, even by the most bashful, for that skirt was the only garment worn by those women below the waist.

Darwin tells you that Patagonian women, surprised in the open, would dash into their huts, put ornaments on their heads and then emerge, ready for all comers, wearing only the head ornaments, no other clothing.

It's all a matter of custom. Head hunters will exhibit their ghastly collections, convinced that you admire and envy them.

PRESIDENT HOOVER, anxious to reduce expenses, asks Army heads to recommend economics in Army expenditure. If you had rabbits on the ground to defend you against eagles overhead, what importance would you attach to the rabbits? How many hundred million a year would you spend on their upkeep?

In the next war soldiers on the ground, with airplanes overhead, will be as valuable as so many rabbits.

SOME TROOPS are needed for police work, not many. The others are ornaments, except for the number needed to train recruits in war time. There will be no fighting by ground troops, on this soil.

The Army could be cut down to police work and the air force, with engineers for public works, that could be used to train new soldiers, if need should arise. It is safe to predict that no second Woodrow Wilson will ever undertake to ship 3,000,000 Americans across the ocean.

800 Miners Accept Wage Reduction

ALTOONA, Pa., May 11.—Eight hundred miners, employed in the C. A. Hughes & Co. mines at Lilly, have accepted a 14 per cent decrease in wages, the scale being cut from $5.25 a day to $4.50 per day. The mine is one of the few district mines in operation.

WOMEN'S WILLS DISPOSE OF $1,100,000

Edgewood Mother, Daughter Die Within Month; Sum For Cripples, Students

Funds for medical aid for crippled children and for college education for high school graduates are provided in the will of Carrie May Gosser, of Edgewood, who died April 17, a month after her mother had died. The will of the daughter and that of the mother were filed for probate today in the Register of Wills' office, disposing of the two estates, which had a combined value of more than $1,100,000.

The mother, Mrs. Priscilla A. Gosser, disposing of an estate valued in excess of $600,000, left $250,000 each to her daughter, Carrie May Gosser, and to her son, Arthur J. Gosser. Other beneficiaries were: Harry E. Gosser, a brother-in-law, $5,000; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Chambers, $20,000; William H. Chambers, $15,000; Priscilla Chambers, a niece, $15,000; Mrs. Maude Meater and daughter, Alice, $10,000; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Petty, $15,000, and to the First Presbyterian Church of Emlenton, $10,000.

The daughter's will was similar with the exception of a $100,000 trust fund for her brother, Arthur J. Gosser, in addition to an outright gift of $250,000, and division of the remainder of her estate into four parts, two of which were designated for medical aid for crippled children and for college education of high school graduates.

POLICE BALKED IN GEM THEFT

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP.)—Police today were puzzled by the action of Mrs. Grafton W. Minot, wife of a New York banker, who refused to let them investigate the theft of a $90,000 pearl necklace.

Mrs. Minot discovered the jewelry missing last Wednesday, and notified her insurance company. The company called in Noel Scaffa, private investigator.

Police were told by Scaffa's office that the necklace was missing, but city detectives who went to the Minot home were not admitted.

HEARING FOR 63 ON COCK FIGHT

Free on forfeits of $15 each, 63 men arrested in a raid on a gamecock fight in a barn near Versailles will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ralph Parkhill tomorrow evening.

E. N. Smith, of the Humane Society, and Parkhill were in charge of the raiding party that surprised promoters and spectators Saturday night. All exits from the barn had been covered, and the men crowded about the pit knew nothing about the raid until they were placed under arrest.

Most of the men arrested gave fictitious names, but the raiders said among the various "John Smiths" were several well-known Pittsburghers. Nine live roosters and one dead bird were confiscated, agents said.

Robber in Prison Invents Lock Baffling Pals

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., May 11.—(AP.)—The men with the deftest fingers and sharpest ears in San Quentin were agreed today Harold Marks, San Diego (Cal.) robber, serving a long term here, had perfected a theft-proof lock.

Marks' device is a key and dial combination rolled into one. The combination is set for a series of words instead of numbers and the key cannot be inserted until the proper words have been spelled. Marks has sent the lock to Washington for patenting.

GUNPLAY BARS COLON TO ARMY

COLON, Panama, May 11.—(INS.)—Gen. Preston Brown, in command of United States troops in the Canal Zone department, today issued orders restricting all soldiers from entering Colon for a period of six months, as a result of the clash Saturday night between a military policeman and a Colon detective over a prisoner.

Feeling still ran high in Colon today against American troops, who were stoned on sight by the populace because of the shooting of the detective by the American and the wounding of two bystanders.

The Panamanian detective attempted to take a prisoner from H. W. Switzer, military policeman, who resisted and fired his service pistol, wounding the detective. The detective returned the soldier's fire, wounding two onlookers. Other bystanders joined in and clubbed several soldiers.

HOLD DIAMOND, GIRL IN TORTURE

CATSKILL, N. Y., May 11.—(AP.)—Marion Roberts, show girl and friend of Jack (Legs) Diamond, was indicted for assault in the second degree today by a Greene County grand jury. The jury returned nine indictments against Diamond and his associates.

The Roberts girl is accused in connection with the case of Grover Parks, a Cairo truckman, who was kidnaped, beaten and tortured after he refused to answer questions about a load of cider he was hauling along a mountain road.

The grand jury returned new indictments against Diamond for carrying and using dangerous weapons and for coercion. It was understood that these indictments were in connection with the Parks case.

Miss Roberts, according to Parks, was present when he was dragged from his truck, taken to a patch of woods and beaten.

Postmaster Killed In Crossing Crash

COATESVILLE, Pa., May 11.—(AP.)—Howard S. Conner, 61, postmaster at Modena, was killed and his wife, Emma, 55, critically injured yesterday when their automobile was struck by a Pennsylvania Railroad express train on a grade crossing at Thorndale. They were on their way to spend Mother's Day with Conner's

Bakers on Strike Against Wage Cut

DULUTH, Minn., May 11.—(AP.)—Union bakery employes of Duluth and Superior went on strike against a proposed 10 per cent cut in wages. More than 100 bakery workers are affected, union officials said.

BRIAND AGREES TO RUN FOR PRESIDENCY

Veteran French Statesman Announces Candidacy; Royalists Oppose Him

PARIS, May 11.—(AP.)—Aristide Briand announced himself a candidate for the presidency late this afternoon.

The National Assembly meets Wednesday to perform its septennial election.

Forced to choose between the comparative obscurity of the presidency and continuation in the foreign office, the veteran French statesman had withheld a decision until he could see just how united various party groups would be in their support of him.

The Left groups of the chamber had been unwilling to ask him formally to stand for the office until the corresponding groups in the Senate made their decision.

French Royalists, participating in Sunday's national Joan of Arc celebration, staged a street demonstration against M. Briand, hissing and booing whenever his name was mentioned.

BUTLER SCORES GRAFTERS

HAGERSTOWN, Md., May 11.—(AP.)—Law-breaking parents, graft-accepting public officials and an indifferent public are charged by Brig.-Gen. Smedley D. Butler, of the Marine corps, with responsibility for America's existing crime wave.

Gen. Butler, addressing the recently organized Society for the Reduction of Crime, in a local church yesterday declared that to advance in the fight on crime, "the people have got to get mad." He added:

"Officials have got to stop shooting 16-inch guns at sparrows and police have got to do more than devote their efforts to arresting persons for parking automobiles more than a prescribed number of inches from the curb."

In many of the big cities, Gen. Butler said, officials occupy the front seats in the churches and buying stain glass windows, while on the outside they are identified with graft operations.

GIRL RE-ENACTS N. Y. SLAYING

MINEOLA, N. Y., May 11.—(AP.)—Nassau County authorities today had first-hand knowledge of how Policeman Frederick Hirsch met his death at the hands of Francis Crowley, 19-year-old desperado. Crowley's sweetheart, Helen Walsh, 16, re-enacted the crime for officials at the death spot yesterday.

Accompanied by District Attorney Edwards and Inspector King, the gunman's sweetheart, who was captured with him in a Manhattan rooming house, sobbed as she told the story of the shooting.

Crowley was in Nassau County Jail today after being transferred from a hospital, where he was recovering from police bullets. Authorities hastened their plans to place him on trial May 18.

Rudolph Duringer, captured with Crowley and charged with killing Virginia Brannen, a dance hall hostess, will go on trial at the end of this month in the Bronx.

John Drew Colt Out Of Play Over Injury

CHICAGO, May 11.—(AP.)—A dislocated hip, suffered last year at a school football game, has taken 17-year-old John Drew Colt, son of Ethel Barrymore, temporarily out of the cast of "The Love Duel," which opens in Grand Rapids, Mich., tonight.

Colt arrived with his mother and sister Ethel from Madison, Wis., on crutches. It was planned to take him to a Chicago hospital for treatment.

Pittsburgh Teachers Safe Under Moving Bill

By E. W. PRENDERGAST
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, May 11.—House Bill N. 813, which would require employes of the Philadelphia Board of Public Education to live in that city, does not apply to Pittsburgh as at first supposed, and the 1,000 teachers and employes of the schools now living outside of Pittsburgh will not have to move in.

Attorney General William A. Schnader said today:

"The bill has no relation to Pittsburgh. It applies only to Philadelphia."

The bill comes up tonight and Senator Frank J. Harris said there would be a fight against its passage.

On the original assumption that the bill applied to Pittsburgh telephone calls and telegrams from Pittsburgh teachers poured in to members of Allegheny county's delegation protesting against its passage. John Adams, of the Perry High School, chairman of the Teachers' Legislative Committee, said all the lawmakers from Pittsburgh were against it.

BOYS FIND PACKAGES OF MONEY ON RAILROAD DUMP

TREASURE HUNT STARTED NEAR UNIVERSAL

Money Believed Loot Left Months Ago by Bandits; Second Parcel Disappears

A railroad dump in Gascola Hollow, near Universal, has been the center of a treasure hunt for a week.

Four boys, playing there, found small denomination bills totaling almost $200, and left another package of them, an inch and a quarter thick, on the dump, believing them to be coupons.

The money is believed to be loot lost by a robber gang.

Charles Smetak, 13, his brother, Richard, 10; Clyde De Bernardi, 16, and Paul Vidmar, 11, all of Universal, found the money, the old large sized bills, in a package, soaked from exposure to rain and snow.

On the road near the Smetak home, they met their school teacher, Mrs. Anna Yenets. Charles gave her $5, Richard gave her $6 and Clyde gave her $10.

The teacher went to the Smetak boys' father, Frank, a Penn Township constable.

He examined the money, found it authentic and rounded up the four youngsters before they could continue their philanthropy.

News of the boys' discovery reached a ball ground, opposite the Smetak home, where a Sunday game was in progress.

PACKAGE DISAPPEARS

Players and fans alike deserted the game and started a treasure hunt of their own on the dump, more than a mile away.

Someone, who didn't bother informing his co-hunters, found the package the boys had left there.

Every day since, men and women, boys and girls have rummaged through the dump. If they've found anything, they haven't told the other treasure seekers about it.

But the boys still have a total of $181, now exchanged for brand new, small sized currency. Charles has $40, Richard, $45; Clyde, $55, and Paul, $32.

Weather Conditions.

The disturbance that was centered over Wisconsin Saturday morning, lowest barometer at Madison, remained nearly stationary over the week end. This morning it covers practically the same area with its center at Chicago. It is producing cloudy weather over most of the country east of the Rocky Mountains, and showery conditions over the plains states, the Ohio Valley states, lake region and eastward to the coast. The precipitation during the last 24 hours was light. High pressure covers the Rocky Mountain states, attended by mostly clear skies and cool weather. Temperatures are below freezing this morning over Wyoming and frost occurred as far south as Northern New Mexico. The temperature does not vary much between here and the central plains this morning.

River Conditions.

The Monongahela and the Ohio rivers are falling slowly, the Allegheny is rising. Stage at Franklin is 4.8 feet; Lock No. 7, 13.6; Pittsburgh, 15.0; Dam No. 4, 12.4; Dam No. 6, 13.5; Dam No. 10, 14.2; Dam No. 13, 14.5. They will fall slowly.

SOVIET BOOSTS LIVING COSTS

MOSCOW, May 11.—(AP.)—Millions of Soviet citizens learned to their dismay today that during the past few days the government had quietly raised the prices 50 per cent on food, liquor and practically all basic commodities.

This step was interpreted in many quarters as part of the government's program to deflate the currency, the outstanding total of which is at a huge figure.

In connection with this campaign, the government has recently opened a number of so-called "night clubs" in Moscow and other large cities where food and drink can be purchased at comparatively stupendous prices. Beer is the principal drink and it costs two rubles (nominally $1) per stein. The establishments usually are open until early in the morning and they are crowded at all hours.

FIREBUG PERILS 100 SLEEPERS

CLEVELAND, May 11.—(AP.)—Five East Side apartment houses were fired by a pyromaniac early today, endangering the lives of more than 100 sleeping residents.

Three persons were overcome by smoke in one building. All of the fires were extinguished without serious damage.

CHICAGO, May 11.—(INS.)—Fire today swept through the South Side factory of A. L. Randall & Co., furniture manufacturers, endangering scores of lives and causing damage set between $55,000 and $1,000,000. Fireman John McMerny, 50, was trapped on the third floor of the factory and burned severely.

Burglars Ransack McCormick Mansion

CHICAGO, May 11.—(AP.)—Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, reported to police that burglars had broken into her Lake Forest mansion Saturday night, searched all the rooms, but fled with no loot.

The house contains many valuable tapestries, paintings, rugs, furnishings and jewelry. So far as could be determined, nothing was stolen. Police believe the burglars were frightened away.

CITE DRY AGENT FOR BRAVERY

John D. Knight, 30 a former state policeman and for the past four years a prohibition agent attached to Pittsburgh dry headquarters, today was awarded a distinguished service citation by the National Prohibition Bureau for bravery in the performance of duty.

The citation originated in the arrest of Edward and Joseph Sinegal, of 2034 Stanton avenue, Arnold, and August Spinelli, of New Kensington, by Knight January 8.

One of the Sinegal brothers, according to a letter which accompanied the citation, attempted to draw a revolver, but was overpowered and three arrested by Knight, single-handed and without the agent even removing his own gun from its holster.

GIN JURY HUNT NEAR END

VALPARAISO, Ind., May 11.—(AP.)—A jury was expected hourly today in the Virgil Kirkland murder trial.

The 313th talesman, examined by defense attorneys as the third week of Kirkland's fight for life droned along, was the first of a sixth special venire of men and women.

Thirty-six men and four women were hand-picked during the Saturday-Sunday recess by sheriff's officials after Judge Grant Crumpacker heeded defense moves to abandon the drawing of names from the jury commissioner's box.

Fire at Portage Causes $85,000 Loss

PORTAGE, Pa., May 11.—Fire following an explosion early today caused damage estimated at $60,000 to the Martin Realty Company. The David Bloom general store was destroyed with a loss estimated at $25,000.

The Martin Building also housed the Portage telephone exchange, the American Legion headquarters and three fraternal organization clubrooms, which were destroyed.

Amanullah Drops Attempt on Throne

SIMLA, India, May 11.—(AP.)—If former King Amanullah of Afghanistan had any intention of going back to Kabul after his pilgrimage to Mecca and making a bid for his former throne, he apparently has given up the idea.

He was reported today to have left Jeddah for Suez Saturday after having completed his trip to the Moslem holy city, and it is understood that he is returning to his family in Italy.

Two Await Trial For 12 Robberies

Anthony De Luca, of Greensburg, and George L. Marr, of Schnectady, N. Y., today were committed to the Allegheny County Jail by Judge George V. Moore, to await trial on 12 charges of robbery. They were arrested in Philadelphia.

PASTORS DIFFER OVER BIRTH CONTROL

Issue Upheld and Assailed In Mother's Day Sermons In District Churches

Recent attacks by the clergy upon birth control were assailed by the Rev. Dr. John M. Versteeg, of the South Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, Wilkinsburg, in his Mother's Day sermon. Birth control, Dr. Versteeg said, is "truly Christian."

He said in part:

"Along with numerous other bodies, our conference last October demanded a Christian consideration of motherhood and expressed its conviction that there are circumstances where, for adequate ethical reasons, parentage should be avoided . . .

HITS PASTORS' STAND

"A different kind of Mother's Day is in order—one in which we wax less eloquent about worth of motherhood and more scientific about the treatment of which motherhood is worth."

ASSAILED BY PRIEST

The Rev. Thomas H. Bryson, pastor of St. Bernard's Roman Catholic Church, Mt. Lebanon, delivered a Mother's Day sermon in direct contrast to Dr. Versteeg's. He said:

"It is ironical that while we are celebrating Mother's Day the very institution of motherhood is being diabolically assailed throughout our nation. We are told that it is an animal function, degrading to womanhood, opposed to cultural progress.

"The anti-Christian doctrine of birth control is opposed to right reason and therefore to nature and the will of God."

CHAPLIN CALLS PATRIOTISM INSANITY

Sees New War in Rampant Nationalism in Explaining Refusal of 'Royal Order'

International News Service.

LONDON, May 11.—Patriotism, according to Charles Spencer Chaplin, is "the greatest form of insanity from which the world has ever suffered."

The famous comedian made this statement to a correspondent of the London Daily Express at Juan-Les-Pins, France, when asked to explain his refusal to appear at a "royal command" vaudeville performance in London for the benefit of disabled members of the profession.

RECALLS STRUGGLES

Instead of a personal appearance, he sent a check for $1,000, which he said was "about as much as I earned in my last two years on the English stage."

Explaining he never had performed on the stage since his entrance into films, Chaplin evoked bitter memories of his theatrical ambitions and struggles in England and then went on to discuss patriotism. He was quoted as saying:

"They say I have a duty to England, but I wonder. Nobody wanted me when I slaved and starved in England for a few shillings a week. I had to go to America for my chance, and I got it there."

'OLD MEN CRIMINALS'

"Patriotism is rampant everywhere, and what is going to be the result? Another war. I hope they send old men to the front next time, for they are the real criminals of Europe today."

Chaplin said he did not regard the invitation to appear in London as a "royal command," but "merely a request from a music hall manager." He told the interviewer he doesn't "care a hang" whether he ever makes another picture.

Six of Family Die On Rail Crossing

ALVORD, Tex., May 11.—(AP.)—Six persons, all members of one family, were killed at a grade crossing when their automobile was struck by a northbound Fort Worth and Denver passenger train here late last night. The dead were Charles Collins, 30; his wife, their 5-year-old daughter, Collins' mother and a sister and a brother of Mrs. Collins.

Fledglings from Christ Walter's studio are exhibiting during the next fortnight in the galleries of the Associated Artists in the McCance Block.

Nancy Allderdice has done an excellent portrait of her mother, Mrs. Taylor Allderdice, in sculptured relief.

Louise Evans has progressed splendidly since her first paintings. Expressive in color is her opportune combination of amaryllis and pansies.

Blossom Lomax keenly apprehends the character of an old woman who sells matches.

The youthful promise of Nancy Leitch will mature into a distinguished talent, if she but escape conventionalized scholastic routine.

G. E. Crawford has a sensitive landscape done near the polo field in the Squaw Run neighborhood.

A. H. Bennett visualizes the Cathedral of Learning from an angle with which few of us are familiar.

Other exhibitors are: Jennie Cook, Mrs. N. D. Craig, Margaret Gilfillan, Harvey B. McCrone and Bertha E. Oliver.

Pope to Broadcast Speech to Pilgrims

ROME, May 11.—(INS.)—The speech of His Holiness Pope Pius XI, who will address participants in the international pilgrimage to Rome on Friday to commemorate the fortieth anniversary of the encyclical Rerum Novarum, will be broadcast from the St. Damascus courtyard of the Vatican at 5 p. m., over a wavelength of 19.84 meters, it was announced today.

All cardinals in Rome today visited the Pope to express good wishes for his name-day tomorrow, the feast of St. Achilleus. The Pope, before his elevation, bore the name of Achille Ratti.

GEORGE SELDES WEDS EX-WIFE OF COUNT

Author, Once News Writer Here, Marries Divorcee, Former N. Y. Chorus Girl

Friends of George Seldes, author and former Pittsburgh newspaperman, learned here yesterday that he and the former Countess Ladino De Martino were married last week in Toulon, France. Seldes got his early training on Pittsburgh newspapers and later became war correspondent and European correspondent for the Chicago Tribune. His bride is the divorced wife of a wealthy Spanish nobleman and the daughter of a Moody, Tex., physician.

Seldes, author of "You Can't Print That," and "Can These Things Be?" at one time worked on the old Pittsburgh Leader and later on the Sun and the Post. He is a brother of Gilbert Seldes, also a former newspaper writer and author of "Lysistrata," which played here several weeks ago. When in Pittsburgh they made their home with their parents in Center avenue.

Seldes in "You Can't Print That" describes his journalistic experiences which took him to all parts of Europe immediately after the war. He was asked to leave several countries and on one occasion caused annoyance to the German War Department by interviewing Gen. Von Hindenberg just after the signing of the armistice.

The Countess Ladino De Martino, while a New York showgirl came into prominence by her story of how she was held a prisoner in a Moorish harem.

GIRL LOST, 5TH MURDER FEARED

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 11.—(AP.)—Disappearance of a 17-year-old girl puzzled detectives today, as evidence was assembled for an inquest into the death of Hazel Bradshaw, 20, former West Virginia girl, the fourth victim of a series of slayings here recently.

Louise Kesler, a business college student, vanished Fridaynight. Police said her brother, A. L. Kesler, expressing the fear she had been slain, reported she had planned to go to a motion picture show and a dance. Her parents live in Granite Quarry, N. J.

Moss E. Garrison, 37, who surrendered following the finding of Miss Bradshaw's body in a park here eight days ago, faced questioning concerning the statement of a woman that she heard a scream from the vicinity at 11:55 p. m. the previous night.

The previous slayings of Virginia Brooks, 10; Louise Teuber, 17, and Mrs. Dolly Bibbens, 35, a widow, have not been solved.

Von Bulow Memoirs Publication Halted

LONDON, May 11.—(AP.)—Publication of the memoirs of Prince von Bulow, who commanded a German army corps during the World War, was suspended today temporarily by the publishers after Lord Lonsdale notified the company he would hold it responsible for statements the book contained.

Reviews appearing in today's papers say the book refers in a derogatory manner to Lord Lonsdale, one of Britain's famous sporting peers.

Prince of Wales Victor in Golf Match

HEDNESFORD, England, May 11.—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales and Jose Jurado yesterday defeated Lord Ednam and Marcus Churio in a golf match on the Beaudesert course. The game was played on the American aggregate scoring system, to which the prince was recently introduced in Argentina.

Jurado went around in 74, as did Churio. The Prince of Wales was in good form except for minor mishaps in the rough.

Lady Heath Calls Arrest 'Outrage'

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., May 11.—(INS.)—Lady Mary Heath, noted British flier, is back at her home here after a six weeks' stay in Canada. She characterized her arrest on a charge of intoxication in Canada as an outrage.

Dravosburg Bank, 3 Homes Guarded Against Bandits

Homes of three of Dravosburg's wealthy citizens and a bank were under police guard today to frustrate a bandit gang reported to have planned a raid. Search is being made throughout the Monongahela valley today for trace of the bandits.

Police Chief Michael J. Cobak, of Glassport, tipped on the impending raid, notified Dravosburg Police Chief C. A. Livingston and immediately guards were placed around the three homes and bank.

According to Chief Cobak's informant, the bandits intended robbing the homes of Harry Richards, hotel proprietor, McClure avenue; Attorney J. Audley Pierce, a retired coal operator, and Dr. Thomas Nason, both residing on the Pittsburgh-McKeesport road, and the State Bank of Dravosburg.

Chief Livingston today stated that he had notified the persons named in the tip and had taken precautions. Richards said he had heard of the planned robbery through his nephew, Fire Chief Arthur Richards. Dr. Nason said he had not been notified.

How Would You Like One of These in Your Own Back Yard?

This Photograph of a

Coffee Tree

Was sent to us by Airmail by our coffee buyer in Brazil.

This Coffee Tree is a six-year-old, above the average in size and in the quantity of fruit it bears for its size.

The leaves of the coffee tree are dark shiny green on the upper surface, pale green underneath. Flowers are white with a fragrance like jasmine. The berries are first green, changing to a yellowish tint, next to red, and finally to a smooth, glossy purple. Enclosed in the flesh of this berry are the two seeds or beans which is raw coffee.

Coffee trees are in their prime at 15 years. Tens of thousands of trees like this are necessary to provide sufficient coffee for the large quantities of coffee we sell.

SCREEN SCORED BY METHODIST

Dr. Edward D. Kohlstadt, corresponding secretary of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church, today attacked "immoral, sex-saturated, liquor-soaked screen portraitures of the worst features of American society" as one of Christianity's most delicate problems. He spoke at the opening session of the Methodist Superintendents' two-day regional conference in the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal Church.

The regional conference is attended by delegates from Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky. Today and tomorrow will be devoted to discussions of technical problems to be solved in the promotion of home missions and church extension.

2 STATE BANKS MERGE HERE

Resources of approximately $2,000,000 will be merged today when the Napoleon State Bank, 15 Court place, consolidates with the Pittsburgh State Bank, of 507 Fifth avenue, according to Emanuel Dym, president of the Pittsburgh State Bank.

Dym said that accounts of about 1,000 depositors in the Napoleon State Bank have been transferred to the Fifth avenue institution, and that beginning today business will be conducted from the Pittsburgh State Bank quarters.

Total depositors of the merged banks will number 7,000, it was said. Negotiations were completed with the approval of the Banking Department, and the $300,000 resources of the Napoleon bank merged with the $1,726,575.44 resources of the Pittsburgh State.

Officers of the Fifth avenue bank will continue to serve, Dym said. Aside from Dym, they are F. R. S. Kaplan and Dr. A. I. Wise, vice presidents; Joseph E. Birmingham, cashier; J. J. Elling, Max T. Lencher and M. Fassberg, assistant cashiers, and E. W. Castaldi, foreign department manager.

Bert Acosta Flies Plane Built By Printer

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., May 11.—(AP.)—Bert Acosta, who flew across the Atlantic with Rear Admiral Byrd, went stunting yesterday in an airplane built by a printer in his back yard. After an hour of rolling, diving and looping, Acosta came down and described the plane "as the best I ever flew."

It was built by Joseph Tearle, who learned his aviation from books. He said the tiny wooden monoplane cost him about $1,100.

ZEMLER FACES TRIAL HERE

"Dutch Louie" Zemler, 23, who, with Richard Golden, 22, of Resaca place, North Side, escaped from the Westmoreland County jail, at Greensburg, Friday, will be placed on trial here this month, charged with the murder of W. G. Wedell, shot in a holdup of a barbecue stand on the Long Run road, Versailles.

The district attorney's office arranged with Westmoreland County authorities to dispose of Zemler's murder indictment here. Two alleged accomplices are being sought.

Search continued today for a woman said to have aided Zemler's escape by smuggling saws to him. Zemler and Golden were captured Friday night in an uptown cabaret.

DOCTORS URGED AS DOPE MEET DELEGATES

Parley Should Hear from Physicians Who Know What Drugs Mean to Victims

By WINIFRED BLACK

GENEVA, May 11.— Who is going to represent the noble and enlightened profession of medicine at the dope conference in Geneva?

I wish the American Medical Association would send a few good plain old-fashioned doctors, who hold their profession as a sacred trust, to the conference.

The Narcotic Committee of the League of Nations has been in existence for some years now. Its reports so far have dealt quite interestingly with the necessary quota for each dope-raising or dope-making country.

NEEDS NOT ESTIMATED

But nobody ever comes forward with any definite estimate as to the actual amount of dope actually needed in actual honest medical practice.

So much of a quota for this country, so little for that, argument, discussion, anger, bitter words.

How much money is invested and who owns the stock in these investments? Nobody seems to have the faintest idea and so far nobody has taken the trouble to "check and double check" on this mysterious business, which has its roots buried like a biting fang into the very heart and soul of humanity.

The delegate from Germany insists that codeine is not a habit-forming drug, and ought not to be prohibited from open sale in any drug store in any country under the sun. Ask your own family doctor what he knows about codeine. He may surprise you.

Of course, there is a lot of money in codeine and we all know that money has a way of talking convincingly.

ESTERS GREAT PERIL

Can't we hope that this conference this month will come to some plain conclusions in some very plain and very important matters. There's the little matter of esters, for instance. An ester is a little cousin to morphine and a half-sister to heroin and a step-daughter to opium. Only the ester has married a harmless stranger and thereby goes with another name.

Take some harmless drug like carbonate of soda, or magnesium, or something—mix it with morphia, give the concoction a nice medical sounding name — and there you are.

Poor souls on the verge of physical collapse will hear of the wonderful new "medicine." Mothers will give it to restless children or to half-grown boys and girls.

There are dozens of these esters. Won't you help the world out, gentlemen of the medical profession, by sending some special delegate to the Geneva conference to make a strong determined and successful fight against the cruel esters that leave such a trail of misery and despair?

UTILITIES WAR ON PINCHOT RATE BILLS

Phila. Co. Head Attacks Measures as Leading to Government Ownership

HARRISBURG, May 11.—The generals of the utility industry in Pennsylvania handled the guns themselves today as they laid down a barrage against Gov. Pinchot's three fair rate bills.

Appearing before the Judiciary General Committee were F. R. Phillips, president of the Philadelphia Company and A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. Both protested the three bills which would rip out the present Public Service Commission, supplant it with a fair rate board and make changes in the public utility laws.

INDUSTRY THREAT SEEN

Robertson explained that the utilities industry represented 50 per cent of the primary industry of the state and employed 20,000 to 30,000 men. He added:

"The general prosperity of the state is wrapped up in this problem."

Phillips predicted that the bills were a beginning of a program of ultimate government ownership of utilities. He said:

"We are convinced that the fair rate board would be merely an agency of the Governor, reflecting political issues and not sound business or judicial judgments."

STATES OBJECTIONS

Besides the potential public ownership, Phillips gave six more categorical arguments as to why the Pinchot bills should not be passed. Charging that they were unfair and impracticable, and that they would impose enormous increases in taxes for administration, he said they would be disastrous to properties representing $5,000,000,000 investment, halt utility construction programs involving millions of dollars and thousands of employes.

Text of Mr. Phillips' protest against the Fair Rate bills appears on Page 24.

Reno, Russia Held 2 Great Dangers To Society

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP.)—Chancellor Elmer Ellsworth Brown, of New York University, called Moscow and Reno the two great danger centers that threaten American society. He spoke before the Newman Club of that university at its annual communion breakfast.

The regimes of Russia and Reno, Dr. Brown said, implied the submergence of the individual and the peril to the future of motherhood. He urged a conservation of the ideals of womanhood.

PINCHOT RAPS RATE BILL FOES

HARRISBURG, May 11.—(AP.)—Gov. Pinchot today charged that the persons appearing before the Senate committee in opposition to his fair rate board bills have a pecuniary interest in the defeat of these measures. He said:

"It will be money in their pockets if these bills are defeated. It will be money in the pockets of nearly everyone else in Pennsylvania if the fair rate bills are passed."

A series of amendments to the bill, which provides a working method for the proposed fair rate board, will be submitted to the Senate Judiciary General Committee at the close of the public hearing, the Governor said. One of the amendments will remove the provision which would return earnings of utility in excess of 7 per cent to the state treasury. Instead, the new plan is that such excess earnings shall be held in reserve for such disposition as may later be ordered.

Budapest Rejects Monarchy Proposal

BUDAPEST, May 11.—(INS.)—Prime Minister Count Stephen Bethlen has rejected the proposal of foreign Minister Aristide Briand, of France, to support a movement for the restoration of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy under former King Otto, following a conference with the French minister, it was understood today.

Pinchot to be Host To House Members

HARRISBURG, May 11.—Gov. Pinchot will entertain members of the House at dinner at the executive mansion tonight and tomorrow night, and Senator Woodward, Philadelphia, will give a dinner to the members of the Senate at a local country club tomorrow night.

50-CENT POLL TAX BILL UP IN SENATE

Coyne Measure Is First on Calendar; May Be Passed Tonight, Go to the House

HARRISBURG, May 11.—Senator Coyne's twin bills, one providing for a flat 50-cent poll tax and the other designed to permit assessment within two months prior to election are listed first on the Senate's business and probably will be passed tonight.

These bills, consideration of which is delaying the routine of the office of John Francies, Allegheny County treasurer, should go to the House tomorrow and arrive at the Governor's desk and become law tomorrow night or Wednesday.

They are two of a dozen Allegheny County measures that will get attention today or early tomorrow by the Legislature. Up for final passage in the Senate is the Spann bill to provide for a deputy controller. Another, defining the city's rights in the exercise of the power of eminent domain, and a third Spann bill proposing zones where signs may be regulated.

The Mansfield bill, which would permit the mayor and city controller to issue emergency loans up to $750,000, is on the second reading calendar, and may pass the Senate tomorrow.

On second reading in the House tonight will be the Pittsburgh consolidation charter bill, sponsored by Senator Coyne; the Spann bill providing for a deputy mayor, and the Storer measure which would give the city authority to regulate the use of dangerous chemicals in fumigations of dwellings.

Steedle to Report Appropriation Bill

HARRISBURG, May 11.—Representative Steedle, Allegheny, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, was expected to report the long-awaited general appropriation bill for final passage in the House this week. Upon his reporting of the bill hangs the determination of the date for final adjournment. Should the bill be reported and passed by the House this week, the General Assembly would be in a position to set May 28 as the date for adjournment sine die. Failure to report the bill this week would result in adjournment during the week of June 1.

Man in Needless Flight From Drys Drowns

CATLETTSBURG, Ky., May 11.—(AP.)—When he fled into the Big Sandy River near here to escape prohibition agents he thought were seeking him, William Hager, 27, of Catlettsburg, was drowned.

Hager was seated in an automobile with three companions when he saw three prohibition agents approach. He fled toward the river but the agents called to him, saying they were not seeking him. However, Hager started swimming and after going about 50 feet sank beneath the surface.

BASEBALL BILL UP TOMORROW

HARRISBURG, May 11.—(AP.)—Another fight to amend the blue laws of 1794 to permit Sunday baseball will be made during the current week's sessions of the Pennsylvania General Assembly.

The Denning bill providing for a referendum in municipalities to determine whether Sunday baseball may be permitted and requiring ordinances to be enacted in conformity with the desire of the municipality, will be before the House tomorrow morning, as a special order of business.

In addition to the Sunday baseball question, the Legislature this week will act on the administration election code which has been made a special order of business for tonight. Other major problems to be considered are congressional reapportionment, Public Service Commission legislation, the administration motor vehicle code, the township road bill and the general appropriation measure.

VOTE ON POLICE BILL URGED BY MUSMANNO

Defeat of Pinchot Measure Lifts Bar to Action by Senate, Legislator Holds

By ED PRENDERGAST
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, May 11.—M. A. Musmanno, sponsor of the coal and iron police bills reposing in the Senate Judiciary General Committee, made another effort to have that committee send his measures on to the floor of the Senate for consideration, it was learned today.

A letter sent to the chairman of the committee, William A. Earnest, was made public. In it the Stowe Township legislator recited the history of the bills, and the reasons why they should suffer no further delay.

The letter said:

"May I respectfully invite your attention to House Bills Nos. 1 and 2, in your committee since March 24. On that day they passed the House of Representatives with enormous majorities of respectively 153 to 25 and 125 to 13, and were then immediately referred to the Senate Judiciary General Committee. As you are the chairman of that committee I interviewed you regarding action on these bills, and you inform me that consideration of them should be deferred, awaiting the arrival of the Governor's bill from the House. I protested this delay, but my protest was of no avail.

"Last Tuesday, the Governor's measure was defeated in the House by a vote of 141 to 43. The only reason given by you for delaying consideration of my bills has now been eliminated.

"I urge that House Bills Nos. 1 and 2 are self-supporting measures and must stand or fall on their own merits. I trust that you will refuse to permit any possible mixing or confusing of this issue. All I ask as a member of the House of Representatives, and as the author of House Bills Nos. 1 and 2, which regularly reached your committee after regularly passing the House, is, that they be disposed of by themselves."

OLD GOLDS were created to give you THROAT-EASE . . . as well as a more delightful tasting cigarette. But the makers also considered your breath, your lips, your teeth, as well as your THROAT.

They created a pure-tobacco cigarette . . . free of coriander and other greasy artificial flavorings* that burn into clinging, staining, breath-tainting vapors.

To avoid unpleasant aftermaths, smoke pure-tobacco OLD GOLDS. Their clean, sun-ripened, natural-flavored tobaccos will be like honey to your THROAT. And they leave no objectionable odors either on your breath or clothing, or in the room.

HERE'S THE PROOF*

Open up a pack of OLD GOLDS and smell the tobacco. Do the same with any other cigarette. Judge for yourself which has the natural, pleasant, all-tobacco aroma. It's a favor to your family and friends, as well as to yourself, to smoke NATURAL-FLAVORED, pure-tobacco OLD GOLDS.

THE BEST PLACE TO SHOP, AFTER ALL

We have been working for many years to bring our Men's Store to its present state of efficiency. We have brought all our men's divisions together in a separate unit, with its own elevator and its direct entrance from the street — so that men who are "department-store shy" can shop here without coming in contact with the rest of the store, unless they wish to do so. We have been steadily developing our personnel into an organization of capable and cheerful specialists who know men's preferences and who talk men's language—100% men's service.

The purpose of Men's Week is to bring these facts home to men in an impressive manner, just at the time when they are in the market for spring and summer requirements. Special values have been provided in all the sections of men's wear to make it highly interesting to them to make this acquaintance.

Straw Hats

The straw hat season has its formal opening this week. Straws by Dobbs, Schoble and other distinguished makers are offered in all the weaves and shapes correct for this season. Many of the hats are available exclusively, in Pittsburgh, at the Men's Store.

Sennit Straws, $1.95

The correct medium-brim shape, with plain black or neatly striped bands. Unusually good quality for this price.

Panamas, Leghorns, $3.95

Panamas and leghorns in the popular optimo shape. Exceptionally good grade of straw, and well-made. This week only at this price.

Flannel Suits

With Two Pairs of Trousers

$33

Summer and flannels are almost synonymous . . . and here are Horne flannels at a special Men's Week price. Each suit has an extra pair of trousers. Single and double-breasted models, in plain blue, browns, and grays, ranging from dark to very light tones.

Four-Piece Golf Suits

Flannels and tweeds make up the selection—mostly the plain colors and mixed effects so popular this season. They are conservative models worn for business as well as for sports.

In the Varsity Shop

Sports Suits

$25

Young men's university-styled models, in tweeds and unfinished worsteds. With knickers and long trousers.

Swiss Mogador Cravats

English regimental-patterned cravats of imported Swiss mogador silk, in the official colors of the 17th Lancers, Royal Flying Corp, Royal Marines, Light Infantry, Isthmian Regiment, and others.

French-Back Shorts

$1.00

Of fine woven broadcloth, with French straps at the waistband, permitting adjustment of size. In a choice of several neat, striped patterns.

Fancy Rayon Hose

3 Pairs, $1.00

These are a sheer, serviceable quality, ideal for everyday summer wear. Toes, tops, and heels are of lisle. In attractive clocked and vertical-striped patterns.

Sweater Sets

Pure wool, U-neck slip-over sweater in solid color with contrasting trim, and TWO pairs of ribbed golf hose, one pair matching the ground color and the other matching the trim. In blue, green, and brown-and-tan mixture.

Cotton Basque Shirts

These are cotton slip-over shirts that are being worn by many sportsmen this season instead of a sweater or the ordinary "sweat shirt." The white grounds are enlivened by gay stripes.

Linen Golf Caps

$2.00

Lightweight white linen caps with ventilators—specially priced for Men's Week.

White Silks

What visions of lovely brides, winsome bridesmaids, and sweet girl graduates are conjured up by these words. But the uses of white silks go far beyond these ordinary limitations this season. It is to be a summer of white, with cool, slim frocks of lovely white silks of many varieties enlivening the summer landscape. It is our pleasure to present complete stocks of all the loveliest and most desirable white silks for every smart use that fashion or occasion can suggest. Here are a few:

33-inch Honan Pongee	75c
39-inch Flat Crepe	$1.00
39-inch Crepe de Chine	$1.65
36-inch Khaki Kool	$1.95
39-inch Flat Crepe	$1.95
39-inch Shantung	$1.95
39-inch Pique	$1.95
39-inch Sports Crepe	$1.95

Vogue, Paris, Home Journal, Butterick, and Pictorial Review Patterns offer a diversity of suggestions for converting these materials into inexpensive and becoming summer costumes.

They're Silk— They're Embroidered— They're Washable— They're Only

$16.50

The Sportswear Shop and The Misses' Section had the happy thought of bringing them out for those who want a little dressier touch to their simple flat crepe frocks without adding any furbelows.

The embroidery is dainty, pastel-colored flower designs of yarn, used in various ways on white, egg-shell, and pastel blue, pink, green, and orchid . . . Sizes 14 to 20 in the Misses' Section, and both misses' and women's sizes in The Sportswear Shop.

Jacket-Frocks of the same type—$25.

lour Mill Razed By $50,000 Blaze

MEADVILLE, Pa., May 11—(AP.)—A flour and feed mill owned by the Atlantic Feed and Supply Company, at Atlantic, a small town 20 miles from here, was destroyed by fire of unknown source. A loss of $50,000 was estimated by the owner, V. C. McQuisten. He said that approximately half of the loss was in the destruction of the building and machinery, the other half in supplies stored in it.

Battlefield Scene Of Templars' Meet

GETTYSBURG, Pa., May 11—(AP.)—Several thousand Knight Templars of this state, Maryland, New Jersey and the District of Columbia participated in an ascension festival service on Gettysburg battlefield yesterday. The service, arranged by the Gettysburg Commandery, was the first ever held in this state.

James H. Chickering, of Oil City, grand commander of the Pennsylvania Commandery, and Dr. Martin Aigner, of Franklin, grand prelate, were speakers.

$30,000 High School Contract Awarded

MEADVILLE, Pa., May 11.—(AP.)—The general contract for the construction of a $30,000 high school building to be used jointly by Townville and Steuben townships, Crawford County, was awarded to Frank W. Laird, of Erie, at a joint meeting of the school boards.

The building will replace one destroyed by fire last year. The contract calls for its completion by September.

YOUR DOLLAR BUYS MORE AT A KROGER STORE

TO FRIENDS OF ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR OWNERS..

Haven't you noticed the difference in the food served . . . in the refinements of hospitable entertainment that your friends are able to offer? For instance, ice cubes . . . crisper salads . . . new kinds of frozen desserts? Don't the vegetables somehow have a fuller, fresher flavor . . . aren't the meats deliciously fresh and juicy? Above all, isn't there usually an atmosphere of ease and efficiency in these homes?

Ask these friends why! They'll tell you that their electric refrigerator explains much. Ask them about cost. They'll tell you that money spent for an electric refrigerator comes back. It's not SPENT. It's INVESTED. It yields dividends in savings, in convenience, in greater all 'round household efficiency. You'll find it's well worth while to have an electric refrigerator simply for the health-protection it affords and for the greater ease you can enjoy.

You'll find, too, that you can have one of these modern, new electric refrigerators in your home easily. Just a small down payment is enough to put one into your own kitchen . . . immediately.

Get all the information you can from your own friends then see your dealer about the kind of electric refrigerator you like best. Wherever electric refrigerators are sold, a complete demonstration will be given gladly without obligation on your part.

Many frozen dainties which you've probably never served before are possibilities for your DAILY menus when you have an electric refrigerator. For they can be made EASILY in the colder temperatures that are available. Such delicacies as mousses, frappes, frozen crushed fruit, ices, ice creams can be served as often as you like . . . at little cost either in money or time.

Eulogy on a Country Egg

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Federal Tariff Commission has another queer detail on its authorized hands.

We know what to do with the dumping of Soviet lumber and Panama hats. We saw one. And talk through the other.

But how about Chinese eggs? Sixty million of those Mongolian elliptical berries were dumped on America in the last year.

They're fresh country eggs. From the wrong country.

For centuries we pulled the old boast that our liberty and an egg were two things that no power on earth could pull down.

But the Oriental farmers got busy with their barnyard curios and proceeded to flood the world with unreliable Hong Kong eggs.

Which not only undermines our prosperity, but also strikes the American hen in a vital spot.

Everybody knows that a coolie hen will work much cheaper than an American orpington. Is the Rhode Island red to be ruined by economical Mongolian industrialism?

Jack Pickett is an agricultural expert who knows his barnyard from egg to nog. Jack states that inferior, processed China egglets have cost our farmers a two hundred million dollar loss.

The question accumulates more reserve power as you study it. To some people an egg is only an egg. But when you crack the shell an egg may become anything from an atrocious grenade with the muzzle velocity of Vesuvius to the deadly monoxide carbon that slays all within the 5-cent zone.

We must defend the hometown hen. For when you start figuring up in the millions we are spanked in the pocketbook. And we ask the Federal Tariff Commission to use all means, fair or warmer, to vindicate the suburban cousin of the American eagle. Even to making the American flag consist of 48 stars—and an egg.

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

Lucrezia Bori

Born in Valencia, Spain, where beauty spreads her shawl of intriguing colors, Lucrezia Bori brings to the radio landscape tonight a hue of old world romance in her 8:30 concert on Columbia-WJAS . . . A Venetian folk waltz, a concert tango, the Gavotte from "Manon" and "La Violetera" are keyed to blaze our emotion. . . . The Revelers gather at the Family Party (WCAE, 9:30) for the last time . . . they sail Friday for a European tour . . . Lois Bennett as guest artist sings one of our real favorites, "Indian Love Call" . . . Don Becker, whose WLW burlesque skits are among the most amusing things on the air, is a serious minded fellow at times . . . tonight at 10:30 on WCAE in particular when he plays his own composition, "Indigo Moon," with Hugo Mariani's 40-piece orchestra . . . The Rochester Civic Symphony (KDKA, 10) goes Tschaikowsky with the scintillating "1812 Overture" as a finale.

The Mexican weather report given by Sisters of the Skillet:

"Chili today and hot tamale."

Days of Victor Herbert, with Eddie Dowling the star, are to be revived in a phonograph series on KQV at 8 o'clock tonight.

VENI, VIDI, VICI

A meek fellow of 17 inspected KDKA studios late Saturday.

"May I have your name?" asked Carolyn Dickson, hostess, as he was about to catch one of William Penn's elevators.

"Sure," he replied, whirling about face. And into the KDKA register he penned his real name:

"Julius C. Caesar."

Awake ye legions!

COP THIS!

Twenty minutes later an elderly woman approached Miss Dickson.

"No, I don't want to see the studios," she interposed when Miss Dickson started down the hallway. "All I want to know is where I can buy a microphone. My grandson has tired playing policeman and now he wants to be a radio announcer. He keeps crying for a mikeyphone. How much are they?"

P. S.—The fancy grade AA microphones (1931 model), beautifully painted in brown and attractively garnished with the letters "KDKA," are now retailing for $450 apiece, cash and carry.

DO YOU KNOW—

THAT electrical transcriptions (phonograph records) are played in the studio by the announcer 10 minutes before they are put on the air? This is done to clear away dirt and dust.

THAT Robert L. (Believe It or Not) Ripley is to broadcast over the NBC from midocean on Wednesday night, May 20? Ripley, returning from Europe on the S. S. Leviathan, is to inaugurate a new radio feature via wireless telephone in the first ship-to-shore broadcast from the high seas.

THAT Freddie Rich never carries a watch?

THAT Rudy Vallee has signed to play in George White's "Scandals" starting July 1? Because of this his European tour has been canceled.

THAT the average age in Guy Lombardo's Orchestra is a mere 26?

THAT Peggy Hopkins Joyce, who has tossed aside four husbands, needed a glass of water to steady her nerves when she faced a microphone at WLW? Peggy wore lounging pajamas of brown and orange satin.

THAT Charles Francis Coe, the crime exposer, heard on NBC, just refuses to keep a date with death, set for 1924 by his physicians? In that year, following a game of golf, Coe was given exactly nine days to live—the victim of "athlete's heart."

STUDIO LIGHTS

Owners of WWSW in Hotel Schenley, announced today they would open their studios on Monday, May 25.

WWVA, at Wheeling, W. Va., joins the Columbia network on Saturday, May 23. . . . This will bring CBS to 84 stations.

Gene and Glenn made the rafters ring at Beaver Falls Saturday night . . . about the same time that Amos 'n' Andy made their stage debut at the Paramount in Brooklyn.

Al Steele goes KQV this Saturday at 7 and every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 6 o'clock thereafter.

W. A. Macdonald, choirmaster; Max Kroen, baritone, and Vincent Kroen, tenor, cararied off all the honors in their respective divisions at the Eisteddfod in Warren, O., Saturday night. Pittsburgh radio triumphs again!

Andrew W. Mellon has improved in his radio technique . . . but we wonder why the announcer at Washington failed to mention that the Mellon Institute is located at Pittsburgh when he presented those medals Saturday . . the honking of automobiles passing the building at the capital was plainly distinguishable in the broadcast.

Scores of the Mother's Day programs were beautiful, but we think the prizes were captured by Tom Noonan, Don Bestor, Francis Owen, Morton Downey and the NBC.

KDKA shoots a message of cheer to missionaries of the Sixth United Presbyterian Church in Abyssinia this Saturday.

Ooh! They say Maurice Chevalier's radio contract is to be renewed!

The Prince of Wales speaks to American blind from London, May 27, via Columbia-WJAS.

Lowell Thomas and Phil Cook are "that way" about letting persons in the studio while they broadcast.

Private Harold R. Peat, of war fame, has been signed to direct the special features division of NBC. He books Seth Parker, Floyd Gibbons, Graham McNamee, Lowell Thomas, Irvin Cobb, Sir Hubert Wilkins, Homer Rodeheaver, Frank Hawks, Elinor Smith, Dr. S. Parkes Cadman and other celebrities.

Ferdie Grofe (WCAE, 8:30) and Roy Bargy (KDKA, 9), are proteges of Paul Whiteman. . . . Ferdie offers tonight a special arrangement of "Three O'Clock in the Morning" and "Two Hearts in Waltz Time."

TRY THESE TONIGHT:

Special Premiere: Archer Gibson, famous organist, playing "Elsa's Bridal Procession" from "Lohengrin" and "Bells of St. Mary's." WEAF, KSD, 7:30.

Roxy's Orchestra — Beethoven's "Second Symphony." WJZ, WGAR, WENR, 7:45.

Famous Favorites, WTIC, 10:30.

Merry Madcaps, WTIC, 11:05.

Ben Bernie, WABC, 11:30.

Wilfred Glenn, basso in songs of the sea. WJZ, WGAR, WENR, 11:30.

Jeanne Cowan singing "Little Joe" and "Bird's Eye View of Heaven." WJZ, WGAR, WENR, 11:45.

James F. Lavery, Erie, Pa., war hero on "My Experience." WLW, midnight.

Cab Calloway, WJZ, WGAR, WENR, midnight.

The LOUDSPEAKER

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, May 11.—The name, The Globe Trotter, which has been identified for several months with the radio voice of the New York American, is now to penetrate to all parts of the country as the mouthpiece of Hearst Metrotone News.

It is a happy selection. No other name could have been as appropriate for the announcer who will describe and comment on the camera's recordings of news as it takes place throughout the world.

The alliance of radio and the newsreel was, of course, inevitable. With the amazing success of the talkies before them the newsreel men could not—did not—delay long in adding a voice to their filmings, heightening the appeal of their subjects through an announcer speaking informatively, interestingly—and when necessary, excitedly—on what the camera unfolds.

It is news announcing brought to its finest fulfillment. When television comes it will not be, so fa as sound-and-sight broadcasting of spot news is concerned, essentially different from the newsreel of today.

Just as the musical world had come to regard jazz as strictly American—well, 100 per cent American if you like it better—along comes one of the very Joves of jazz, B. A. Rolfe, to declare that it isn't American music at all. Rolfe, we're afraid, will have to hire a hall to make himself heard, to say nothing of trying to prove it. Hearken to Rolfe:

* * *

"American music is something utterly different. Instead of being melody founded on the misery of the Negro in slave days, or the spirituals which were born in darkest Africa, your true American music is just what the name implies—true American music. Jazz is no more American music than Coney Island typifies American entertainment."

We suppose Rolfe means by true American music the war whoops and tub-thumpings of the Indians. If he would throw out jazz, as we now know it, and the spirituals of the South as being more African than American then he would be compelled also to throw out the songs of Stephen Foster. And that would mean more debate, for Foster's songs have long been considered the only true folk music that we possess.

Jazz, according to Rolfe, is "a confused and heterogenous mixture of sounds in pleasing dance tempo, a pot-pourri of wild melody easily remembered, easily forgotten and serving no important music purpose."

That doesn't make it, to our mind, any the less American. Suppose it did come originally from the African jungle, it has been for so many years such a basic part of our musical fabric as to cause everybody in the world, including the Scandinavians, to hail it as American. And nothing else but.

Stomach Pain Ends. Can Eat Anything Now

"Was in pain from gas on my stomach all of the time. It would get so bad I would become weak and faint," says G. H. Buzzerd, Bath, N. Y. "Could not eat much of anything until I used ACIDINE. Now I eat anything I want. ACIDINE is a godsend for anybody troubled with gas."

ACIDINE is entirely different from other known remedies. Contains the marvelous digestant, Japtase. In the laboratory experiments Japtase has been tested on certain starchy foods which cause so much stomach distress. It digests 800 times its weight of such foods in only 30 minutes! Five other scientific ingredients stop burning acid, soothe irritated stomach linings, stop gas and headache from acidity. No other known remedy contains this combination to end acid stomach pain.

Don't run chances of dangerous painful troubles from acidity. Get ACIDINE today and note quick relief from sourness, pain and belching. You can eat, drink and smoke all you like. Results guaranteed. If not delighted, maker refunds money.

HOLLYWOOD AND BROADWAY IN REVIEW; LOCAL AMUSEMENT NEWS

Lois Wilson to Continue Screen Comeback With New Mother Role

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, May 11.

All the good-will of Hollywood goes with Lois Wilson, who is to continue on her comeback in a story by Luigi Pirandelle called, cryptically enough, "As Before, Better Than Before."

Needless to say, it won't reach the screen under this title.

Following her hit as the mother of five in "Seed," it is natural that Lois' new story will have a mother-love angle. It centers around a couple who separate, and their daughter, who learns to hate her mother's memory.

Lois Wilson

John M. Stahl, who did such a fine job on "Seed," will direct the film for Universal after he completes "Strictly Dishonorable." He seems to draw all the stories that have to be handled with kid gloves.

UNUSUAL VETERAN

One of the veterans of the films is Gabriel Canzone, an organ grinder, who, with his monkey, Josephine, has been appearing in pictures for 15 years now. The pair of them have a practical monopoly in organ grinder roles on the screen. No New York street scene is complete without Canzone. At the moment, he is appearing in "Women Love Once," a Paramount picture. When the assignment is completed, if another one is not forthcoming, he will wander the streets of Los Angeles and Hollywood, earning money in the conventional way of hurdy gurdy men. But engagements are never far between. Directors even have shifted their schedules to secure the services of Gabriel and Josephine.

EXIT THE GANGSTER

Since the gangster must make his exit, the producers, ever opportunists, are going to turn the tide to their advantage. First National, which has contributed some of the finest of the racketeer films, has commissioned Waldemar Young and the redoubtable Wilson Mizner to write a story showing how gangsters can be wiped out.

Mr. Robinson

Their labors will result in Edward G. Robinson's next picture, "The World Changes."

It starts June 1.

Another film on the law and order side is Lucien Hubbard's "The Star Witness," which will feature Chic Sale.

LATEST GOSSIP

Will Rogers will motor to Tucson to help introduce polo into Arizona. . . . A sample of the trials of movie extras—several hundred atmosphere people recently were required to spend better than an hour laughing at an empty stage, because the story demanded a theater audience in hysterics. . . . According to reports reaching Hollywood, Douglas Fairbanks has 180 hunting suits, presented to him by various maharajahs and Indian potentates. . . . Orville Caldwell, once a well known leading man, is selling stocks and bonds in Los Angeles. He has given up the films completely.

Featured

Bella Meisel will appear in the Nixon Tuesday in support of Michal Michalesko in the production, "I Want a Child."

Things I Never Knew Till Now

(But which you knew all along!)

The actors are called "hams" because they couldn't afford cold creams with which to remove their make-ups. So they always carried around pieces of ham rind to remove the facial stains.

That five months before their marriage, Arabian femmes are stuffed with fattening foods. The fatter they are, the more beautiful.

That shows in Spain commence at 10:30 p. m.

That the word doctor was first used in 1769. Previously, doctors were known as "chiraregons."

That when you walk "tip-toes"—you don't.

That the White House in Washington, D. C., is a copy of Mansion House, which is in Dublin, Ireland.

That Shearer street in Montreal is named after Norma Shearer's pop, whose large lumber business is located on it.

That the term "Flying Frenchmen" as applied to "Les Canadiens," World Hockey Champs, is as accurate as was "Flying Irish" to Notre Dame. Of the six Canadian regulars, Hainsworth is British, Burke is Irish, Mantha is Italian, Morenz and Joliat are Swiss, while Gagnon is the only Frenchman. (That's one for the scrap-book!)

That the first things printed were not books. Playing cards!

That the Dyaks think it is quite proper to eat humans, but they are terribly shocked by a liar amongst them. He is ostracized!

That according to Hoyle, the undisputed authority, a poker deck offers 2,598,960 different poker hands.

That Harper's History of the U. S. states that Buddhist priests discovered America in 458 A. D. (Is Columbus' face red ???)

That George McManus resembles his character "Jiggs."

That Canada has not had a bank failure since 1923 when the Home Bank folded. The Gov't, however, paid depositors 60 per cent.

That there is a magazine published here with a staff who hate each other so—they haven't talked (socially) for years!

That in the summertime, the heat within the clothing is more dangerous than the outside heat.

That a guy named "Justice" built the first electric chair in a mid-west prison and was the first to fry in it.

That Scotsmen were once sold into slavery at 60 cents per doz. After Cromwell made them prisoners in his Scottish victories.

That when your nose "goes to sleep" after a few drinks there is wood alcohol in your laughing soup.

That waving a black flag at a bull is as effective as a red one because the animal is color blind and sees both as black.

That army regulations provide that "extreme ugliness" shall be a cause for rejection of an applicant for enlistment.

That 22,000 people live on the Rock of Gibraltar.

That local police estimate that New York City has 50,000 insane men and women at large. (So that explains why you read this!)

That in New York at 185 W. 135th St. there is a Doctor Nurse, and in Darien, Conn., an undertaker is named Geo. Coffin.

That Theodore Metz, now 86, who wrote "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" fifty years ago, said in a recent interview that he was ashamed because he had written it. A big hit, but no royalties.

That the famous Dr. Charles Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., says the average human being is sick 30 times in a lifetime.

That at the Harbor Sanitarium, a hospital on Madison Ave., here, there are two nurses, named Miss Amos and Miss Andy.

That if you do not think the show business is shot, see that "short story" in the N. Y. Times want ad columns of April 3, to wit: "Stage Director will exchange lessons in acting for stenographic work. W. 245 Times." (Now are you stage struck?)

That another reason why Jack Dempsey is divorcing Estelle is that she always wears nightgowns that have sleeves.

That all Shakespeare's male characters, with the single exception of Falstaff, are marrying men.

That Hugh Wedlock, Jr., says there is a sign in a downtown restaurant which reads: "If our steak is too tough for you, then get the hell out! We have no use for weaklings!"

And that the Friars Club has expelled from membership all midgets to save them from being devoured by hungry actors.

The Musicians' Club of Pittsburgh gave its annual concert for original music by club members last night in Carnegie Music Hall. There was a large audience, and it must have wondered whether it was badly educated or whether some of the composers meant just what they wrote.

Mr. Lissfelt

The general trend of the new music was towards new thought, and much of it seemed very futile. There was so little genuine musical feeling throughout the program that one almost despairs of the new generation of writers. Forms are studied; there are many marks of cleverness, but so little inspiration.

Alan Floyd's organ pieces are very pretty miniatures. Gwen Treasure's string quartet music is sketchy, and has a cynical bite. David Fischer's piano suite was banal, and Joseph Esposito did him a good turn to memorize it. The two pieces for women's voices lacked color and only emphasized the thinness of tone in such an ensemble. Llewellyn Davies' suite in the old style for string quartet had a good tang.

Of Harvey Gaul's songs one must acknowledge that the composer is expressive of his day. He is the only member of the program who speaks of our times, and that alone is art. He keeps to a good lyric line in "With My Father's Fathers." His "Chant for Election" belongs to Pittsburgh, and is sturdy enough for a deeper voice. The "Old Town" has a finely human text—Gaul's own verse—but is too reminiscent of some Irish songs done at banquets.

T. Carl Whitmer's chorus, "When God Laughed," is more richly scored for the strings than for the voices. It has a greater continuity than many others of Mr. Whitmer's works, and decidedly more vitality. His own Dramamount Singers were present and Ferdinand Fillion conducted the work.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"Dirigible," which begins its second week on the Pitt screen this matinee, is a lotta ballooney right outa th' icebox. Chills and ills go with thrills while intrepid Jack Holt and Ralph Graves hunt for one of those poles explorers always are looking for. Fay Wray is one corner of the triangular love interest.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Miss Dorothy Nimick Becomes Bride of Colorado Man

News of a wedding taking place in the East Saturday has just reached me. Miss Dorothy Nimick, daughter of Mrs. W. Howard Nimick, of Fifth avenue, became the bride of Gordon A. Millspaugh, of Gunnison, Col., Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the home of her sister, Mrs. Douglas Studdiford, of Elizabeth, N. J.

And there was a group of prominent Pittsburgh society folks at the ceremony. The junior W. Howard Nimicks were there, the Alexander Nimicks, the W. Ford Morelands, Mrs. James J. Turner, Jr., and Miss Marjorie Gethoefer. From Baltimore came Mrs. C. O'Donnell Lee and Miss Anne Waters.

Married In East

Yesterday I told you all the details I had learned of the wedding of Janet Davis, popular young daughter of Mrs. Charles Wiley Davis, of Sewickley and Santa Barbara, who became the bride of Francis Graham Hollister, of Santa Barbara, Saturday afternoon in the western city. Today I want to chat about another wedding of interest here that took place the same day.

The bride was Dr. Dorothy A. Klenke, daughter of Mrs. William H. Klenke, of Belle Haven, Greenwich, and the bridegroom Charles B. Nash, of Pittsburgh. The ceremony took place at noon in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church of Greenwich.

The bride wore ivory satin and old lace, an heirloom, and carried yellow roses and lilies of the valley. Her maid of honor, Mrs. Oscar Jerome Chase, Jr., of Scarsdale, N. Y., wore blue and carried talisman roses and delphinium. Dr. Chase was best man. A wedding breakfast in the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. George H. Chatillon, of Belle Haven, followed.

The bride attended Spence School and is a graduate of Bryn Mawr and received her M. D. degree from the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University. She's assistant surgeon at the Neurological Institute of New York and adjunct assistant visiting surgeon of the neurological department of Bellevue Hospital, New York.

Church Wedding

Miss Gladys Marie Schade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Schade, of Espy avenue, Dormont, became the bride of Elmer George Klaber, son of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Klaber, of Brandon road, in the Brighton Road Presbyterian Church at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The Rev. Dr. R. H. Allen officiated before an embankment of palms and cibotium ferns.

Miss Grace McMillan was the maid of honor and the best man was William Hess Webb. The ushers included William Clawson, Wilbert Schade, Stanley Ramsey and Richard Dunbar.

Arthur Jennings played the organ and Mrs. Arthur Jennings, the piano. Mrs. Ruth Hess Barns, soprano; Mrs. Carolyn Mahaffey, contralto, and Neal Mowry, tenor and Clyde Miller, bass, sang.

There was a dinner and reception for the families and a few intimate friends later. Mr. and Mrs. Klaber left for an eastern trip, and will be at home in Morrison drive, Mt. Lebanon, after July 1.

The bride attended Allegheny College and the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, and is a member of Alpha Chi Omega and Sigma Alpha Iota.

Shaft to Germans Unveiled in Poland

WARSAW, Poland, May 11.—(AP.)—The first monument to Germans in Poland was unveiled in Powonski Cemetery near here when the German minister, Hans Adolf von Moltke, in the presence of Polish authorities, consecrated a memorial to the 500,000 German soldiers who fell in Poland in the World War.

SINGER REWEDS FIRST HUSBAND

DALLAS, Tex., May 11.—(AP.)—Edith Mason, opera singer, has re-wed Giorgio Polacco, former musical director of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, at Zurich, Switzerland.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Miller, with whom Miss Mason lived here while awaiting the result of her successful divorce action against Dr. Morris Bernstein, of Chicago, were notified of her latest marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller said the Polaccos, with their 5-year-old daughter, Grace Edith, cabled they would spend the summer at their home in St. Moritz, returning to the United States in the fall.

In his answer to the divorce action, Dr. Bernstein, Miss Mason's second husband, said Polacco did not lose interest in the singer following a divorce. The physician charged the musical director demanded that Bernstein persuaded the singer to pay $100,000 heart balm to the maestro.

Bernstein also charged he took a secret solemn oath, at Polacco's insistence, whereby the physician agreed to compel Miss Mason to refrain from eating pie and smoking cigarets.

HARDING RITES AWAIT HOOVER

MARION, O., May 11.—(AP.)—President Hoover's approval of plans tentatively arranged for his dedication of the Harding Memorial here will be asked within a few days by former Senator Joseph N. Freylinghuysen, of New Jersey, president of the memorial association.

Official announcement of the program will be made after President Hoover has expressed his approval, Freylinghuysen said after conferring here yesterday with the executive committee of the association.

The ceremonies will start at 2 p. m., June 26, under the tentative arrangements, and will include addresses by Mr. Hoover, former President Coolidge, Gov. George White, of Ohio, and Freylinghuysen. The Columbus Republican Glee Club, a favorite of Harding's, and other organizations will furnish music. The program probably will end in time for the President to review the state parade of the Grand Army of the Republic at Columbus, at 6 p. m., of the same day.

Most Auto Accidents Laid to 4 Violations

HARTFORD, Conn., May 11.—(INS.)—Four violations by drivers of automobiles in the first quarter of this year caused nearly 74 per cent of all the accidents and 57 per cent of the total number of fatalities due to actions of drivers, according to an analysis by the Travelers Insurance Company.

The four violations involve operating at excessive speed, on the wrong side of the road, failure to grant right-of-way and cutting in and out of lines of traffic.

WOULD BAN BOY AUTO GUARDS

(This is the tenth of a series of articles on proposed changes in the Pennsylvania Motor Code, now pending before the Legislature. The stories were prepared by the Pittsburgh Motor Club for the Sun-Telegraph.)

Legislation now pending to amend the state motor code would eliminate the nuisance of boys and young men who line the streets near football and baseball games, prize fights, lectures and other public meetings where parking space is inadequate and offer to guard autos during the owners' absence.

Usually, proponents of the amendment claim, if this service is refused the owners return to find tires punctured or some minor damage done their cars.

The change in the code, designed to eliminate this, reads:

"It shall be unlawful for any person to stand on or in proximity to a highway for the purpose of soliciting the watching or guarding of any vehicle while parked or about to be parked on the highway.

"Any person violating this section shall, upon conviction before a magistrate, be sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs of prosecution or undergo imprisonment of not more than five days."

Christian Scientist Speaks in Dormont

Richard J. Davis, of Chicago, addressed a large audience in the South Hills Theater, Dormont, yesterday afternoon in a lecture held under the auspices of the Third Church of Christ, Scientist. He spoke on "Christian Science: Its Influence on Health and Character." Davis is a member of the board of lectureship of the mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston.

STAR WRITERS REACH CHICAGO

CHICAGO, May 11.—(Universal.)—Six stars of newspaperdom, headed by United States Senator Royal S. Copeland, of New York, have arrived in Chicago to take part in the celebration of the Herald and Examiner's golden anniversary.

Ted Cook, "Bugs" Baer, George McManus, Milt Gross and Russ Westover were the other members of the party which arrived on the Century.

Sir Hubert Wilkins, commander of the submarine Nautilus, which will go to the North Pole, and Rube Goldberg will arrive tomorrow.

It was a gala party that came in at the La Salle Street Station. "Bugs" Baer had just taken a bride, Louise Andrews, former Follies beauty, and the wedding was celebrated with a party aboard the train.

Chinese to Demand Foreign Troops Leave

SHANGHAI, May 11.—(INS.)—The Chinese Nationalist government will issue a manifesto at Nanking tomorrow demanding immediate abolition of extraterritoriality, it was learned here today.

The manifesto also will demand immediate withdrawal of foreign troops and inland shipping and request the return of all concessions. Complete customs autonomy also will be demanded.

LONGER LIFE FOR SILK HOSE

To find a way to make silk hose and undergarments wear longer means money in women's pockets. A New York fashion expert has discovered the secret.

She found that washing with soap and water alone did not remove the body excretions which rot silks. So she adds a tablespoonful of Energine to every quart of lukewarm, soapy water. Then she washes and rinses the articles—as usual. The result is a new cleanliness—a pleasing freshness — revived colors — all with practically no rubbing.

But the most amazing result is the longer life it gives to silks—an economy every woman will appreciate.

Try this method of adding Energine to soapy water the next time you wash silks. You'll be delighted. Remember, too, that millions of women save money by using Energine for removal of spots from suits, hats, dresses, gloves, shoes, etc. Large can 35 cents at any drug store.

Y. W. Honors For Mother And Dad

A Mother's Day banquet and a daughter and dad dinner are the two leading events of this week's activities at Central Branch Y. W. C. A.

The Business Girls' League has asked all other business girl groups in the branch to join in their first Mother's Day banquet, which will be held Thursday at 6:30. An old-fashioned garden will form the theme for decorations and favors. On the program are solos by Mrs. Rebecca Davies and Miss Harriet Dietrick, readings by Miss Margaret McHenry and Miss Mildred Barker and a talk by Mrs. William J. Gilmore, chairman of Central Branch committee of management.

Under the direction of the Girl Reserve staff and committee, the daughter and dad dinner will be held on Friday. Girl Reserve groups in 22 schools, as well as the principals of these schools, have been invited to attend. Program features will be illustrated by the table decorations, each table representing some phase of Girl Reserve work.

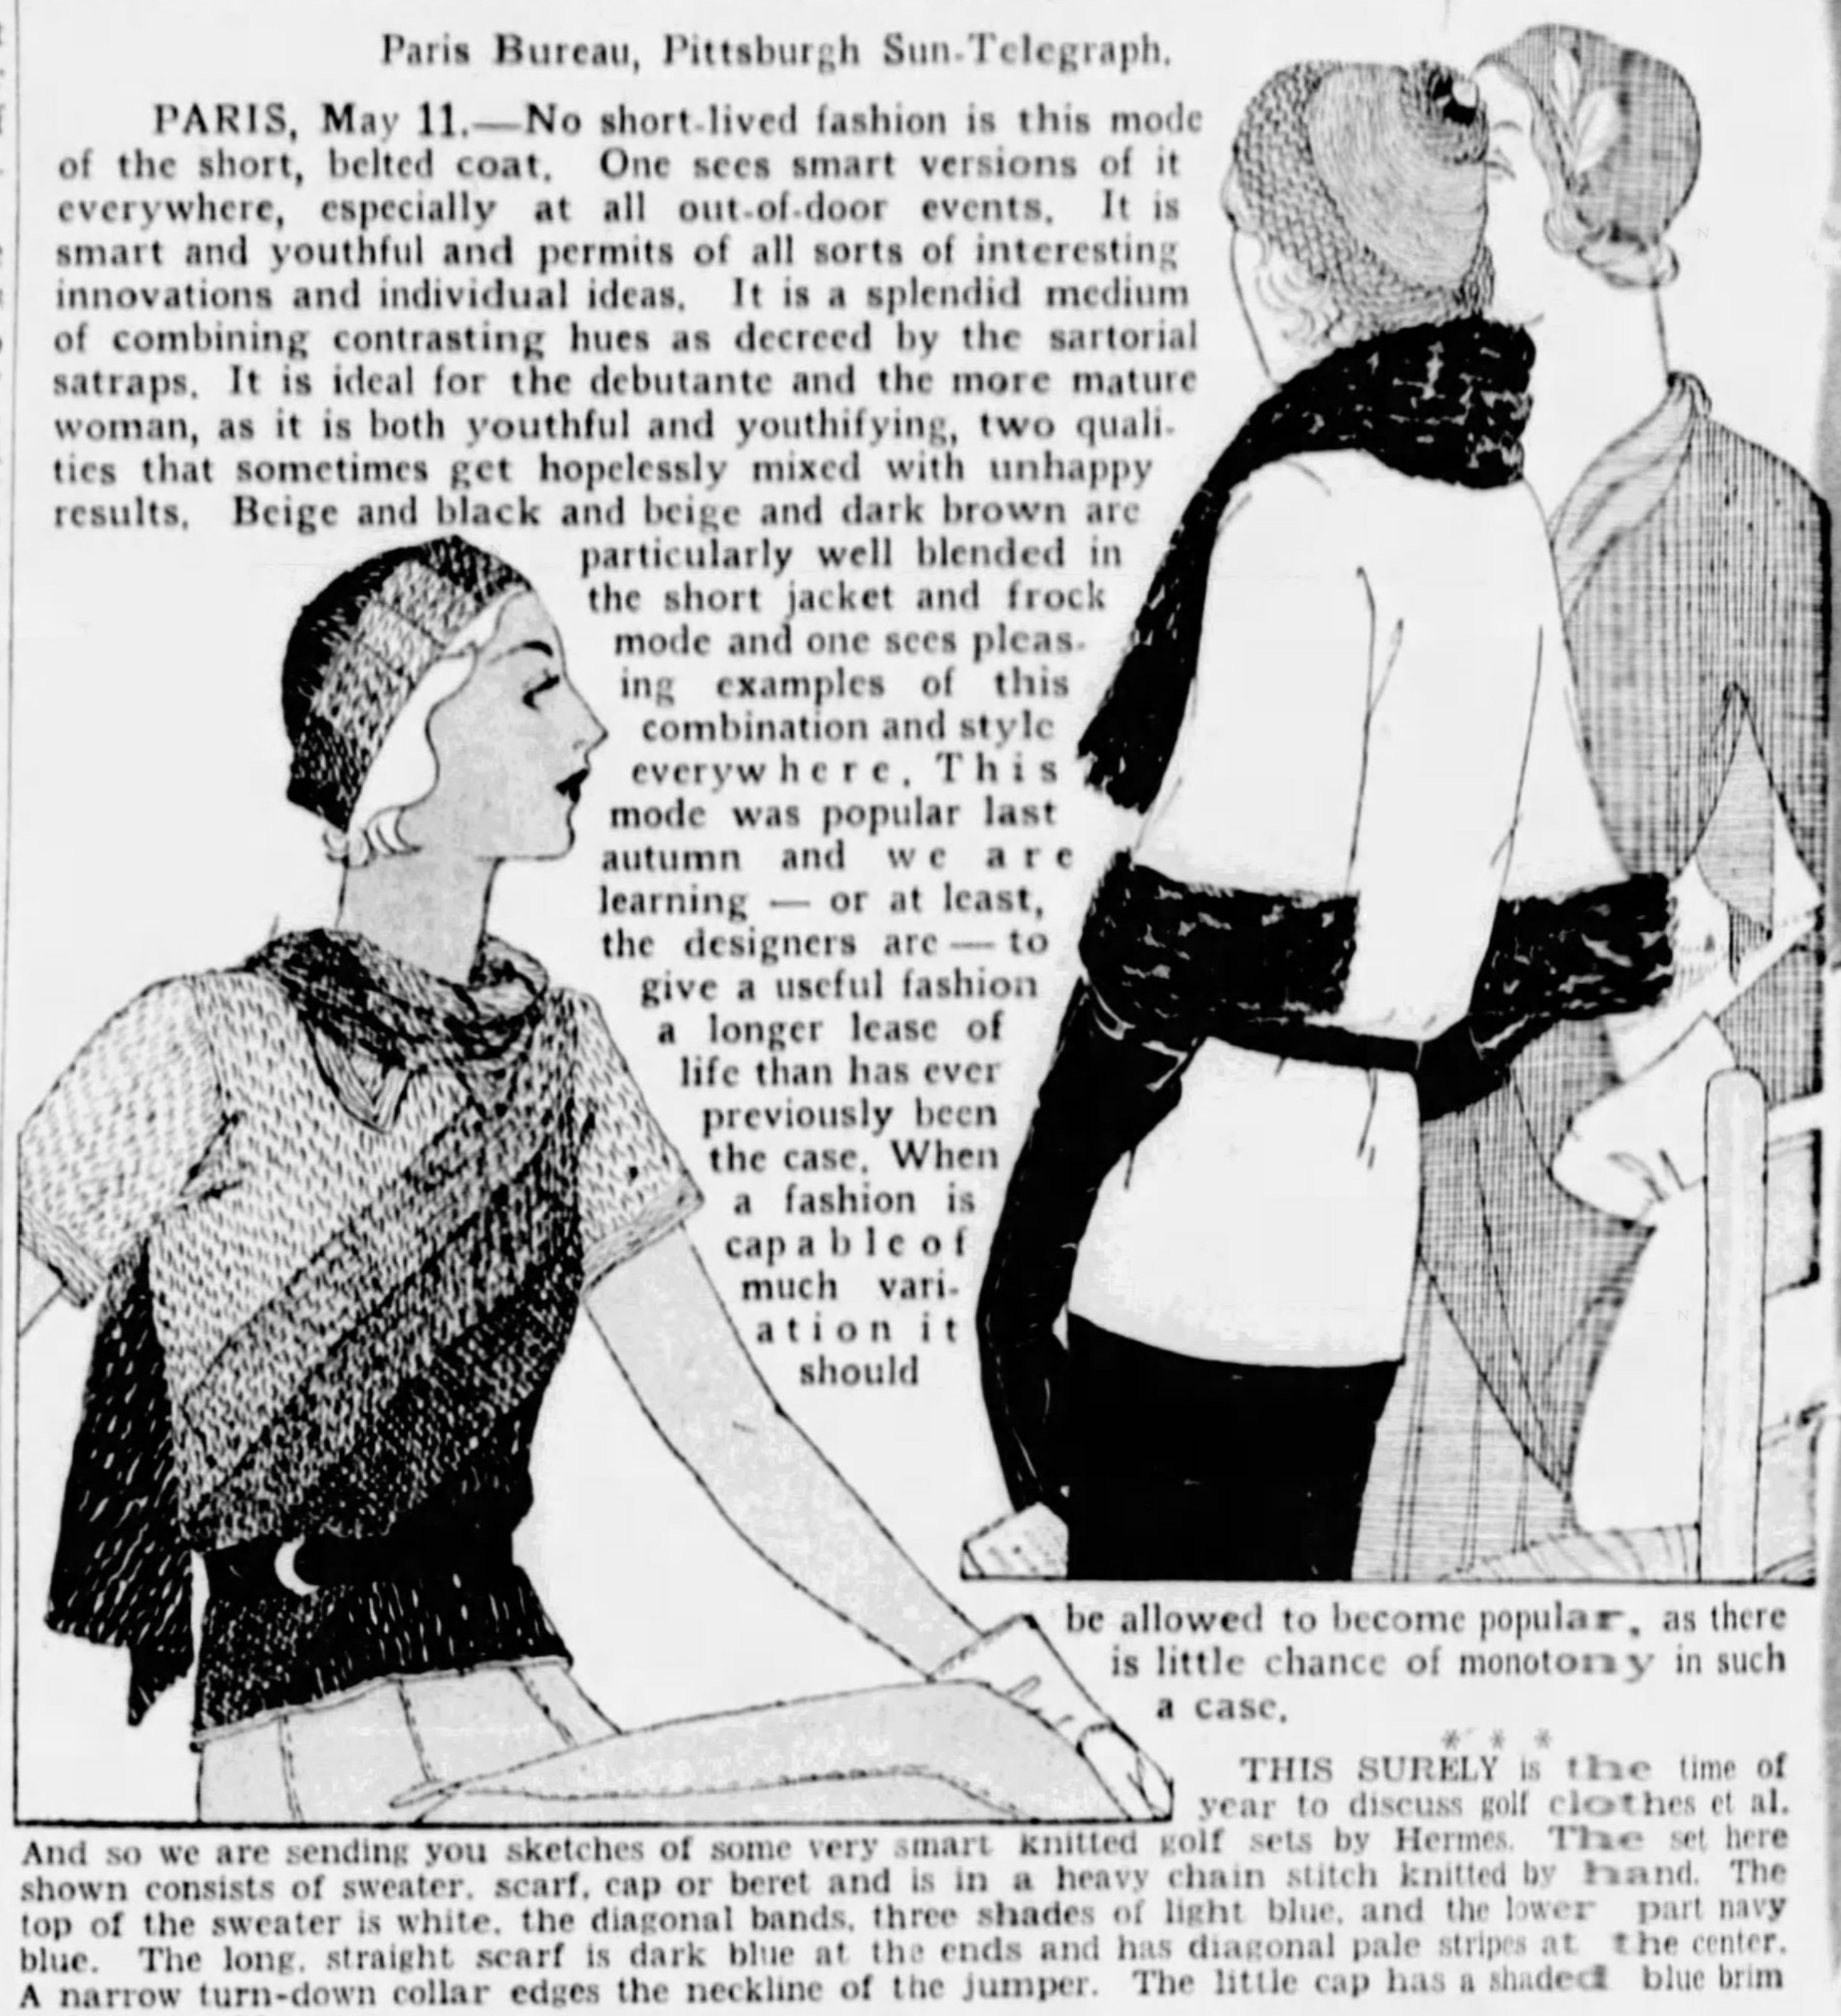
SHORT BELTED COATS ARE FAVORED FOR OUT-DOORS

—Sketched in Paris—

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.



PARIS, May 11.—No short-lived fashion is this mode of the short, belted coat. One sees smart versions of it everywhere, especially at all out-of-door events. It is smart and youthful and permits of all sorts of interesting innovations and individual ideas. It is a splendid medium of combining contrasting hues as decreed by the sartorial satraps. It is ideal for the debutante and the more mature woman, as it is both youthful and youthifying, two qualities that sometimes get hopelessly mixed with unhappy results. Beige and black and beige and dark brown are particularly well blended in the short jacket and frock mode and one sees pleasing examples of this combination and style everywhere. This mode was popular last autumn and we are learning — or at least, the designers are — to give a useful fashion a longer lease of life than has ever previously been the case. When a fashion is capable of much variation it should be allowed to become popular, as there is little chance of monotony in such a case.

THIS SURELY is the time of year to discuss golf clothes et al. And so we are sending you sketches of some very smart knitted golf sets by Hermes. The set here shown consists of sweater, scarf, cap or beret and is in a heavy chain stitch knitted by hand. The top of the sweater is white, the diagonal bands, three shades of light blue, and the lower part navy blue. The long, straight scarf is dark blue at the ends and has diagonal pale stripes at the center. A narrow turn-down collar edges the neckline of the jumper. The little cap has a shaded blue brim and a navy blue crown.

ENORMOUSLY POPULAR in Paris is the short belted coat of contrasting fabric. At the races last week a well-known Parisienne wore this fawn colored wool velour coat with short flaring sleeves. Black broadtail makes the straight, scarf collar and edges the sleeves. The narrow belt is of black suede. This coat is worn over a tailored dress of black wool crepe. Long black suede gloves and a crocheted beret in black silk trimmed with satin rucking, also black, make appropriate accessories.

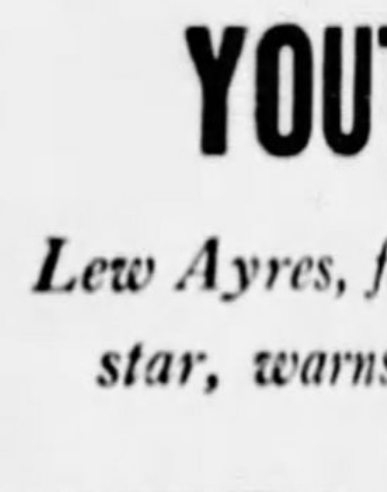
"YOU MUST KEEP YOUTH!"

Lew Ayres, famous screen star, warns every girl

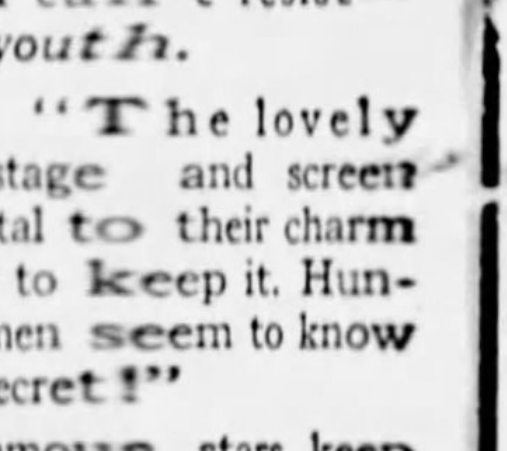


LEW AYRES
Universal

"What type do I most admire?" asks Lew Ayres. "The type doesn't matter much—if she has that radiant charm I can't resist—youth.

"The lovely stage and screen stars know how vital to their charm youth is, and how to keep it. Hundreds of other women seem to know their complexion secret!"

How do the famous stars keep youth's radiant loveliness right through the years?

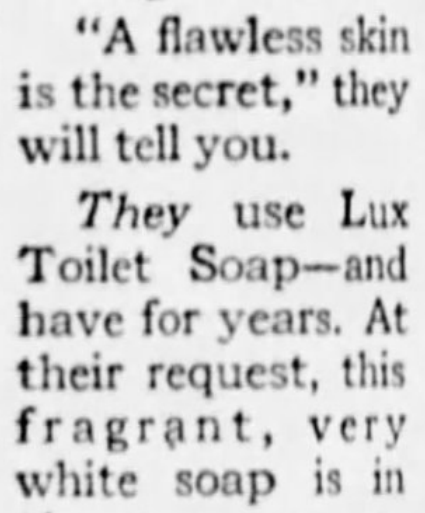


JEANETTE LOFF

"A flawless skin is the secret," they will tell you.

They use Lux Toilet Soap—and have for years. At their request, this fragrant, very white soap is in theaters everywhere—is official in all film studios.

Of the countless Hollywood, Broadway, European stars who use this soap, some have the skin that is inclined to dryness; some the skin that tends to be oily; some the in-between skin.



CARMEL MYERS

Whatever your type may be, you, too, will find Lux Toilet Soap perfect! The caress of dollar-a-cake French soap, just 10¢.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

WILMA IS THE LADY'S NAME. That's what I'll call her anyway. Wilma is pretty. Wilma is sweet. Wilma, to make a long story short, is decidedly attractive. She is married, too. Wilma has a way with her. You know the old saying: Where there's a Wilma there's a way.

Wilma is 26 years of age and has been married for eight years. When she married, she was working as a secretary in a theatrical concern on Broadway.

The man she married was a good-natured, easy-going guy. He has never in his entire life earned more than a comfortable salary, and the probability is that he never will.

"We're a modern couple," Wilma said before their marriage, "and there's no reason why I should give up my job."

So Wilma's husband merely nodded and let it go at that. If his wife wanted to work—let her work. More than that, it would keep her out of mischief. At least, that's what he thought . . .

About two months ago friend husband suddenly began to realize that his wife's clothes were pretty expensive affairs. She always seemed to have plenty of cash on hand and never bothered him for money. She was only making $33 a week, he knew. So how did it all prove up?

He had a couple of drinks one night while they were sitting in their home in Brooklyn, and he asked her about it. She cheerfully admitted that her employer was handing her bonuses for bringing in special customers. The husband began to argue, had three more drinks and fell asleep.

As a matter of strict fact, Wilma was being a very naughty girl. Not only was she being, but she had been for several years.

A Jersey physician was the favored boy friend at this period in her career. Her husband frightened her a little with his sudden questions. She liked her physician pal, but she liked her home just a trifle more.

Three or four days later she was sitting with the Newark doctor in a Newark speakeasy.

"Dear," she asserted, "we've got to be very careful. My husband was asking questions the other night. And when a husband who is not ordinarily jealous begins to ask questions, that's very bad. I tell you . . . ."

She gave a swift cry of pain and fell from her chair on the floor. She groaned heavily and complained of terrific pains in her stomach. A hurried examination by her doctor friend disclosed the fact that she would have to be operated upon immediately.

The doctor did some rapid thinking. He could not leave her now—and to be caught with her in this speakeasy might ruin both of them. So the first thing he did was to summon the proprietor and have her carried out of the joint. She was placed in his automobile while he ran to the corner and summoned a policeman.

"I was driving along," he said rapidly, "when I saw this woman stagger and fall. I've placed her in my car. I'm Dr. B——— and I can see that this woman—whoever she is—needs an immediate operation. Please help me."

The patrolman nodded and hopped on the side of the car. Five minutes later, Wilma was on the operating table. Her friend performed the operation as her husband in Brooklyn was being notified. By the time he reached the hospital, the operation had been successfully completed and Wilma was resting comfortably.

As soon as he saw the husband, the doctor walked over to him and extended his hand. He introduced himself and then spoke rapidly.

"You are a most fortunate man, sir," he cried. "I happened to be driving along this afternoon when I noticed the woman I have just operated upon drop to the street.

"Being a doctor, I did the only thing possible under the circumstances. I brought her here and operated at once. Her recovery is now only a matter of a few days."

The husband had a large lump in his throat. He clasped the doctor's hand and pumped it warmly.

"I can't ever repay you for this, doctor," he said simply. "All I can do is to thank you from the bottom of my heart. You are a real man."....

Wilma was soon home again in her Brooklyn home. When her husband asked her what she happened to be doing in Newark that day, she told him that she had gone there on business for her firm. He believed her, of course. He was good natured that way.

The husband insisted that the doctor mail him a bill. After secretly discussing it with Wilma, the doctor did so. It called for $500—and hubby dug down and paid without a whimper.

That money stayed in the family, however. As soon as he saw her again, the doctor gave the $500 to Wilma—in cash.

For Wilma was pretty. And Wilma was smart. And Wilma had a way with her.

OBITUARY

John Waters.

John Waters, 65, of 1400 Beech street, McKeesport, for 45 years a cut stone contractor in Braddock, McKeesport and Johnstown, died yesterday of injuries received Tuesday when he fell from the second floor of the new Munhall school building. He was born in Wales and came to this country in 1883. He was a member of the Central Presbyterian Church of McKeesport, the Cut Stone Contractors' Association, the Building Trades' Employers' Association, the Masonic fraternity, the Knight Templars and Syria Temple. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Maria Mathias Waters; five sisters and a brother, all of McKeesport.

William Delaney

Taps will be sounded tomorrow for William Delaney.

The 86-year-old veteran of the Civil War died Friday night in Marine Hospital, where he had been a patient since last November. He was a member of Company D, 55th Regiment, Kentucky Infantry.

His home was formerly in North Braddock, where he had come at the close of the Civil War. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon in the Jobe and Nee funeral parlors, Turtle Creek, by members of the American Legion.

Klingensmith Services

John H. Klingensmith, 54, who died Saturday night, will be buried Wednesday afternoon from his home, 1714 Kenneth avenue, New Kensington. Burial will be in Mt. Airy Cemetery, Tarentum. Born in Creighton, Mr. Klingensmith had resided there until 12 years ago. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Arnold and the Junior O. U. A. M. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Matilda Hugus Klengensmith; two stepsons, Clarence E. and Joseph Short; three brothers and three sisters, and two grandchildren.

Ackley Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Ackley, 80, who died yesterday in her home, 1785 Perrysville avenue, will be held Wednesday afternoon in the James Lowrie Memorial Home, 1407, Chateau street. Burial will be in Uniondale Cemetery. Mrs. Ackley leaves a daughter, Mrs. Burd Saunders; three sons, Frank, Walter T. and Harry R. Ackley; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Mary J. Irwin.

Mrs. Mary Jane Irwin, 87, widow of George L. Irwin, former president of the Pennsylvania White Lead Company, died today in her home, 1429 Inverness avenue. She leaves a son, John A. Irwin, vice president of the Union Trust Company. Mrs. Irwin was the oldest member of the Sandusky Street Baptist Church.

Lyon Funeral.

Funeral services for J. Charles Lyon, 58, 16 Oakland square, son of the late Maj. Robert W. Lyon, former mayor of Pittsburgh, will be held tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery, McKees Rocks. Mr. Lyon died Saturday. Born in Pittsburgh, he had worked for steel companies here most of his life. At the time of his death, he was employed by the Firth-Sterling Steel Company, of McKeesport. He leaves his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Frank D. Rommel, of Glassport; three sisters, Mrs. James Messick, Mrs. Laura W. Campbell and Mrs. William Grubbs, and two grandchildren.

VET PRESSMAN PAID HONOR

Thomas F. Flanigan, 76, dean of Pittsburgh's pressmen, today missed his first working day this year—but he had ample reason.

The veteran workman was a guest of honor last night at a banquet in the William Penn Hotel which marked the thirty-eighth anniversary of the founding of the pressmen's union here. He and 13 other charter members of the union were presented with gold service buttons signifying at least 30 years in active service in the press room.

Flanigan, who lives at 1500 Boulevard of the Allies, however, has served more than double that time. He is the oldest active pressman in the United States.

63 YEARS IN SERVICE

For 63 years he has labored in the shadow of the whirring presses of Pittsburgh. During that time he has been foreman of every newspaper plant in the city. His daily attendance records are the king which make efficiency experts gloat.

It is now more than 23 years since he joined the pressroom crew of the Chronicle-Telegraph. He worked for that paper until it became the Sun-Telegraph in 1927. The change in ownership meant nothing to Flanigan. He continued in his capacity as boss of one of the great presses which daily grind out the city's newspapers.

He's still one of the most valued men on the job. Walter Stone, foreman of the Sun-Telegraph pressroom, himself a veteran of 29 years with the Chronicle-Telegraph and its successor, said today:

"He's one of the best men I have today; always on the job and doing his work as well as he did when I first met him."

Incidentally, he is the father of Thomas A. Flanigan, First Ward alderman and politician. Young

Rarick Has Bitter Battle With Wife Over His Strange Guest

(This famous story has been made into a talking picture by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer with Marion Davies in the leading role.)

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

John G. Rarick has made millions as a chain store operator. His wife, Jenny, shortly after their marriage, lent him $2,500, all she had when he was near failure, and out of this money he built riches. But Jenny resents his far-from-imposing appearance, and no longer feels real love for him. She plans the social education of their children, Jennifer and Avery. The thought is always in her mind that without her $2,500, Rarick would have achieved nothing. Her goading results in Rarick's agreeing to go East and to buy a magnificent home, but, secretly, he finds himself hating her. This is accentuated by his own temperamental inability to get close to his children. All their appeals to him are made through their mother. Rarick meets an odd genius, Dr. Felix Gerkes, an authority on art and gems, and installs him in his house.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IV.

Jenny's kind of opposition to the invasion of Gerkes had been tinctured with the wisdom of a certain restraint. Here was one of the times it was not good to oppose Rarick.

She had missed this scent a few times, once in particular over an apparently trivial matter that had to do with Avery and a week-end stag party of 11 school companions which she planned for him on board a motor yacht which she was maneuvering for his father to give him on his fifteenth birthday.

The idea of Avery on his own private yacht, lording it as host over 11 youngsters to whom a yacht was that day's toy, was roiling to Rarick. There had been a similar scene, not two months before, over a cigar-shaped roadster for Avery; but then there had been high, bitter, even more terrible, words, and Rarick's foot had come down with an emphasis that Jenny somehow knew better than to further oppose, and Avery had not even been allowed to come home from school at Newberry over the occasion of his birthday.

There had been a matter that had to do with Jennifer, who had played high stakes beside her mother at the baccarat tables of Nice and won sums large enough for the papers to carry the story in headlines that had been the occasion of peremptory cablegrams for their return to America and had virtually shut off subsequent trips abroad.

There had been the affair, too, of the young Argentinian, son of a castor-bean magnate, driving his Hispano-Suiza into the swimming pool at the Roslyn, Long Island, estate. Jenny had been as outraged as Rarick, except that he went to the extreme of keeping the house closed for two subsequent seasons.

Opposition Limited

There were certain well-defined limits to opposing Rarick, which were none the less tricky limits, because there seemed to be no way, except the intuitive one, to anticipate them. He would give in on many a grand issue, such, for instance, as the Ficke house, Jennifer's fabulous string of matched pearls, or Jenny's whim for 5,000 acres of French-Canadian tract north of Quebec, upon which they had built an artificial lake, a 40-room chalet, "The Cataract," and which had been opened exactly 20 days in five years. On the other hand, a trifle like Avery's roadster, or this matter of Dr. Gerkes, would set his head rigidly into the valley of his shoulders and square him for fight.

The coming of Dr. Gerkes was one of those occasions. This time Jenny knew it even before she raised the first faint dust of issue; but she could not forego that first faint dust. The coming of Gerkes angered her. It went against the grain. Not that, offhand, it would seem to cause much of a ripple in a household where 31 servants reported to the housekeeper every morning; but it did matter more than was discernible at the first glance.

From the first, Jenny had found the Ficke house deceptive. A Gothic library, two stories high, which ran across the entire Fifth Ave. frontage, a drawing-room of enormous proportions, a Roman dining-room into which you ascended by Pompeian-marble steps, and a glassed-in conservatory for which a breakfast-room had been sacrificed as Rarick's passion for difficult and exotic transplantation began to grow, left embarrassingly few bedroom suites.

Jenny Voices Objection

An additional story would have marred the Hellenic grace of the building, and the owner of the adjoining pile of magnificence felt affronted, rather than tempted, by the Rarick offer to buy.

The yellow suite assigned to Dr. Gerkes subtracted one from the five small suites of guest-chambers that Jenny had so elaborately planned and redone. It is true that the comings and goings of Gerkes, who preferred to use what was known as the service-entrance and the small rear staircase that led quite privately up to his rooms, made practically no dent in that household.

That evening before they went down to dinner, Jenny's anger overflowed her discretion.

"There's a time and a place for everything, Rarick," she said

CLIFFORD M'MORRAN WILLIAM KENNY RICHARD COSTELLO A. GRAHAM

Mr. Graham and part of a class in science laboratory in Braun School. Science courses are required of 104 ninth and tenth graders and this single basement bench is the extent of the equipment. Dr. C. E. Dickey, superintendent of county schools, called this an unsanitary and unsatisfactory condition and says that Shaler Township's school system has outgrown itself.

Dickey Urges New School, More Teachers in Shaler Township

Faced by an increased student population, which has grown from 1,463 to 1,879 in five years, Shaler Township will vote June 9 on a $250,000 bond issue which would provide a new junior-senior high school at Braun and relieve the school congestion.

The township school system has outgrown itself. In nearly every room in the district's five schools, there are more students than can be taught efficiently, according to C. A. Dickey, county superintendent of schools.

Mr. Dickey said:

NEED TEACHERS

"We need six additional teachers right now in the elementary grades in the district. There is an especially crowded condition at the Braun and DeHaven schools. In most of the rooms, the enrollment is far in excess of what it should be.

"If the district should get a new high school, by taking the seventh and eighth grades from the other schools, it would relieve the congestion materially. Furthermore, the new school would provide a better educational organization."

The proposed school would be manned by a staff of 14 or 15 teachers, and would provide a complete academic course for college entrance as well as a commercial course.

Superintendent Dickey said the district now has only a 14-mill tax, which, he says, is comparatively low for Allegheny County school districts.

SAVE $18,152

The district would save $18,152 a year, which it is now paying in tuition to neighboring high schools in Etna, Sharpsburg, Millvale, Aspinwall and Pittsburgh for the 201 students who are attending these schools and living in Shaler Township.

The present school at Braun consists of four rooms, housing seven grades: from the first to the fifth and the first two years of high school. A grade school class should not exceed 35 students for efficient teaching, according to Supt. Dickey. But here are the actual figures for this school:

Room No. 1, 47 pupils; room No. 2, 45 pupils; room No. 3, 51 pupils, and room No. 4, 52 pupils.

The same situation, with few exceptions, Superintendent Dickey says, prevails in the other four schools of the district—DeHaven, Bauerstown, Friday Street and Glenshaw.

GLENSHAW CROWDED

The Glenshaw School is a two-story building, equipped with four wooden stairways. There are no fire escapes on the building.

The junior-senior high school was proposed to the township School Board some months ago by Superintendent Dickey, after he had made a survey of the district's educational needs.

At that time he also recommended new buildings for Snowden and Richland Township. He announced that the Snowden School Board has decided to ask the township voters for a bond issue to provide either a six-room or an eight-room school building to be built at Library.

Simultaneously with this announcement it was reported to him that the Richland Township board had posted notices of a special election to be held June 2, to obtain expression from the voters on a proposed bond issue of $65,000 for a new school building to replace the Grubbs school, which was destroyed by fire last March.

Mr. Dickey is now making surveys in several other townships with the view to outlining detailed expansion plans.

Rector Flies Home to Give Mother's Day Address

The Rev. H. P. Pullin, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, McKeesport, made a hurried trip by airplane from Washington to McKeesport yesterday so to conduct a Mother's Day service in his own church.

He addressed members of the McKeesport Elks lodge who attended the services in his church last night.

The clergyman had been attending a ministerial conference in Washington. When the conference ended yesterday morning, he boarded a plane and arrived at Bettis Field two hours later.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

CARLSBAD, N. M., May 11.
To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Celebrating "Mother's Day" by giving "Ma" Rogers a vacation. Picked her a white desert flower and walked her for seven miles through the celebrated Carlsbad Caverns. I thought the biggest hole in the ground was when you was drilling for oil and struck a dry hole. But this is bigger than even that, it's just the Grand Canyon with a roof over it. Then when you get inside it's got all the cathedrals of the world in it, with half of 'em hanging upside down. If a "drunk" suddenly woke up in that great hall in there he would think he had died and gone to heaven, for that's the nearest thing to his imagination of the place.

Yours, WILL.

Chinatown Raises Fund To Bury Penniless Man

Chinatown will hold last rites according to the Chinese Masonic ritual for Chin N. Leung, 51, of 517 Third avenue, who died in Montefiore Hospital. Leung died penniless, but Chinatown will give him the reverence the Chinese pay their dead. The expense will be covered by the funds his countrymen started raising in the community when they heard of his death.

The body will lie in the Homewood Cemetery for five years, after which it will be sent in a mahogany box to his native land. His home was in Shantung province, China.

ELABORATE PROGRAMS HERE PAY TRIBUTE TO MOTHERS

ALL CHURCHES HOLD SPECIAL SERVICES

Fraternal and Civic Groups Stage Ceremonies in Various Parts of County

Pittsburgh observed "Mother's Day" yesterday with special church services and programs sponsored by civic and fraternal organizations.

In addition to the services held in every church in the county, the Polish Women's Alliance of Western Pennsylvania, the Knights of Columbus, the Catholic Daughters of America, North Side Elks and the Downtown Y. M. C. A. presented appropriate programs.

3,500 PAY TRIBUTE

The occasion was observed at Sacred Heart Church by 3,500 members of the congregation who received communion. It was the largest number of communicants in the history of the parish, exceeding last year's figure by 700, it was said.

As was the case in the majority of Catholic churches, a solemn high mass was sung. A choir of 70, directed by Edgar Bowman, choirmaster, sang at Sacred Heart. The Rev. J. Raymond Mulvehill gave the sermon.

The annual Mother's Day breakfast was given at the Downtown "Y," under the direction of Dormitory Mayor Myron M. Eicher. The breakfast is given each year especially for those unable to get home for the day.

ELABORATE PROGRAM

The Polish women's organization sponsored an elaborate program in the Nixon Theater. Victor L. Alski, publisher of the Pittsburgh Polish Daily, and Miss A. Emily Napieralski, of Chicago, spoke.

At Old St. Patrick's, the tridium in honor of the Virgin Mary and all mothers, was concluded with special services. A solemn high mass was sung at the Epiphany Church, Washington street.

Peter J. McArdle, former councilman, was the speaker at the observance held last night in Sharpsburg by the Knights of Columbus and the Catholic Daughters.

'Grocery Clerk' Works Change 'Racket'

Something new in "rackets" worked by thieves was reported by Wilkinsburg police today with the complaint of H. R. Case, of 763 Rebecca avenue, Wilkinsburg, who said he had been buncoed out of $11.

A youth, wearing a white apron, ran into Case's shop and asked for $11 "to make change for $50." The youth said he was employed in the grocery store of the Haas Brothers, adjoining Case's shop. Case became suspicious when the youth ran up the street without going into the Haas store, he said.

2 BANDITS ROB MAN OF $162

Held up by two Negroes in front of his home early yesterday, Harry Gross, of 1815 Center avenue, was robbed of $162, according to police.

A pickpocket robbed Emmerich Fuerst, of 1516 Valentine street, of his watch, valued at $20, while he was riding on a Troy Hill street car, police said.

Glasses valued at $20 and $10 in cash were stolen from the home of Mrs. Philip Unger, at 2341 Eldridge street. A rear window was jimmied.

Forcing the rear door of the home of Thomas Powell, at 614 Vinemont street, burglars early yesterday stole a watch valued at $25 and $5 in cash.

Police today were looking for two boys who snatched the purse of Mrs. Fred H. Kury, of 46 Obey avenue, as she waited for a street car Saturday night at Obey avenue and Noblestown road. Mrs. Kury reported to police that the purse contained only two blank checks.

GOES ON TRIAL IN MURDER

Charles Hairston, Negro, of 3305 Slope street, was to be arraigned in Chiminal Court today on a charge of murder. He is accused of having fatally stabbed Cornelia Spark, 35, in their home the night of March 1.

Fred Prezioso, formerly of Epiphany street, also is to be placed on trial today in Criminal Court. He faces three charges of robbery, two of larceny of automobiles and one of throwing a dynamite bomb.

F. G. WALLACE, RETIRED, DIES

Frank G. Wallace, 78, one of the founders of the Consolidated Lamp Brass Company of Pittsburgh, died yesterday in his home, 124 West Swissvale avenue, Edgewood. Mr. Wallace, prominent in manufacturing circles in Pittsburgh and Ontario, Canada, had been retired five years.

He was born in Cleveland but spent the greater part of his life in Pittsburgh.

In 1901 he organized the Kopp Glass Company and later merged it with the Pittsburgh Brass Company, becoming vice president and general manager of the new concern, the Pittsburgh Lamp Brass and Glass Company. He was a member of the Duquesne Club and of the First Unitarian Church.

One secret of Good Health and a Clear Skin lies in

NEW STRENGTH in the Blood

"Now, every blemish is gone—"

YOU will be surprised how much better you will feel . . . how much more attractive you will be to your friends . . . after you have added New Strength to your blood—in fact, the whole world will seem rosy!

Rich, red blood plays a dominant role in maintaining health. It builds and sustains . . . removes impurities from the tissues. When you add New Strength to the blood and bring it back to normal, your whole body is invigorated and strengthened . . . your mental condition is improved . . . you are better able to resist infection and disease.

If your vitality is low and you feel weak, don't care to eat, have lost weight, your skin is sallow, pale or broken out with pimples or boils, let S.S.S. purify and enrich your blood.

S.S.S. is composed of fresh vegetable medicinal ingredients in concentrated form. It has a successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood—this New Strength naturally makes for better health and happiness.

If constipated, try KLOK-LAX . . . it "acts on time."

"DON'T BREAK THAT WINDOW
I have the key!"

There was an air of suppressed excitement in our Cleveland hotel that night. Even the oldest employee had succumbed to the infection of it, and waited at his station in the ballroom as impatiently as a young man at a tryst.

It was all because of the girl. She was young and fair, and her unconcealed excitement pervaded the whole hotel. This was her night of debut. At nine o'clock she was to be presented to Cleveland society in the most brilliant coming-out party of the year.

The hour approached. Seven o'clock passed. At seven-thirty the telephone in the manager's office jangled. The girl's mother was calling. "We are in a frightful predicament," she said. "Barbara's dress—the one made for this party—hasn't been delivered to our suite. What shall we do?"

"Who made the dress," the manager asked, "and where is the shop?" He was told. Then he continued, "What is the last minute you can give me to get the dress?" "Ten minutes of nine," came the reply. "I'll have it there," he answered, "don't worry!"

But soon he was worried. For when he called the residence of the owner of the shop, he was informed by the modiste's sister that Madame had gone to New York, and that her head fitter had the only other key. Quickly the manager phoned the fitter's house. "She has gone to the theatre," he was told, "and we don't know which one." In quick succession, every theatre in the city was called, and each time came this reply: "She cannot be paged."

This was a quandary! The manager called Madame's sister again and gave her the disappointing news. "Madame's best customer!" the sister wailed. "We'll have to break in and get her dress. I'll come down." "All right," the manager said. But he did two things. He phoned the fitter's family once more and asked that they go with an assistant manager to the theatres and find the woman. Then he talked with the police.

The sister came. A policeman arrived. The manager sent them and the head-porter in a cab to the shop. The time was half-past eight when the little group stood in the areaway behind the store. They could wait ten minutes for the fitter to appear! The seconds dragged. One minute more! That, too, passed by. "It's time," the porter announced. "Let's go!"

Just then, down the alley came the sound of running feet and a woman's voice calling, "Don't break that window! I have the key." It was the fitter. She had been found. Our efforts had met with success — and the gown was delivered on time.

So here you have another incident from the Statler Service Records. There are many such, for the records are long today and they are crowded with these little dramas of life.

In every emergency in which our aid has been asked we have tried to be helpful; to that end our organization and policies have been built. Every one of us wants to be of service — always. And we want to be of utmost service in every contact with our guests — so that their visits to our hotels will leave pleasant memories — and evoke a desire to return.

COMMISSIONERS TO HEAR REPORT ON VOTE MACHINES

POOLE OFFICIAL TO EXPLAIN PROGRESS

Firm Holding $1,000,000 Contract Will Discuss Job; Plan Education of Voters

The progress of the manufacture of the voting machines for Allegheny County will be explained to the County Commissioners tomorrow by a representative of the Poole Engineering and Machine Company of Baltimore. The Poole company is holder of the $1,000,000 contract to supply the county with machines for this fall's election.

The Poole representative is also expected to discuss plans with the Commissioners for the education of the voters in the use of the machines for the primary election on September 15. The contract calls for the delivery of 1,100 machines on or before August 15. At the time the contract was awarded, representatives of the company told the Commissioners that a sufficient number of the machines would be delivered by May 15 for demonstration purposes.

Attorney H. D. Hirsh, local counsel for the firm, announced that either S. Proctor Brady, president, or Dudley Shoemaker, vice president, would represent the company. Last week Commissioner C. C. McGovern visited the Poole factory, and on his return asked his colleagues to give every encouragement to the company to deliver some machines in time for a demonstration and it was decided to summon a company representative to report on progress.

VETERAN COURT ATTACHE DIES

Paul St. Peter, 73, veteran tipstaff in Criminal Court, and a former president of the local glassworkers' organization, died today at his home, 245 North Dithridge street.

Mr. St. Peter was born in Canada and came to Pittsburgh in his boyhood. He was apprenticed to the glassworkers' trade and was engaged in the old-time plants on the South Side. For many years he was secretary of L. A. 300, Window Glass Workers' Union. He served for three terms. He gave up his trade to become a clerk in the office of the clerk of courts and later was appointed tipstaff.

He was a member of St. Paul's Cathedral. He leaves his wife and several children.

CIVIC CLUB WILL ELECT HEADS

The Civic Club of Allegheny County will hold its thirty-sixth annual meeting in the William Penn Hotel Thursday night, when a president, three vice presidents, a secretary, a treasurer and 19 directors will be elected. Maurice R. Scharff will preside. A reception for members will follow.

A tulip show in the lobby of the hotel, continuing through Friday, will be a feature of the meeting.

Two Sisters Held In Store Thefts

Anna and Elizabeth Rodgers, each giving their age as 29 and claiming to be sisters, were held under $5,000 bond each for further investigation on a charge of shoplifting, by Magistrate Rothenberg.

Detectives testified the women were arrested in a hotel where merchandise valued at more than $2,000, stolen from downtown stores, was found in their rooms.

2 Slain on Farm, Owner Kills Self

CONCORD, N. C., May 11.—(AP.)—R. L. Barrier, owner of the farm on which Mrs. Chris Starnes and her daughter, Anna, were slain early Saturday, was found shot to death near his home today. A shotgun was by his side. Deputy Sheriffs said Barrier apparently committed suicide.

150 GIRL SCOUT DELEGATES AT MEET

Four States Represented At Regional Conference; Change in Headquarters

By MARGARET RUSSELL
Staff Correspondent.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 11.—One hundred and fifty delegates from four states, interested in the Girl Scout movement were today discussing problems of the organization in Region 3, comprised of Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

A welcome address was delivered by Miss Elizabeth Reis, scout commissioner, and responded to by Mrs. Stuart McGuire, of Richmond, Va. Tonight the delegates will be given a buffet supper at the Field Club and witness a play, "Peter Pan," staged under the direction of Leona Sankey, of Troop 9, and comprising a cast of 30 girls from 13 local troops.

Miss Josephine Schain, national directotr, spoke on camping for girls.

Mrs. McGuire announced that headquarters for Region 3 in the future would be in Washington instead of Harrisburg.

Three training courses for leaders will be given this summer at camps near Pittsburgh, Harrisburg and Richmond, it was announced.

Two appointments were announced at the conference today, that of Mrs. Vance McCormick, Harrisburg, as regional representative on the national public relations committee; and Mrs. William Walker, of New York, as correspondent for Council Fire, the international Girl Scout and Girl Guide magazine.

Mrs. C. L. Peirce, Jr., the commissioner of the Allegheny County Girl Scout Council, is serving as chairman of the regional hospitality committee.

The Coming Generation

Thousands of busy mothers all over the country send their children on daily errands to the A & P.

The mothers know the quality of A & P foods. They know the prices are rock bottom. So they can let even the toddlers go for supplies, sure that at A & P stores the kiddies will do just as good a shopping job as they would themselves.

All of which is very gratifying to us, not just because we're happy to be helping busy mothers, but also because we like to think of those multitudes of little A & P enthusiasts growing up all around us. It is promising for the future of our business. And the country too, for that matter. For A & P is an education in good food, good health, and good management.

TELL IT TO SALLY

Don't Be Mercenary When You Pick a Husband

Betsy wants us to pick her husband for her.

Yep. That's her plea.

She has two candidates just waiting to slip on the platinum shackle . . . but she can't for the life of her decide between 'em . . . which'll it be—Leon, the Home Boy, or Kenneth, the City Sheik?

"Dear Miss Martin:

"I have been reading your advice for a long time now, and I wish that you could help me in my predicament like you've helped these other people. Probably you'll think it a simple and foolish one, but as I have no one else to confide in, I hope you will help me anyway.

Loves Two Boys

"I am 23, born and raised in a small town, and it was there that I fell in love with one of the boys I went to school with. Now, whenever I go home on a vacation, I still go with him. And last summer he asked me to marry him, but I told him I didn't care to get married yet, so he told me he'd wait until this next summer for his answer. He is quite well-to-do, good-looking, and is very nice to me. His name is Leon, and he always writes to me, whether I answer him or not.

"Now, here in the city, I've met another boy whom I believe I love, too. He is not so well-to-do as Leon, but he has a good position, and I think he would be good to me. He also has asked me to marry him, and I think that I would, except for Leon. This boy's name is Kenneth . . . and, really, I love them both. They have agreeable dispositions and a great respect for me. Each plans for our future, and I can't play the hypocrite to them and agree, so I just try to pass it by with a laugh.

Headed for Grief

"What would you do if you were in my place? I have promised to give my answer to Leon this summer, and I want to make sure before I say 'yes' or 'no.' Which would you advise? Leon? Or Kenneth?

"BETSY."

Well, well, you certainly are a practical soul, aren't you, Sissy? So you're "in love" with both of 'em, are you? And you want me to select the Lucky Gent for you?

No, thanks! That's your job, lady! And frankly, I'd advise you to slow up, till you know a little more of what it's all about. You claim you're in love . . . but you sound to me more like a stingy shopper haggling over the price of beans than like a lady in the throes of a Great Romance.

If you were really in love with either of these Romeos, you wouldn't be matching up their money, or wondering which one you could get the most out of. Your heart would be talking to you . . . plenty! And you'd be following it, straight as a homing pigeon.

And until your heart does talk to you, I'd advise you to not marry anyone. Because if you do, you're liable to pick yourself a gob of grief that you're not looking for.

They'll Learn Truth

These chaps may look and act dumb . . . but the chances are they're by no means as dumb as they seem, sister . . . if you did marry either of them, in your present grab-it mood, they'd be next to your little game in no time. They'd know in a week that you'd married, not because of what you wanted to give, but for what you thought you'd get . . . and being only human, they'd treat you accordingly.

And be sure that whoever you marry, young woman, you'll have to give plenty . . . just as you have to give plenty anywhere, if you want to get anything worth having. Marriage isn't a magic carpet, to waft you to ease and plenty. It's life. It's a grim, gorgeous adventure, that'll take every ounce of grit and gumption you've got. If you haven't love and generosity in your heart to sweeten it, you're liable to find it pretty tough going.

Discreet Use of Lamp Treatment Is Advised

Within recent years, light therapy has become very popular. The use of certain lamps under proper supervision is of great benefit. However, the indiscreet use of health lamps for every conceivable ailment may do harm.

"Actino-therapy," which is the name used for the treatment of certain ailments by rays of light, should be given only by a competent person who has received training in this subject. The ultraviolet rays are extremely beneficial, but also dangerous if handled carelessly.

When the skin is exposed to the rays of a carbon lamp, certain complex changes take place. The most marked of these is shown in the blood. The constituents of the blood, namely the red and white cells, the platelets, the fluid part of the blood, the hemoglobin, or coloring matter, all undergo marked changes.

When exposed to the ultraviolet ray, the red blood cells are slightly increased in number. After continuous treatment the coloring matter increases. It is believed, too, there may be slight increase in the number of white blood cells.

The blood platelets are tiny substances found in the blood stream. For a long time the functions of these bodies were not known. It is now believed they have something to do with the resistance of the body to infection. In acute infectious diseases, as coryza, measles, influenza, the blood platelets are decreased in number.

Following exposure to the ultra-violet rays, the platelets are increased. It is interesting to note that in animals kept in the dark and away from sunlight, there is a marked decrease in the number of these platelets.

In a recent experiment conducted on college students the ultra-violet treatment was found to be of distinct value. Students who were extremely susceptible to common colds and infections during the winter months, were greatly benefitted by this treatment. These students showed a 40 per cent decrease in the occurrence of colds.

Please remember not to use any lamp without first consulting your physician. Skin irritations and other internal disorders may occur when this method of therapy is used carelessly.

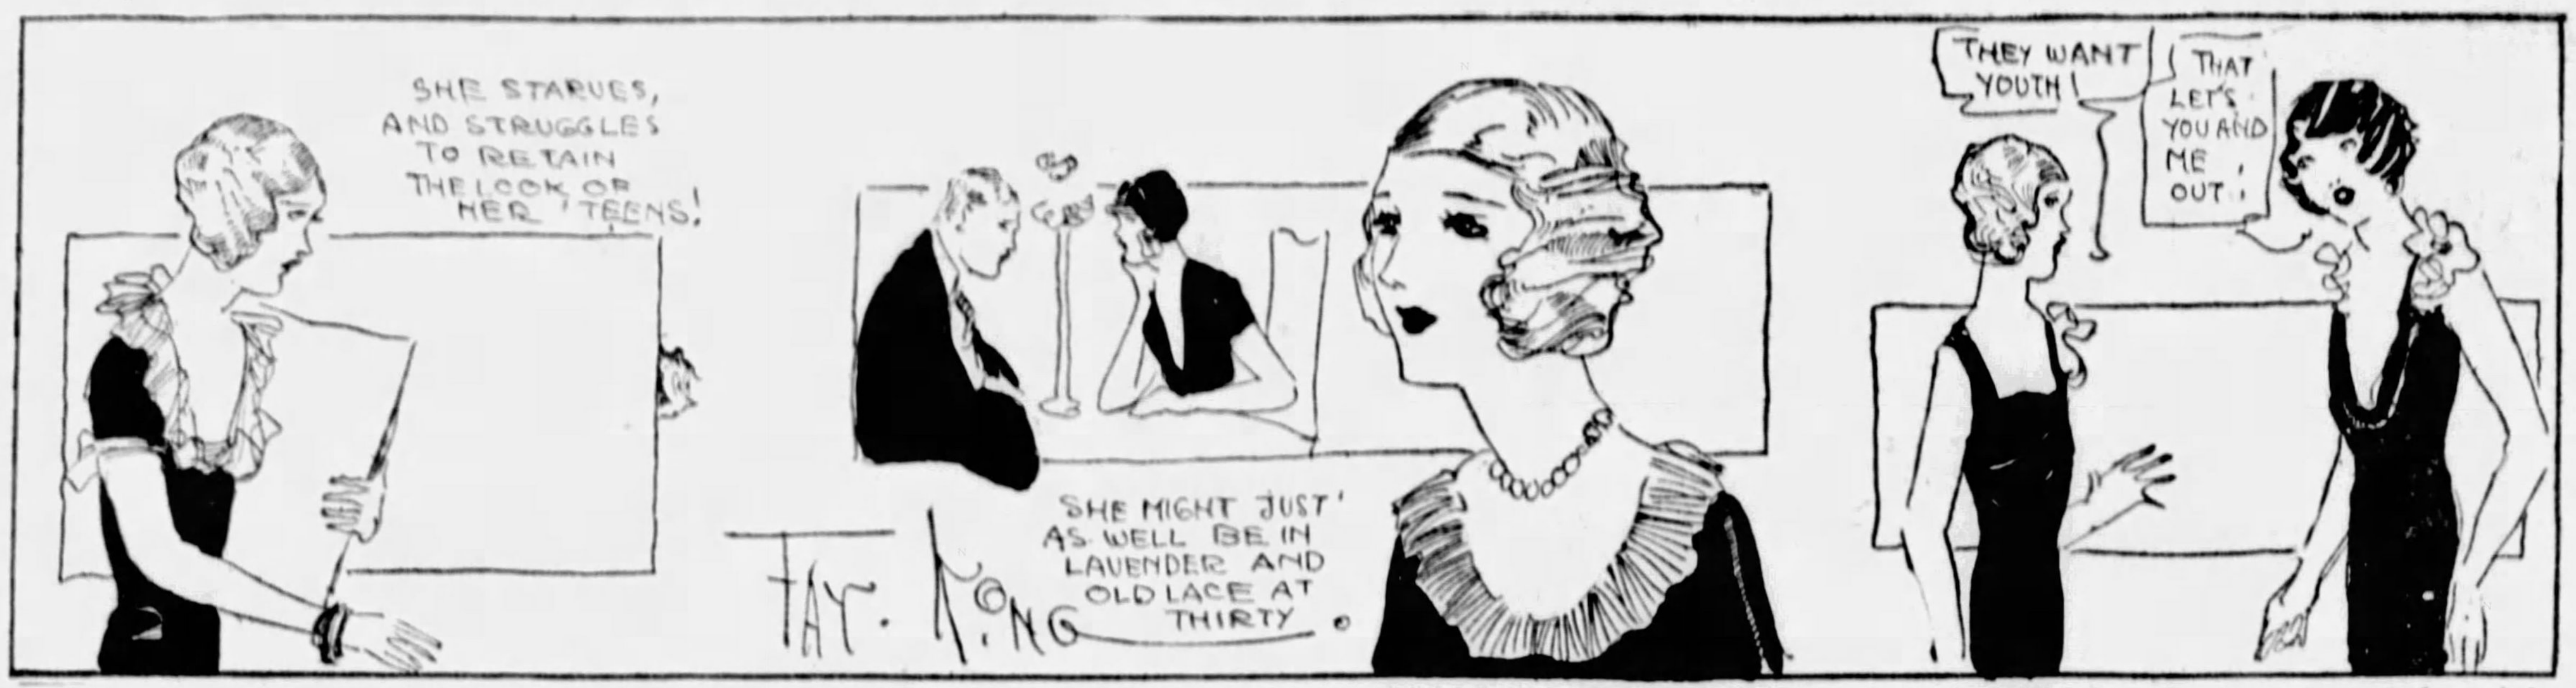
Women Who Seemed Old at 40 Are Now Young at 60 Years, Says Fay King



SHE STARVES, AND STRUGGLES TO RETAIN THE LOOK OF HER 'TEENS!
SHE MIGHT 'JUST' AS WELL BE IN LAVENDER AND OLD LACE AT THIRTY.
THEY WANT YOUTH!
THAT LET'S YOU AND ME OUT!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

A few generations ago women at 40 retired into stiff black silks, lacy caps and quiet corners to crochet.

Today women will not admit being old at 60, but the over-emphasis put on youth today makes a woman in her twenties seem old if she does not starve herself to retain the undeveloped lines of a growing girl in early teens.

Girls of 16 and 17 who were once classed as children are now considered youth, and lately when I put in a good word for a pretty film favorite not seen lately, I was told with a sneer that she is "too old."

Madge's Father Warns Her Against Veritzen

My father's warning concerning Philip Veritzen echoed in my ears long after he had retreated to the library, where, with a book, he had announced his intention of staying until our Christmas Eve celebration should be well under way.

"Too much uneasiness would be distinctly dangerous for Richard," he had said, and I knew that he was right. Yet how I could manage to banish that uneasiness from Dicky's mind unless I definitely broke off all business relations with Philip Veritzen and left his employ I had no idea.

I was not yet ready to break the contract which I had made with the great producer, although I could imagine circumstances which might lead me to sever relations with him. But I knew that one reason for my persistence in keeping the lucrative and fascinating work which Mr. Veritzen had entrusted to me was the fact that Dicky apparently never thought of any termination to the magazine partnership of himself and Edith Fairfax.

It was a deadlock, I told myself, but one which I saw no way of breaking. And above everything else, I wanted to keep Philip Veritzen in benign humor through this Christmas time in the hope that he might be won over to the betrothal of his son and Dicky's lovely niece.

Sometimes the knowledge that a stone wall confronts one gives the impulse to turn around and put one's back against the wall. It was something akin to this feeling, I imagine, that made me resolve to crush any misgivings as to the events of the coming 24 hours and go on exactly as if I had not a care in the world beyond the carrying out of my Christmas celebration successfully.

Running childish feet helped to strengthen the resolve and I smiled happily down at Junior and Roderick as they threw themselves upon me.

"Oh, Mums, you look just like the Christmas angel," Junior said admiringly, and Roderick uttered an expressive "Gee! I'll say so!" Behind them Katherine smiled at me mischievously.

"You mow 'em down in swaths, old girl, all ages. But I'll admit that hair of yours and your coloring tonight above that cream gown do slightly justify Junior's encomium."

It was a gown of the vintage of several years, this cream lace frock. But it is becoming. It was one of Dicky's favorites, and the first Christmas Eve I wore it, for there is so much color in the Christmas decorations I prefer to see white gowns against them. Junior was so ecstatic in his approval that I have put it on every Christmas Eve since altering it to suit the prevalent fashions. This year I had lengthened it with ruffles of cream tulle, and Junior who, like most children, is eagerly approving when his mother is dressed up, walked around me admiringly.

"Some mother I've got!" he said approvingly, and when Roderick, after an instant's pause, brought out a confused "Some aunt I've got!" there was so wistful an expression in his eyes that the hug and kiss I gave to Dicky's motherless nephew was as warm as those my own small son received.

"The question before the house," said Katherine "is how long these boys may stay up. I haven't made my decision yet. I told them that tonight they must ask you."

"Oh, Mums, can't we stay up a long time? Don't sing the carols right away," Junior exclaimed, "for after the carols then it feels like going to bed and I don't want to feel that way yet. Do you, Rod?"

"No, you bet," Roderick echoed and I looked at them perplexedly.

"Just what do you want to do?" I asked. "Do you want to help trim the tree? If you do, and see it tonight, it won't be a surprise in the morning."

"No, no," my small son said vehemently. "I want that surprise in the morning. You know, Rod, I told you what we do every Christmas morning."

"Sure," said Roderick, and added decidedly, "No, we don't want to spoil the surprise."

"And you can't get any toys out down here, you know. Everything's ready for Christmas. Do you want to play upstairs awhile?"

"No, we don't want to play at all," Junior said. "We just want to stick around down here and feel Christmassy for a while."

"Then I know the most Christmassy things in the world," I told them, "and you can do it while you are waiting for the carols. We won't have them quite so early, I'll promise you that. But if I let you stay up say an hour now, before we've sung the carols, will you promise to go cheerfully then? And will you mind if Hank and Bill and Mary and Noel draw the curtains while they trim the Christmas tree, so you won't see it until morning?"

"Aren't you going to trim it?" Junior demanded with disappointment in his voice. "It won't be nice if you don't trim it."

I knew better than to show mock modesty for my loyal, loving little son was expressing a heartfelt conviction.

"I'm going to tell them where to put the things," I told him, "but I'll have to have help putting them on. I never could get them on all by myself."

"That'll be all right," Junior conceded largely. "And when I'm bigger I'll help you trim the tree. But there won't be anybody to surprise with it."

Household Hints

To deaden a telephone or doorbell during sickness or for very nervous persons, slip blotting paper under the edge of the bells.

Keep a good-sized piece of gum camphor in the buffet drawer with your flat silver. It will do much toward preventing the silver from tarnishing.

To stop a leaking water pipe—Moisten ordinary yellow soap and a little whiting into a thick paste and bind it over the leak until a plumber can be secured.

A roll of the mucilaged brown paper tape that comes for sealing bundles is excellent to have around the house for labeling jars and packages. A roll of this tape will last a long time and come in handy on numerous occasions.

To remove iodine stains, soak stains about three minutes in cold water, then remove, rub baking soda over the stains and soak again in cold water; repeat till stains disappear. For sheets, towels, etc., make a thin paste of starch and cold water, put stained parts in and soak overnight; then wash with soap and water.

Household pests flourish with the coming of the summertime. So don't fail to include in your house-cleaning a bath in gasoline for the wooden beds, for then you may feel safe from the unwelcome visitors. The gasoline should be brushed in all crevices, on the edges and on the mattress. The bed then should be thoroughly aired before it is reassembled.

Seating the Guest of Honor

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Our club is to give an informal luncheon at which there will be a guest of honor. Should the hostess sit at the head of the table? In relation to her, where should the guest of honor be seated?

2. Would paper napkins in the club colors be all right for the luncheon napkins? It seems to me that this would be a bit too informal. What is your opinion?

3. When is it permissible to wear wrist length white "kid" gloves of washable suede? Are they all right with any color street costume?

4. Do you consider it correct to write business letters upon stationery engraved with your family crest or personal monogram?

Thank you so much, Mrs. Beeckman, for solving so many of our social problems for us. We enjoy your column.

CARA.

1. Yes, the hostess should sit at the head of the table, and on her right would be the guest of honor.

2. I agree with you. Paper napkins would not be at all appropriate for this occasion.

3. Yes, gloves of this description are appropriate for street costume.

4. No. This kind of paper is for formal use. Business letters should be written on either plain paper, or on paper engraved or printed with the address, or with the name and address.

Given, When Requested

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am going to have my class pictures taken at high school. Will you please advise me which is proper, to offer one of my pictures to my friends and schoolmates, or wait until they ask for one?

P. Q.

It is best to wait until we are asked for our photograph.

Wedding Invitations

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been reading your column and will say that it is very interesting indeed, as there are problems which you answer very nicely that come in my every day life.

I am to be married soon to a girl who lives with her married sister. Her parents are living in a distant state. What I would like to know is—how should the wedding invitations read? Should they read, "Mr. and Mrs. (Father's name) cordially invite you to attend wedding of their daughter" or Mr. and Mrs. (Brother-in-law's name) cordially invite you to attend wedding of (Girl's name)" and so forth, or how should it be stated?

INTERESTED READER

It is the best form to have the invitations issued in the names of the parents of the bride-to-be. Like this:

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

If you're just an old-fashioned girl, and stick to your vanishing cream, let it be known to you that the old-time white stuff is a bit passe and dodo. New vanishers come in flesh tint, in tea rose and in rachelle, so you can match up your complexion precisely and exactly. The old-time white vanishing application gave the nose the color of a marshmallow.

Liquid rouge sticks to one like a friend and a brother. It has to be applied with the utmost discretion. Moisten a pledget of cotton, squeeze out—the water and the rouge—touch the cheeks lightly. Blend in with water, after the new complexion is laid on, apply powder, tapping it in with the finger tips. A new raspberry shade gives a brave and gallant blush, and there's a lipstick to match.

Walk off your beauty ills, beauty-quester. Put on your seven-league boots and travel. Pump fresh air into the lungs and watch the roses bloom in your pretty cheeks. Walking brings the dimensions of the body to normal; it takes plumpness from fatted calves and puts skinny shanks into symmetrical form. It peps up appetite for the undernourished, helps burn up adipose tissue for them that has it and doesn't want it. Walk with energy. Head high, hips back. March!

Facial massage has a value aside from its beautifying effects; it is a stimulating influence to the peripheral nervous system, and it acts as a tonic to the blood streams. An hour in the facial chair, together with the administrations of an operator who knows her beauty oils, will put a tired woman on her toes. Nohing like it.

While soapy scrubbings are recommended for the removal of blackheads, they aren't always successful. Better the cleansing pack made by combining two tablespoonfuls of kaolin, which is refined Fuller's earth, one teaspoonful of peroxide and enough warm water to form a paste the consistency of whipped cream. Apply a thin film to the complexion and let it remain until it begins to flake. Lave away with warm water.

PREAKNESS MAKES DERBY MORE OPEN

ANOTHER STIRRING CHAPTER will be added this week to the history of the outstanding classic of the American turf. The famous Kentucky Derby will have its annual running next Saturday afternoon at Churchill Downs, Louisville, and it has been made more open and given more of the spice of uncertainty by Mate's unexpected victory in the Preakness at Pimlico last Saturday. That victory showed that both C. V. Whitney's Equipoise and the Greentree Stable's Twenty Grand can be beaten, so that instead of being almost conceded to one of those famous colts next Saturday's event is now looked upon as an open struggle in which the honors may go to one of the lesser lights among the starters, even if Mate himself does not prove the third horse in history to win both Preakness and Derby.

C. V. Whitney

This will be the fifty-seventh running of the colorful stake for 3-year-olds. It was first put on in 1875, and has been renewed annually without interruption. From 1875 to 1895, inclusive, the distance was a mile and a half. In 1896 the route was reduced to its present length, a mile and a quarter. Aristides was the first winner and Gallant Fox the latest. The time record for the race is 2 minutes 3 2-5 seconds, and it has stood for 17 years, having been set in 1914 by Old Rosebud.

THE CLOSEST approach to that record was 2:03 4-5, by Bubbling Over in 1926. Gallant Fox's time last year was 2:07 3-5. The Derby has been won only once by a filly. The only female of the species ever to finish in front was Regret, owned by the late Harry Payne Whitney, winner in 1915. The only imported horse to take the honors was Omar Khayyam in 1917.

No owner has won the blue ribbon three times. Only three, George J. Long, E. B. Bradley and Harry Payne Whitney, won it twice. Harry Payne Whitney was the father of Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, owner of Equipoise, one of this year's starters.

ONLY TWO HORSES ever won both the Preakness and the Derby, the achievement that Mate has a chance to place to his credit this year. They were Sir Barton in 1919 and Gallant Fox in 1930. Both also captured the Belmont Stakes later. Sir Barton was the only winning maiden in Derby history. The only father-and-son winners were Halma in 1895 and Alan-a-Dale in 1902.

Two jockeys rode three Derby winners—Isaac Murphy, a Negro, in 1884, 1890 and 1891, and Earle Sande in 1923, 1925 and 1930. Simms, Wingfield, Loftus and Albert Johnson each rode two winners.

TWENTY-SEVEN HORSES that were favorites at post time have won the Derby. Twenty-nine times the favorites were beaten. The longest-priced winner was Donerail in 1913. He paid $184.90 on a $2 pari-mutuel ticket, or 91 to 1. Stonestreet, the 1908 winner, was a 60-to-1 shot. The shortest-priced winners were Hindoo in 1881, Halma in 1895, and Agile in 1905, each at 1 to 3. The largest number of starters was 22 in 1928. The smallest starting fields were those of 1892, 1899 and 1905, each having only three horses. The richest Derby was worth $55,375 to the winner, falling to Mrs. John D. Hertz's Reigh Count in 1928. Last year it netted Gallant Fox's owner $50,725. The first Derby in 1875 was worth only $2,850. It costs $1,000 approximately to send a horse to the post—entrance fee $25, starting fee $500, with transportation, jockey fees and other expenses added.

Fred Fitzsimmons

THOUGH FRED FITZSIMMONS was beaten out by Wes Ferrell for the distinction of being the first pitcher in the major leagues to win five games this season, the Giant hurler is the only man who has won five decisions and is still undefeated.

And in spite of Ferrell's no-hit game, Fitzsimmons must be said to have surpassed even the Cleveland star as well as all other rivals in the consistent excellence of his pitching. Yesterday's shutout was his second in succession, he has not been scored on in his last 23 innings, he has allowed only one run in his last 27 rounds, and only two in his last 34 frames.

IN HIS LAST three games, Fitzsimmons has held the Boston, Brooklyn and Chicago clubs to a total of only nine hits—a two-hit game against the Braves, a three-hit game against the Robins and a four-hit game yesterday against the Cubs. In the five games he has worked he has allowed only eight runs and 22 hits.

Two items have contributed to the improvement in Fitzsimmons' pitching this spring. One is that he is getting greater speed on his fast ball, and the other is that he has learned to hide his knuckle ball. He formerly telegraphed the knuckler, but now throws it with the same motion he uses for the swifter.

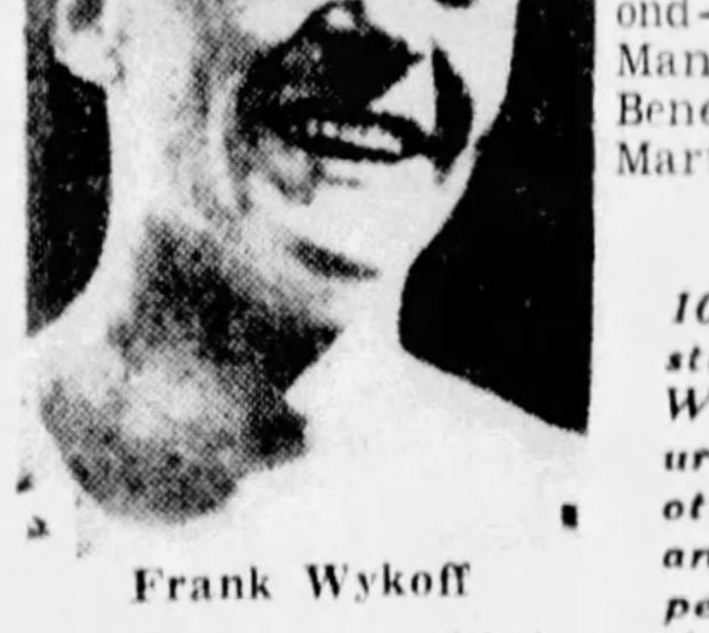
PITTSBURGH FANS ARE hopeful that the successful start made on the eastern trip yesterday behind Larry French's strong pitching, following four straight defeats, means a permanent brace on the part of the Pirates rather than just another bit of evidence that the Robins are weak against left-handers. Eleven of Brooklyn's 14 defeats up to date have been administered by southpaws, and against that total, the Robins have beaten forkhanders only five times.

THE PIRATES MAY lay claim to at least one distinction since the Giants blanked the Cubs yesterday. That leaves Pittsburgh as the only club in the National League that has not yet been shut out. In the American League Washington and Cleveland have yet to be held scoreless.

The Giants' victory yesterday tied them with the Cardinals for the leadership of both leagues in games won. Each of these clubs had 14 triumphs to its credit up to today. The two clubs have been traveling at the fastest pace set in either league to date. The Cards have won eight games in a row, and the McGrawites have bagged eight of their last 10 bouts.

IN TAKING THE series of three games here to make it five out of seven from the Pirates for the season—and five straight at that—the Cardinals strengthened the opinion held from the start by many local fans that they're going to be mighty hard to beat out. They have the pitchers, the hitters, the hustle and the reserve strength required to win pennants.

The true measure of any ball club is the class of its substitutes, and the Redbirds surely showed up impressively in that respect on Saturday, when they took the Bucs over for the fifth time in succession despite the fact that there were no fewer than five second-string players in the St. Louis lineup—Mancuso for Wilson, Collins for Bottomley, Benes for Gelbert, Orsatti for Hafey and Martin for Douthit.



Frank Wykoff

WITH FRANK WYKOFF running 100 yards in 9.5 seconds at this early stage of the season, as he did in the West Coast Relays at Fresno, Cal., Saturday night, chances look good for another year of amazing speed performances that will make the track world repeat the gasps of 1930. It is certain to revive among old-timers the discussion as to how much of this record sprinting is due to advancement in the runners and how much to improved tracks and better running paraphernalia. Many a veteran still contends that the runners are not of a better quality, and that if the star sprinters of early days, such as Arthur Duffy and Bernie Wefers, had had the facilities for perfect running with which the moderns are favored, they would have done just as well as the present-day record breakers.

HORNSBY BENCHES WILSON

LEFTY GRIMM, HARTNETT ALSO OUT

NEW YORK, May 11.—(INS.)—Hack Wilson, Chicago Cubs outfielder, who led both major leagues in home run hitting last season, will be benched under drastic changes in the working personnel announced today by Manager Rogers Hornsby.

Gabby Hartnett, hard hitting catcher, and Charley Grimm, former Pirate star, also will be affected by the shift.

POOR BATTING CAUSE

Hornsby in giving out the news concerning the benching of Wilson, who has been hitting .271, said:

"Hack has not been hitting this spring and maybe a rest will do him good. His fielding has fallen off with his batting and we need somebody who can go and get 'em."

Johnny Moore will replace Wilson in center field, Hornsby said.

Hartnett, whose batting average is .261, will work only when right-hand pitchers toil for the opposition.

ROG ALSO ON BENCH

Because of the injury to Hornsby's leg, he will work Bill Jurgess at second base, his position, against left-hand pitchers, while Clarence Blair will play the keystone sack when right-handers are performing. When Blair isn't busy at second, he will be playing first in place of Charley Grimm, who is batting only .217.

Wilson was surprised this morning when informed that Manager Hornsby intended to bench him, but denied any lack of harmony, asserting:

"Hornsby is a good manager—there's nothing between Rog and I.

"I'm in a slump; I can't get going. I ought to be hitting 100 points more than I am. I've been hitting the ball hard enough, but I line 'em at some fielder. It isn't a question of the new ball—soiled baseballs or the raised stitches which give the pitcher a better grip—it's just that I can't get going. Maybe a layoff will do me good."

20 MAY FACE DERBY BARRIER

LOUISVILLE, May 11.—(AP.)—Thirteen 3-year-olds today were considered certain starters in the Kentucky Derby next Saturday at Churchill Downs, with enough eligibles listed among the probable starters to practically assure a field of 20 going to the post in the $50,000 added mile and a quarter blue-ribbon event of the racing season.

The certain starters included such top-flight thoroughbreds as A. C. Bostwick's Mate, winner of the Preakness; C. V. Whitney's Equipoise, leading money winner as a 2-year-old last year; Mrs. Payne Whitney's Twenty Grand, second in the Preakness and holder of the American 2-year-old record for a mile, set at the Downs last year; Knebelkamp and Morris' Spanish Play, winner of the Louisiana Derby, and T. E. Mueller's Pittsburgher, leading other eligibles training in Kentucky in number of races won this year.

Others listed as certain starters were Walter J. Salmon's Ladder, third in the Preakness; H. C. Hatch's Boy Howdy, conqueror of 10 other eligibles in a race last week and winner of the Cuban Derby at Havana; Ormesby, owned by William Woodward, whose Gallant Fox won the Derby last year; Benjamin Block's Morstone, a son of Morvich and considered the principal dark horse contender for Derby honors; Griffin Watkins' Insco, R. W. Collins' Don Leon, Charles T. Fisher's Sleep All, and Joseph Leiter's Prince d'Amour.

Jack (Kid) Berg, recently dethroned junior-welterweight champion of the world, will be the opening attraction of the outdoor boxing season in the Pittsburgh district, one week from tonight.

Dominick Petrone

Promoter Apples Meyers, of the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, returned yesterday from a trip to New York to line up talent and today made the announcement that he had succeeded in bagging Berg. The English Jew, who is one of the most talked-about boxers in the world today, will meet Ray Kiser, of Tulsa, Okla., in the 10-round main bout.

Kiser has boxed Jimmy Reed, of Erie, at the Bowl and California Joe Gans and Eddie Brannon at the Moose Temple, winning all of these bouts. He is young, tough and willing. He suffered a badly cut eye in the first round against Brannon recently, but continued the battle, and was a handy winner at the end of 10 rounds.

KISER'S RECORD

The Westerner has boxed Sammy Mandell, former lightweight champion; Eddie (Kid) Wolfe, Tommy Gaona and other highly-rated opponents, and is a stablemate of Tony Herrera, who gave Berg a great fight in Madison Square Garden, New York, last Friday night, in Berg's first start after being the victim of a surprise knockout defeat at the hands of Tony Canzoneri in their bout involving both Canzoneri's lightweight title and Berg's junior-welterweight mantle, in the Chicago Stadium, a few weeks ago.

Berg is one of the busiest fistflingers in the business and a great showman. He has proved a good attraction wherever he has appeared and the Meyers brothers feel they have made a ten-strike in landing him for their opener.

No announcement has been forthcoming about the opening headliners for Pittsburgh's other outdoor arena, Hickey Park, in

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: PAT CARAWAY—In the second game Caraway played in organized baseball (he was with Terre Haute in the Three-Eye League), he relieved Tex Nugent on the mound in the fifth inning of a game with Bloomington, Ill. The bases were full and on the first ball Caraway pitched the batsman hit a hard grounder to Usatt, third baseman, who touched third and then threw to second, and the second baseman threw to first, completing a triple play, forcing runners on all bases. Caraway now is with the Chicago White Sox. They always are small feeders and are capable of undergoing long fasts with impunity. As they are habituated to a dry atmosphere, they never drink and may be sent long distances by parcel post, packed in dry waddings. VANCE FACES BUCS TODAY

By CHARLES J. DOYLE
Staff Correspondent.

BROOKLYN, May 11.—The horizon ahead of the battered Pirates' ship was much brighter this morning as a result of a rare display of courage, skill and initiative on the part of Larry French and Eddie Phillips, a fighting pair of batterymen, yesterday.

As they left Pittsburgh the Buccos expected to travel troubled waters as soon as they reached the seaboard cities and some daring and capable navigation were required to get the ship over the first big storm. The Pirates caught up with the tempest in Flatbush yesterday, but weathered the rough stuff in a heroic manner and today they were ready for ol' Dazmarine Vance, who is set to pitch against Heinie Meine in the second clash with the Robins.

SCORE IN NINTH

French and his hustling catcher had succeeded in keeping the desperate Robins away from third base yesterday up to the two-out stage in the ninth inning. Something like 28,000 denizens of Flatbush were just about reconciled to seeing their favorites artistically whitewashed by the youthful Pittsburgh lefthander when Ernesto Lombardi, the Primo Carnera of the Coast League, went up to bat for Pitcher Ray Phelps.

The Buccos were out in front with a three-run lead and runners were on second and first as Ernesto heard the pleadings for a homer that would put the home team in the old ball game. Lombardi did not act the part of a home-run slugger as he swung late at a French twister, but his efforts threw all the Buccos and their scattered supporters into an apprehensive state. Ernesto, to be specific, dropped a hit into

Sport Vignettes

One of the reasons the Pirate fans are not sorry the local club has gone away for its first swing of the season around the eastern half of the circuit is that the schedule also takes those pesky and almost unbeatable St. Louis Cardinals out of town . . . After seeing Gabby Street's men perform here in the week-end series, the conviction is general that, if they do not repeat their pennant triumph of last year in the National League, they'll at least be the club that the eventual winner will have to beat out for the gonfalon.

How'd you like to take a peek at a home-town boxing topnotcher embodying all of the best qualities of the leaders in the Pittsburgh fistic colony of the past and present? . . . . Say, for instance, a fellow with the legs, speed and heart of a Harry Greb, the right cross of a Buck Crouse, the love for battle of a Patsy Brannigan, the class of a Buck McTiernan, the punching ability and cockiness of a Jack Zivic, and the caginess of a Willie Davies? . . . . Well, never mind, there ain't no such animal, but there's no law against thinking about the thrills you'd get if there were any around for the impending summer season . . . . There never has been and probably never will be a perfect combination of boxer, fighter and puncher, which is why promoters and matchmakers become prematurely either gray-haired or bald-headed.

According to Steve Hannagan, the sports publicity demon, in an article in a current issue of a magazine, Tommy Milton, the former automobile driver, was totally blind in his right eye and had only two-thirds vision in his left optic, yet he was one of the best drivers the hazardous calling has known . . . . He is the only speedster to win the Indianapolis 500-mile race twice . . . . Apples Meyers, local boxing promoter, just back from a business trip to New York, touts Jack Rosenberg, the new middleweight of the big town, as one of the most promising of the youngsters now coming into the public eye.

It pays a race track to put on a big feature race like the Kentucky Derby or the Preakness . . . For instance, the betting in the pari-mutuels at Pimlico on Preakness Day, last Saturday, was $1,177,780, of which $249,576 was wagered in the machines on the Preakness alone . . . This is about $5,000 more than last year, and these are supposed to be tough times . . . Mate, the winner over Twenty Grand and Equipoise, will run in the Derby next Saturday, and his stock has gone up to such an extent that his owner was called upon to refuse an offer of $100,000 for him immediately after the Preakness was run . . . The big wind and rainstorm of last week tore down the baseball grandstand at the Cumberland (Md.) park, erected in 1889 . . . In other words, the elements in a few moments wrought what the tramping of many thousands of human feet could not accomplish over a period of almost 42 years.—HARRY KECK.

CHATEAU BOUSCAUT WINS

LONGCHAMP, France, May 11.—(AP.)—Count Olivier De Rivaud's sensational 4-year-old Chateau Bouscaut, captured the Prix Du Cadran, at two miles here yesterday. Florio was second and Godiche third. Chateau Bouscaut took down the major share of the $8,000 purse and paid 7 to 5 in the betting.

CADDIEMASTERS PLAY TODAY

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

With the home club caddiemaster, Paul E. (Toots) Erath, president of the organization, as host, members of the Caddiemasters Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania, which also includes assistant professionals, are cavorting the beautiful Edgewood Country Club links today in quest of their first tourney prizes of the season.

A large entry was anticipated for the event. Jimmy O'Donnell, pro at Edgewood, reports that the course is in better shape right now than it has been in for some time. Erath is the favorite to cop by virtue of his splendid 69 over his home links Saturday. O'Donnell's new assistant, Julius Platt, the Baltimore boy who speaks with southern accent, also appears to be a fine golfer, and he will make his debut in today's event.

Two Interscholastic Golf Conference matches are on the books. Kiski Prep plays Allderdice High in a Section I tilt, while Carrick visits McKeesport at Youghiogheny in Section II.

Tomorrow, the women's team league of the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania gets a start on the new season at the Allegheny Country Club. Anjeanette Hunter, of Oakmont, captain of Section I, lead-

Followers of the sandlot teams face another heavy card today, the West Penn, Westmoreland County and City leagues all flashing good schedules.

Still a great favorite with the fans, the Crafton-Ingram Church League again is back with us. Honus Wagner will be the guest this evening at the opener. Ingram Presbyterians and St. Philips have the honor of ushering in the new season.

Westmoreland finds three games carded around Latrobe. The Derry Township team will open the season with the Latrobe Cardinals at Latrobe grounds. This game so early in the season is going to put the town on edge. North Side clashes with Hostetter, and the Segar nine travels to Saxman.

ACES FACE TEST

In the West Penn League, triboro fans naturally will wend their way to Swissvale to watch the Community nine do its stuff against old rivals in Jack Fertig's Homestead Aces. It is quite possible that Manager Ed Walsh will pin his pitching faith on Tommy Conley. Conley is a prime favorite with tri-boro fans.

In the City loop two games are scheduled. Johnny Dunsky and his North Side Bucks will drive over to Bloomfield to meet the J. L. Thomas nine. Dunsky has the team on edge, and a good brand of baseball is being served.

It is quite possible that Woods, Dunsky's new pitcher from Baltimore, will twirl this game with Lefty Hall working for the Bloomfielders. At Olympia Park, the North Side Civics will tie up with Book Shoe.

TEAM WELL BALANCED

A well balanced team is working with Jiggers Welsh, and without the Rooneys, Art and Jim, the North Siders seem to be headed for the cellar.

The McKeesport League will begin operations today. The Sprouls go to the Booth Chevrolets, formerly known as the Sterlings, and the Griffin Oils are the attraction at Buck Bestwick's East McKeesport grounds.

The fans watching the Homewood-Homestead Grays game Saturday saw the best fray the Grays have taken part in this season. Stewart and Bimmy Steele gave the Posey aggregation plenty to worry over for six innings.

Manager Hank Daly was elated with the showing of the East Enders. It was a workout that the City Leaguers needed.

CIVICS TRIUMPH

The North Side Civics won a free-hitting game yesterday from the Coraopolis Independents, 12 to 8. The victors accounted for 15 safe hits, Black getting four and Baker five.

Grandview took the measure of Swissvale, 9 to 5. The Rinkey Dinks defeated the Sonora club, 7 to 4, and the St. Clair Frogs continued their winning streak at the expense of the North Pole nine, 7 to 6. Tyson Aces defeated the Beck's Run aggregation, 6 to 2, and Turtle Creek won over Crafton, 4 to 3. De Pasquale downed the Oliver Cubs, 4 to 2, and the Gelberts blanked the Hein club, 1 to 0, in 11 innings. The D. J. Brodericks defeated J. H. Becks, 11 to 10, in 13 innings.

RIIS INSPECTS NORTH PARK

Director of County Parks Paul B. Riis went on a special tour of inspection of the North Park County golf layout today in connection with the contemplated investigation by the County Commissioners of charges of inefficiency and tardiness in the construction of the layout.

The first nine holes of the county park were to have been ready for play June 15, and the last nine holes in August. It is doubtful if this schedule can be carried out.

The entire last nineh oles appear to be in early stages of construction particularly the greens, and on several holes the work of grading is in progress.

Rankin High Teams To Be Banqueted

Rankin will hold a banquet for its high school basketball and boxing teams in the Rankin Christian Center Tuesday evening of next week at 6:30 o'clock. Milton Jacobowitz, chairman of the general committee, presided at a meeting at which 100 leading citizens made arrangements. The banquet committee is headed by William J. McBride. William F. Hughes is chairman of the ticket committee, and D. J. Sullivan, chairman of the program and publicity committee.

BRIARCLIFF MANOR, N. Y., May 11.—(AP.)—Melvin Partridge of New Rochelle, N. Y., won the men's singles of the Westchester tennis championships yesterday, defeating Edward Tarangioli, former New York University star, 7-9, 6-0, 6-1, 6-2.

'GATORS CHANGE SPORT POLICY

MEADVILLE, Pa., May 11.—(AP.)—A rigid athletic policy designed to bring athletics down from a school "publicity" program to an extra-curriculum activity that will "develop the participants physically and teach true sportsmanship" has been announced by Allegheny College.

Schools not following out the spirit of the policy will be excluded from Allegheny's schedules. The new plan will go into effect in the fall of 1932.

The program does not include the curtailment of athletics but to the contrary advocates the branching out of the school in minor sports and intramural games.

No athlete will receive financial aid, loans, employment or scholarships in excess of those given for his scholastic excellence or other legitimate reasons.

The authorities of the school said they recognized the difficulty of arranging schedules with the school's new policy, but we "are prepared to face the necessity of curtailment or even the abandoning of intercollegiate competition in any sport in which it is impracticable to arrange such competition.

DETROIT, May 11.—Both leagues are now settling down and they certainly got some solid concrete foundations in the Browns and Cincinnati Reds. Those Red Sox aren't so roquefort as they look in the standing. They got a nice pitching staff but a chain of frankforts is only as strong as its weakest link and the rest of the club is a lot of boloney. Say, this guy Hornsby is having a great year. He is not only managing the Cubs, but he is even giving Hack Wilson lessons in slamming home runs. And Hornsby has quit the horses so completely he thinks a bookmaker is a guy that makes the Sears-Roebuck catalogs.

The St. Elizabeth team of the Steel City League wants to book Saturday games with first-class clubs in the district. Call Fisk 3112-W.

JOHNNIES KEEP SLATE CLEAN

The potent war clubs of the Johnstown Johnnies in the Middle-Atlantic League have battered down the opposition in fine style so far this season and have enthroned the Johnnies as undisputed leaders, a game and a half ahead of the trio tied for second place.

The Johnnies captured their fourth victory out of as many starts yesterday by nosing out Jeannette 11-10 in a slugfest. Johnstown punched out 16 safe hits. The pitching wasn't all it might have been, four toiling on the slab for the victors and three for the last place Jays.

Pitcher Cousins, of Fairmont, entered the shut-out class by blanking Clarksburg, 7 to 0. He permitted but four safe hits. Messerly and Bryant were slammed for nine blows.

Charleston's Generals were outhit, 8 to 6, by Huntington, but bunched their half dozen blows to win 7 to 1. Stark was invincible in the pinches.

Beckley and Scottdale continued their duel, with Beckley squaring the series with a 9 to 7 victory. Three infield errors were costly to the Scotties.

Hagerstown treated Densmore, Cumberland hurler, badly as he essayed to pitch and win his second game, slamming out a 9-to-5 victory. Five errors were committed by the rival team.

Charleroi was one run and three hits better than Wheeling, the Guys nosing out the Stogies 10 to 9. There were six errors in this game, each team making three.

PIMLICO MUTUELS

PIMLICO, Md., May 11.—(Special)—The mutuels on the seven races at the Pimlico race track Saturday paid a total of $312.40.

U. S. GIRL WINS SPEED CUP

GARDONE, Riviera, Italy, May 11.—(AP.)—Loretta Turnbull, 18-year-old youngster from Monrovia, Cal., captured the Fascist party's "PNF" cup in the international speedboat meet organized by the poet, Gabrielle D'Annunzio.

The California girl came from behind after apparently being out of the race and in dashing style pushed her outboard motorboat, Sunkissed Kid V, from a trailing position into second place. In another circuit she would have passed the finish line first. As it turned out, her average time yesterday and Saturday, when she won the first heat of the "PNF" competition, gave her the trophy.

CANADA NAMES CUP SQUAD

TORONTO, Ont., May 11.—(AP.)—The Canadian Lawn Tennis Association has selected Marcel Rainville and Dr. Jack Wright, of Montreal; Gilbert Nunns, of Toronto, and Walter Martin, of Regina, to represent Canada in the Davis Cup series with the United States to be played at Montreal starting May 21.

The selections were announced by Garnett H. Meldrum, president of the association, after three days of trial matches in which Dr. Arthur Ham, of Toronto, and Charlie Leslie, of Montreal, also participated. Alan C. Dunlop, of Montreal, will be the non-playing captain of the team.

In Davis Cup eliminations yesterday, Great Britain clinched its second round competition with Belgium in Brussels, Egypt advanced to the third round by defeating Finland at Helsingfors and Japan moved into the third round by defeating Jugoslavia at Belgrade.

OAK HILL SIGNS NEALE

OAK HILL, W. Va., May 11.—(AP.)—Widdy Neale, former West Virginia University Athlete, will be athletic director at Oak Hill High School for 1931. Neale, a brother of Earle Neale, head coach at West Virginia University, has been coach at Williamstown High School for several years.

At home anywhere. The unvarying better taste of Chesterfield has won millions of smokers and continues to win millions more. And here's why . . . Only the choicest cigarette tobaccos are used in Chesterfield, carefully selected for their mildness, for satisfying smoothness, for fine aroma and flavor. Blending and cross-blending gives to them an added smoothness, and brings out their best smoking qualities. More and more smokers are proving this for themselves every day.

For NINETEEN years, our Research Department has kept intimate touch with every new development of Science that could be applied to the manufacture of cigarettes. During this period there has been no development of tested value or importance to the smoker which we have not incorporated into the making of Chesterfield cigarettes.

W. P. I. A. L. FAVORED TO KEEP TITLE

By JESS CARVER

Judging from the results of the three major interscholastic track and field meets which have been held to date, the Geneva, Pitt and Penn State carnivals, the W. P. I. A. L. (Section VII of the P. I. A. A.) is going to successfully defend its championship in the annual state meet a couple weeks from now.

Paced by Ellwood City, the W. P. I. A. L. entrants won the P. I. A. A. gonfalon last year at Altoona with a margin of 15 points. This year, the athletes from this section appear to be a formidable, as ever, if not more so. Leastways, they turned in by far the best efforts of the Pitt and Penn State meets Saturday and added to that, three of the marks made the week previous at Geneva stand as the best of the year.

NINE PITT MARKS BEST

Nine of the marks registered at the Stadium Saturday stand out as being the best of the season, and in three events, the 100-yard dasn and the high and low hurdles, the boys equaled marks made at Geneva and State. Geneva claims best efforts in the 440, javelin and discus, while Penn State can point only to the 220-yard low hurdle time, which it must share with Pitt.

This week, the W. P. I. A. L. team will be decided after the annual league championships. First, second and third place winners will be eligible for competition in the P. I. A. A. event.

Following are the oustanding performers of the season to date, their records and the meets in which they were made:

ELLWOOD POWERFUL

Ellwood City's crack squad, which was strong enough to be split up, with one part entered at Pitt and the other in the Beaver County meet, looms as the most powerful and best balanced in the section. It is almost a sure pipe to win the W. P. I. A. L. title, even in the face of the stern opposition it will receive from New Castle.

Ellwood successfully defended the Beaver County crown, winning handily for the second year in a row, and had Mike Dunn not taken a header in the low hurdles at the Stadium and qualified for the finals, the three-man team would have won the Pitt meet. As it was Paul MacMurdo grabbed off the half-mile and Dunn the high hurdles. What a feather it would have been in Ellwood's cap to have scored the double triumph! And what a precedent!

Finish of Preakness—Mate Scoring Upset Win

EQUIPOISE LADDER TWENTY GRAND MATE

Here's how they thundered past the finish line in the classic $50,000 Preakness Stakes at Pimlico Saturday, forerunner of the Kentucky Derby this week-end. Mate turned in a sensational upset of the dope to beat out Twenty Grand and Equipoise, heavily-played favorites. Jockey Georgie Ellis rode the winner. Forty thousand persons witnessed the event.

23 Crews Enter Poughkeepsie Regatta

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP.)—Twenty-three crews, the same number as in 1930, have been entered in the Poughkeepsie regatta which will be rowed June 16.

Columbia, Cornell, Navy, Pennsylvania, Syracuse and Massachusetts Tech each has entered crews in all three races, varsity, junior varsity and freshman. Washington and California will be represented only by varsity and freshmen crews and Wisconsin in the varsity alone.

The Tipoff

Whether he won the century dash at Pitt Saturday or not, O'Dile Pryor demonstrated that he is the "money" among the dash men of the year. The finish of the Pitt 100 was so close that a dispute arose as to the victor. Many of those present thought Hines, of Warren, had crossed the line first, but photographs of the race showed very clearly that Pryor bent the tape first. Hines, however, should have been second, with Eddie Dooms, of Uniontown, who beat Pryor at Geneva, third.

Nate Lippe, coach at Aliquippa, came up with the best one that has penetrated these flapping ears for y'ard and y'ars. Nate swears it's true. Whether you go for it or not, it's a good yarn. Here it is:

A substitute halfback at Geneva College, some seasons ago, was inserted into an important game and ran wild, scoring a couple touchdowns and generally conducting himself in a highly commendable manner. A local newspaper came out the following day with this streamer:

"Erstwhile Cub Stars In Geneva Triumph."

One of the scrubbiest of scrub members of the squad, a bird who was so dumb they didn't even use him in the scrimmages, came up to Nate and wanted to know "who this guy Erstwhile was?"

And, as Nate says, they beat carpets.

Bill Croasmun, of the P. R. R., who scored the Pitt meet Saturday, gave another excellent performance. Three minutes after the final event was over, Croasmun has a complete point score and a complete individual scoring record available for the announced, Mr. "Oink Oink" Seigel. The only trouble was that "Oink Oink" had disappeared.

BUCS TO FACE VANCE TODAY

right field that scored one run, put another on third and landed the ponderous Lombardi in the scoring zone.

You can imagine the wild scene in the park as Frank O'Doul came up to do or die for dear old Rutgers and dear old Robbie. A single here meant a drawn ball game.

There was a breathless hush on the multitude as French and Phillips went to work on the de luxe hitter. Larry had two strikes on O'Doul when the batter looked at one which Larry thought was a strike, but which was designated as a ball by Bill Klem. Frank fouled off the next pitch and the silence was terrific.

LEFTY O'DOUL FANS

Carefully Larry unwound with a high fast ball that had plenty on it. O'Doul swung, and the game was over as the ball nestled in Phillips glove. The score was 3 to 1.

It really is propitious to take time to pay a tribute to Capt. Pie Traynor for his timely hit of the eighth. Phillips scored a run in the fifth on his walk with one out, a single by Tommy Thevenow, a sacrifice by French and L. Waner's fine single.

In the face of the invincible pitching of French and Phelps, the tally stood out like a mountain, but the Pirates played out every string to enhance their advantage and they can thank Traynor for what he did to bring this about.

Brother Lloyd beat out a tap in the eighth with one out and Paul was hit with a pitched ball. Grantham flied out but Traynor doubled to left, scoring the smaller Waner and when O'Doul fumbled the ball the older brother streaked over.

Cards Score Win In Exhibition, 13-0

CAMDEN, N. J., May 11.—(AP.)—The St. Louis Cardinals defeated Lew Schaub's ball team, 13 to 0, in an exhibition game here yesterday. Manager Gabby Street, old-time catcher, donned the mask for one inning and showed how he used to perform when he was Walter Johnson's battery mate. The score by innings:

FIGHT CARD FILLED

The card was completed today for the McKeesport show Thursday night with the signing of Jimmy Reilly and Johnny Montebano for the second bout and Carl Cesko and Tony Bazzone for the opener. Buddy McArthur and Bruno Sala box the semi-final.

Motorboat Sets New Orleans to St. Louis Mark

ST. LOUIS, May 11.—(AP.)—The little inboard cruiser Greyhound broke the speed record from New Orleans to St. Louis by 13 hours and 31 minutes when it nosed into St. Louis yesterday through rain and wet weather at 3 p. m.

The Greyhound made the run from New Orleans to St. Louis in 74 hours to the minute, breaking the record set in 1929 by Dr. Louis Leroy, of Memphis, who sent his boat Bogie over the run in 87 hours and 31 minutes.

week. Tony Herrera was to box Eddie Anderson, but came out of his fight with Berg with a bad nose and an injured right hand and has asked for at least a week's postponement.

FINALE AT GARDEN

Only two more indoor shows remain in this sector before the outdoor campaign gets under way. One is an all-star bill of six bouts of six rounds each in Motor Square Garden tonight and the other a card headed by Tiger Joe Randall and Jimmy Belmont, local welterweight rivals, at McKeesport, on Thursday night.

Dominick Petrone, former New York Madison Square Garden star, now making his home here, engages in his second local appearance in the windup of the Garden show, against Babe Ruth, of Louisville, another featherweight veteran. In his first showing at the Garden, some weeks ago, Petrone, then not in the best of condition, easily defeated tough Steve Nugent, of Cleveland, in eight rounds, fighting in flashes and exhibiting one of the fastest and most versatile left hands seen here in a long time.

In the other six-rounders tonight, Indian Tiger West meets Jack Tracey, North Side Negro middleweight; Jimmy Thomas, local Negro bantamweight, tangles with Georgie Sotak, of Warren, O., in a return battle; Billy Holt, Negro welterweight, of Homewood, boxes Jimmy Moinette, of Alliance, O.; Jackie Wilson, Negro bantamweight, of the East End, clashes with Babe Peleco, of Newark, N. J., who has boxed Eddie Shea and other notables, and Lloyd Clements, Swissvale middleweight, meets Chuck Semack, of Glassport.

GIZZY AT JOHNSTOWN

Battling Gizzy, Donora lightweight buzzsaw, boxes Young Chiodo in a windup at Johnstown tonight, with U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, against Jimmy Reilly, of McKeesport, in the semi-final and Young Bordell, of New Kensington, also on the bill. Jimmy Kelly, former North Side belting welterweight, battles Jackie Moore in a 10-rounder at Dayton, O., Johnny Rodgers and Jimmy Williams top a card at Morgantown, W. Va., and local boxers will compete in an amateur show in the Greensburg Coliseum.

Between Rounds

The first professional boxing show held in Uniontown in a couple of years, featuring Joey Spiegel, of that city, and Howard Mitchell, of Cincinnati, last Friday night, drew more than $800, a fine showing in these times.

Hickey Park hopes to present Jim Londos, the recognized world heavyweight champion, in its first outdoor professional wrestling show, to be held shortly. Meanwhile the Meyers Bowl also is making arrangements to put on mat bouts, and the final wrestling show of the indoor season is slated in Motor Square Garden Wednesday night, with Jim McMillan meeting Ivan Vacturoff and Hans Steinke opposing Jim Clinstock in the two finish matches.

The Jack (Kid) Berg-Tony Herrera bout in Madison Square Garden, New York, last Friday night, drew a gross gate of $24,644.39. King Levinsky must have flashed a complete reversal of form to defeat Emmett Rocco, Ellwood City heavyweight, in their return bout in the Chicago Stadium the same night, following his sorry showing in their first meeting, at Motor Square Garden a little more than a week before. Reports of the second clash state that Rocco was in a bad way from Levinsky's rights to the jaw in both the second and eighth rounds.

TURNESA LEADS YANKS ABROAD

SOUTHPORT, England, May 11.—(AP.)—With most of the field in, the four Americans entered in the 1,500 guineas professional golf tournament today appeared safely on their way to qualify among the 100 who will battle through the last three days of 72 holes medal play.

Joe Turnesa led the American parade in today's first 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying round with a 73, only one over par on the difficult Southport and Ainsdale course. Horton Smith and Joe Kirkwood carded 78s, and Tony Manero, the fourth American, a 79.

Harry Bald, middle-aged Lancaster professional, led the field with a record-breaking 70, closely followed by A. J. Lacey, 27-year-old Leighton pro, who is trying for one of the three remaining places on the British Ryder Cup team, with a 71. Lacey, however, played the easier Hesketh course, while Ball played over the Southport and Ainsdale links.

PITT, TARTAN TENNIS STARS MEET TODAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

The annual P. T. A. Tennis Night Smoker, billed for the P. A. A. tomorrow evening, tops an active period for district net devotees during the current week. The affair at the Winged Head clubhouse, according to Chairman J. Howard Moore, will draw one of the largest throngs in its history.

Although P. T. A. squad captains will unquestionably have their followers diligently at practice the next 10 days or more in preparation for inauguration of circuit hostilities a week from next Saturday, actual court battling is still monopolized hereabouts by the college performers. Coach B. P. Hoover's Carnegie Tech crew will hold the Steel City spotlight for the nonce by leaving behind the Skibo stronghold and venturing forth for four tussles abroad between now and Sunday.

PITT, TECH CLASH

This afternoon the Plaid warriors cross the hollow for their first clash of the season with the powerful Panthers of Pitt. Then on Wednesday night they will hop the train for Lewisburg and a Thursday fray with the host of Bucknell University. Temple at Philadelphia ensues for Friday, with the crack Georgetown combine furnishing the fun at Washington on Saturday.

Features of the smoker card will include presentation of the new "Davis Keg," symbolic of the P. T. A. Inter-Club League championship to the Edgewood outfit and formal release of the Section I schedule of competition in the inter-club loop.

Pitt and the Dukes meet at the Stadium in a return encounter Friday afternoon. This joust is the Bluffites' lone fracas of the week. The Panther card calls for a Saturday melee here with Allegheny College, but it is understood that the Meadville institution, due to dearth of courts, has canceled its entire tennis schedule, which would seem to imply that the Herron Hill luminaries will loaf instead of extending hospitality to the up-staters.

TO AWARD 'KEG'

Prior to award of the "Keg" to Edgewood, J. Phillips Davis, president of the local racquet body and donor of the handsomely decorated casque, will officially bestow the trophy upon the tennis association as perpetual bone of contention among upper division teams.

The second monthly shoot of the Western Pennsylvania Trapshooters League will be held over the grounds of the South Hills Sportsmen's Association, Thursday afternoon. The first event, at 100 targets from a 16-yard rise, will get under way at 12:30 and will be followed by a 50-yard handicap shoot.

DETROIT LOSES LONG BATTLE TO NATS

Associated Press.

Apparently holding the Indian sign firmly within their grasp, the Boston Red Sox are making the going even tougher than expected for the western half of the American League in the current eastern invasion.

The Red Sox, who were expected to provide easy pickings for the westerners to even things up between the two divisions, have started their trip by winning three straight games from Cleveland and knocking the Indians down into third place in the standing.

WIN THIRD STRAIGHT

The Red Sox won their third straight over Cleveland yesterday by a 9-to-4 count after an uphill battle.

Washington added another triumph for the East yesterday, taking a 12-inning battle from the Detroit Tigers, 7 to 4, to make it six victories for the league's eastern clubs in seven intersectional games.

Safely settled in first place, the New York Yankees were rained out in Chicago, and a proposed doubleheader at St. Louis between the Browns and the Philadelphia Athletics gave way to the weather after four innings of the first with the A's leading, 8-4.

FITZSIMMONS STARS

The tale of the National League's games was bound up in big Fred Fitzsimmons, of the New York Giants, and Larry French, of Pittsburgh — and Fitzsimmons was most of it. The Giant hurler was not content with pitching a four-hit shutout against the Chicago Cubs, refusing even to give a walk; but when his rival, Pat Malone, made the mistake of passing Frank Hogan to fill the bases and get at a pitcher, Fitz replied by slamming the first pitch into the stands for a home run that netted four of the runs in a 5-0 victory.

French, the twenty-third lefthander to face Brooklyn this season, served out another dose of the unpleasant medicine the Robins have been taking regularly from southpaws. He gave eight hits, but kept them well scattered until the ninth inning. The Pirates made good use of their seven blows off Babe Phelps to gain a 3-1 victory.

Rain halted a doubleheader at Boston between the Braves and the Cincinnati Reds, while St. Louis and the Phillies had an open date.

UTILITY BILLS ATACKED BY PHILLIPS

Pittsburgher, at Hearing, Denounces Pinchot Plan As Fatal to Industry

Following is a summary of the statement of Frank R. Phillips, president of Philadelphia Company, Pittsburgh, which he presented today in Harrisburg at the hearing of the opponents of House Bills Nos. 1630, 1631 and 1632 before the Senate Judiciary General Committee. These bills would abolish the present Public Service Commission, virtually create a new public service law, and create a so-called Fair Rate Board.

"We are convinced that these bills are unfair, unworkable and impracticable.

"They would impose enormous increases in taxes for their administration. They would be disastrous in their consequences to properties representing over five billions of investment and serving every citizen of the state.

"They would result in stopping utility construction programs involving the expenditure of millions of dollars and the employment of many thousands of employes. This would be particularly serious in the present depression, when he utilities are carrying on more extensive programs of construction and expansion than any other line of business activity.

"AGENCY OF GOVERNOR"

"We are convinced that these bills in effect mean

"1. The fair rate board would be merely an agency of the Governor, reflecting political issues and not sound business or judicial judgements.

"These bills attempt to take a legislative function so determined by our Supreme Court, and transfer it to the control of the executive.

"2. All existing utility rates would be suspended and no rate could become effective until approved by the board. This power is given to the board without any requirement that it will act within a reasonable time. This places the entire control and management of all the utilities in the state in the hands of an executive agency completely under the domination of the Governor.

"3. Utility companies in preparing their new rates would be required to fix classifications and rates to 'approximate reasonably the respective differences between the actual costs to the public service company for the respective services rendered,' thereby uprooting and revolutionizing practically every rate structure and every principle of rate structures now reflected in existing utility rates.

"To illustrate, it would mean that hereafter the street car fare for a five-mile ride would be five times as much as the far for a one-mile ride. Telephone users would pay on a basis reflecting the distance of each call. Freight rates now based on the theory of a uniform charge to certain districts or areas would be revised to a distance basis only.

"These changes would disastrously affect the entire business and economic structure of the state.

WOULD BAR PROMOTION

"It would eliminate from future rate structures the principle of promotional rates, which have been found useful and necessary in developing the use of electricity for cooking and of gas for heating purposes.

"It would prevent utilities from fixing rates at prices which would attract new industries to Pennsylvania, and hold old ones, in competition with the rates in other states not restricted by these limitations.

"It would accomplish neither the effective regulation of rates nor improvement in service. It would have precisely the opposite effect, and would attempt to substitute a misconceived academic formula for the business principles on which the utilities have developed.

"4. The bills compel utilities to make the choice (a) to enter into contracts to surrender their constitutional rights and accept the so-called 'prudent investment' basis of value, or (b) be refused all further certificates of convenience necessary for their normal growth and expansion.

This could only result in stopping their future growth, because a utility would hesitate to accept the 'prudent investment' basis of value until it could know its value on that basis.

"The determination of value based on 'prudent investment' means a separate investigation and finding for every public utility in the state of Pennsylvania. This means endless litigation, endless delay, and millions of dollars of expense which must ultimately be paid by the rate payers. During this period of investigation and re-valuation, utility activity and progress would be stifled and the industry would soon reach a stage of complete stagnation. Chaos would follow.

SECURITIES AFFECTED

"5. The provisions of the bills dealing with the control by the board of the issuance of securities provides that no security may be 'issued in violation of any provision or restriction of this law and all issues for other than service or property at the actual legitimate value thereof or cash, shall be void.' The use of the word 'void' coupled with these provisions would operate as a red flag to any banker or investor.

"6. Another vicious feature of the bill is the provision which diverts a part of the earnings of utilities to the state government for general taxation purposes.

"In 1920 the federal government attempted a plan by which the earnings of the successful steam railroads should be diverted to the aid of the less profitable lines. The whole scheme has utterly failed. The Interstate Commerce Commission recommended the repeal of this provision. Why should we attempt a plan found to be unworkable and so expensive as to be of no value after 11 years of trial?

"7. These bills are unquestionably the beginning of a program not only of governmental and political management and control of utilities, but of ultimate government ownership. This is clearly revealed in the provisions of the bill conferring upon municipalities the unrestricted right to acquire utility properties either as a whole or piecemeal."

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables was good today at the wholesale produce markets in Pittsburgh. There were no changes in quotations.

The poultry markets remained steady, demand good, supply nominal, with no changes in quotations.

The butter, egg and cheese markets rested firm, demand fair, supply adequate, with slight changes in egg quotations.

Car-lot supplies were nominal, with 344 cars on track. Arrivals included 10 cars of apples, 1 asparagus, 7 bananas, 8 cabbage, 2 carrots, cauliflowers, 1 cherries, 2 cantaloupes, 6 celery, 1 cucumbers, 9 grapefruits, 2 lemons, 12 lettuce, 9 onions, 18 oranges, 2 peas, 20 potatoes, 6 strawberries, 5 spinach, 2 sweet potatoes, 4 tomatoes and 2 mixed vegetables.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, May 11.—Influenced by rains over drought districts in spring wheat territory, grains averaged lower early today. Liverpool wheat quotations showed unexpected relative weakness. Opening unchanged to ⅝ cents down, wheat afterward held near initial figures. Corn started unchanged to ⅜@½ off and subsequently rallied.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Masten & Co.:

VALLEY SHEET OUTPUT UP

Steel sheet production in the Mahoning Valley has reached the highest level in seven weeks with resumption of operations at the Falcon plant of Empire Steel Corporation. Eight hundred men returned to work at the Falcon plant, which has not been operated since late in March. The plant manufactures black and galvanized sheets. Fifteen of the 18 sheet units at the plant are now under power, lifting sheet units rolling at Niles to a total of 23.

Support in GMO Based On Earnings Outlook For This Quarter.

Recent powerful support in General Motors has been based chiefly on the outlook that the corporation will show a balance of better than $1 a common share out of its second quarter earnings. As only 61 cents a common share was reported for the first quarter, such an achievement will be necessary to fulfill J. J. Raskob's prophecy that the corporation's earnings for the first half of 1931 would be 20 per cent ahead of dividend requirements.

Wall street has learned that it may take Mr. Raskob's predictions regarding General Motors' earnings at their face value. Consequently, confident buying has been coming into the stock in the belief that General Motors is a logical leader of any recovery in the general market. Its prospective showing for the June quarter will register the second consecutive gain over the preceding three months.

Most of the selling in U. S. Steel common in the past four days has been for the account of bear traders who realize the popularity of this issue with outsiders and apparently were working to bring about public liquidation. Some of the nearby stop orders were uncovered in the issue at times, and this supply helped the stock to enter new low ground recently.

American Home Products is one of the comparatively inactive stocks which has been receiving attention form students of values. Dividends of 35 cents a share are paid monthly, and a yield of 7 per cent or more is obtainable around current levels. The company reports only semi-annually, but it has been said in reliable quarters that earnings this year have been satisfactory, considering conditions. For 1930, the balance for the stock was $5.50 a share, against $5.47 in 1929 and $4.87 in 1928.

Those interested in preferred stocks giving a high yield with a fair margin of safety are studying Brooklyn and Queens Transit preferred, now on a $5 a share basis, which will be increased to $6 this fall. There are 283,250 shares outstanding, and the net income for the 12 months to March 31 was sufficient to more than cover a full year's dividend needs on the $6 basis. Brooklyn Manhattan Transit owns more than 50 per cent of this issue and at current levels, the $6 basis, which will be declared in October, will give a yield of about 11 per cent.

Gillette Safety Razor continues to grow in favor, according to various comments made around the Street. Quiet accumulation has been in progress during all minor setbacks. There have been reports recently that interests who had been holding the preferred stock have been switching part of their funds into the common shares because of their confidence in the outlook.

Frisco Expected To Offer Bonds

NEW YORK, May 11.—Provision for meeting the maturity of $9,342,000 on July 1, next, is understood to have been made by the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway. It is considered likely the company will issue about $10,000,000 consolidated mortgage bonds to take care of the general 5s and 6s coming due.

GAINS REPLACE EARLY STOCK DECLINES

Losses of 1 to 4 Points In Main Erased Later; Steel Shares Show Gain

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP.)—Bears were repulsed and the stock market reflected a slightly more cheerful sentiment as the new week in Wall street got under way today.

Bearish efforts, so successful in selected issues on Saturday, were renewed during this morning, but they failed to provoke important selling, and a substantial upturn occurred during the middle of the day. The advance in the bond market slackened, and the Argentine issues were a soft spot, but a firm undertone was maintained.

There were numerous losses of 1 to 4 points in the early trading in stocks, but these were in the main subsequently replaced with gains of 1 to 2. United States Steel showed an advance.

Although steel production has fallen well below 50 per cent of capacity, reports at the start of the week indicate that the downward tendency is meeting increasing resistance. Aggregate output in the Youngstown area this week is estimated as unchanged, with steel sheet output the best in several weeks. Automobile production holds up well.

The Federal Reserve board's report of department store sales for April shows a gain of 9 per cent over March.

Fox Film, a bear target last autumn, was evidently sold in advance of the postponed annual meeting, which has now been set for Friday. Directors of Paramount were to meet after the close of the market to act on the dividend, and a substantial reduction was widely expected. The decline in the stock, however, had already foreshadowed it.

Cotton textile statistics, showing that April sales of standard cotton cloths were only 61 per cent of production, were at first glance unfavorable, but it appeared that much of the production was to fill orders already on the books at the start of the month.

Call money finally renewed at 1 per cent for the first time since 1908, but the lowered rediscount rate and abundance of outside funds available at that level had clearly foreshadowed it. Time loans were also reduced. The deflation in brokers' loans has already been so drastic that bankers do not expect the low rates will cause extensive withdrawals.

U. S. Farm Exports To Exceed Imports

WASHINGTON, May 11.—American agricultural exports this year may exceed imports for the first time since 1926. The value of both, however, probably will touch one of the lowest levels in recent years.

Figures compiled by the Agricultural Department for nine months from July to March show exports of principal commodities totaling $879,858,000, as against $868,605,000 imports. For the corresponding period last year imports were $1,449,239,000 and exports of $1,312,279,000. Since 1926 the excess of imports has averaged $300,000,000, with the totals of both near $2,000,000,000.

Municipal Financing To Take Increase

NEW YORK, May 11.—New municipal financing scheduled for award this week totals $62,732,922, compared with actual offerings last week of $30,526,000, the Bond Buyer reports. The largest issue is $52,000,000 New York City bonds to be awarded Tuesday. Other than the New York City issue the only large financing of the week will be an issue of $1,000,000 Knox County, Tenn., bonds to be placed Monday.

Cotton Cloth Sales 61% of April Yield

NEW YORK, May 11.—The Association of Cotton Textile Merchants reports sale of standard cotton cloths in April were 61 per cent of the month's production. The figures cover a period of four weeks. Production in April amounted to 225,955,000 yards. Shipments in April were 96.3 per cent of production.

Stocks on hand at the end of April increased 3 per cent over those at the beginning of the month, while unfilled orders decreased 21.5 per cent.

Offers Made for Consolidated Dairy

NEW YORK, May 11.—Consolidated Dairy Products Company has received an offer from National Dairy Products Corporation to purchase the assets of the company at a value equivalent to $9.93 a share, which will be considered at the meeting of stockholders May 13 along with an offer from Beatrice Creamery Company equivalent to $8.45 a share.

U. S. Glass Awarded Steamer Orders

United States Glass Company has received a contract for furnishing the complete glass service for the three steamers now being constructed by Matson Navigation Company of San Francisco. The orders amount to almost $40,000.

L[illegible] Renewal Rate Since 1908

NEW YORK, May 11.—Today is the first time that call money has renewed at 1 per cent since September 9, 1908.

NARROW RANGE IN LOCAL MARKET

Fractional Moves Noted In Leading Securities; Hachmeister-Lind Higher

Trading quieted down on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange as the new week opened and only small lots of stock were handled in the early dealings. The price movement was narrow. Following small initial declines in the recent leaders, the list firmed up and fractional recoveries firmed up and fractional recoveries were noted in several stocks. Hachmeister-Lind displayed marked strength and added substantially to last week's gain.

In the bank department a block of 15 shares Diamond National changed hands at 400, off 50 points from the last previous sale, recorded two months ago.

Oil Firms Involved In Proration Suit

AUSTIN, May 11.—At the request of the Railroad Commission, the attorney general's department has prepared six suits which will be filed shortly against oil producers, three in panhandle and three in east Texas district, for alleged violations of the commission's proration orders. No major company is involved.

Cleveland Attacks Livestock Rates

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Cleveland Chamber of Commerce has filed a complaint with the Interstate Commerce Commission against 21 railroads' alleging that rates published by them for the transportation of livestock from western trunk line to central territory is prejudicial to Cleveland meat packers particularly and Cleveland business generally.

Radio-Columbia Merger Opposed

NEW YORK, May 11.—Executive Secretary Schuette, of the Radio Protective Association, has urged Attorney General Mitchell to investigate the proposed merger of RCA-Victor Company and Columbia Graphophone Company. He seeks to obtain a temporary injunction to prevent the merger.

CATTLE EXPERIMENT

Prize bulls and calves of a New England blue ribbon herd of Holstein cattle are being subjected to ultra violet rays. The installation has been made to learn whether rays from sun lamps are beneficial to cattle confined during winter months. In the installation, which is purely experimental, the lamps are hung over the individual calf pens in such a way as to diffuse the light thoroughly into every corner. Daily exposures of from 15 to 20 minutes are being employed.

MIDLAND UNITED

Midland United Company has changed rates under which convertible stock, Series "A," conversion may be made, as follows: Preferred stock is convertible to December, 1933, at the rate of two shares of common for each preferred, to December, 1934, at the rate of 1¾ shares of common for each share of preferred; to December 31, 1935, 1½ shares of common for each share of preferred, and to December 31, 1936, one share preferred for one share of common.

GRAMOPHONE MERGER

Ninety per cent of the outstanding stock of Columbia Graphophone Company, Ltd., and the Gramophone Company, Ltd., must be deposited to consummate merger of these companies, plans for which were announced March 19, according to notices issued to shareholders from London. The deposits must be made before June 29, it was stated.

INLAND UTILITIES

A plan of reorganization of Inland Utilities, Inc., has been adopted by the committee representing holders of the five-year, 6 per cent convertible gold debentures of the company and is contingent upon deposit of at least 90 per cent of the outstanding debentures by June 1. The plan involves the funding of the present capital indebtedness and the providing of adequate working capital.

REHABILITATING OIL LINE

Rehabilitation work on the Wyoming line of Stanolind Pipe Line Company, subsidiary of Standard Oil Company of Indiana, which formerly was used for oil, is under way to Cozad, Neb., where 110,000 barrels of crude oil are being pumped out. The line will be used for natural gas.

GAS LINE COMPLETED

Peoples Light and Power Corporation announced that the new natural gas transmission line of its subsidiary, Texas Public Service Company, from the Big Lake gas field, Texas, east to San Angelo and west to Girvin, has been completed and is now ready to deliver gas. The line is 120 miles long.

CONSTRUCTION BUDGET

The construction budget of Consolidated Gas Company and affiliated companies for 1931 amounts to $80,837,405, of which $78,512,645 will be spent during the year. The difference results from the fact that some new construction will be started, but not completed this year.

OIL LEASES BOUGHT

Humble Oil and Refining Company has purchased two producing wells and the lease on 43 acres in the Kilgore pool, Rusk County, East Texas, from Federated Oil Company for $225,000. Of the purchase price, $175,000 was paid in cash and $50,000 is to be paid out of one-fourth of the first oil produced.

SUPERPHOSPHATE STOCKS

The National Fertilizer Association reports stocks of superphosphate on hand March 31 were 21.3 per cent larger than on the same date of last year. In the Northern area the stocks showed an increase of 29.9 per cent, while in the Southern area a gain of 14.6 per cent is shown.

ELECTED VICE PRESIDENT

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Raw sugar was quiet and unchanged early today. Buyers were believed to be willing to pay last prices of 3.14c. for spots, duty paid, but as there was nothing available below 3.18c or 3.20c no sales were reported.

Refined was unchanged at 4.40c for fine granulated with demand light and buyers awaiting some announcement by refiners before placing new commitments.

LONDON, May 11.—Bar silver, 13 1-16d per ounce. Money, 2¼ per cent. Discount rates—Short bills and three months, 2 5-16 per cent.

RESERVE RATE CUT SEEN AS TRADE SPUR

Hope for Flow of 'Loafing' Dollars Into Securities Market; Business Static

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, May 11.—With general business remaining at a dead level near the bottom for five months, the federal reserve authorities last week sought to break the deadlock by injecting a new factor into the situation.

Half of the regional reserve banks in the system undertook to revive confidence through reducing their rediscount rates. The New York bank in cutting the rate which member banks pay for credit accommodations to the unprecedentedly low figure of 1½ per cent made financial history. The banks, in the concerted drive, emphasized not only the extent of the business depression, but also the degree to which dollars are loafing.

Mr. Rukeyser

With the earning power of money in demand deposit accounts and in high grade commercial paper approaching the vanishing point it is hoped that in time funds will gradually flow into the securities market—cautiously at first and then in a slightly more venturesome spirit as confidence revives. Outside of the securities market, it is difficult nowadays for funds to find gainful employment. Capital and labor alike are feeling the pinch of depression.

Meantime, in spite of the revival of pessimism which accompanied the downward swing in stock prices since the winter, a recession which by the way, was checked last week, business in the aggregate has been free from such melodramatic fluctuations. As one observer remarked, business has been in a coma. The wide vacillations in stock prices have reflected the rise and fall of hopes concerning near term recovery. The sharp rallies based on such high expectations early in 1930, in the late summer and early fall of 1930, and in the early weeks of 1931 have been predicated on premature signs of economic recuperation.

But, in the present situation, it is important to keep the records straight. Since December, business has held the line. What seems to be a minimum of activity has been reached, and trade for five months has in the aggregate receded no further. Comparisons with a year ago have saddened the public, yet the fact remains that since December business has at least held its own. During the early winter, speculators overemphasized the meaning of normal seasonal gains, and in the spring there has been an inclination to overstress the significance of seasonal letdowns in steel production and in other directions. The moderate decline in unfilled tonnage of the Steel Corporation is in accord with the usual seasonal trend.

Testimony Taken in Gillette Razor Suit

NEW YORK, May 11.—Depositions and testimony of New York witnesses in the $21,000,000 suit brought by minority stockholders against the Gillette Safety Razor Company were presented today before George F. Lewis, appointed master in the case by Judge James B. Carroll, of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts.

The minority stockholders claim they suffered financial losses through the activities of the directors, especially in the recent merger of the Gillette Company and the Autostrop Razor Company. The case will come to trial in Boston.

Bituminous Coal Production Gains

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Production of bituminous coal during the week ended May 2 is estimated at 6,447,000 net tons, the bureau of mines states. This shows a gain of 133,000 tons over the preceding week and compares with 8,335,000 tons produced in the like 1930 week.

Commercial stocks of bituminous coal totaled 29,500,000 tons in April, a decrease of 7,700,000 tons from stocks at the end of December, the commerce department reports. The April 1 stocks are the smallest on record since 1922.

Aircraft Passenger Service Up in April

NEW YORK, May 11.—Increase in passenger traffic for April compared with March over the line of the National Air Transport, United Aircraft subsidiary, amounted to more than 100 per cent in the through traffic between New York and Chicago. The increase in mail carried over the system was about 20,000 pounds, according to L. D. Seymour, general manager.

Survey Shows Water In Oklahoma Wells

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 11.—Intrusion of water into wells in the Oklahoma City fields is receiving attention as the result of a recent survey showing traces of water in some 80 producers. All lime wells are reported showing water traces except those plugged back to the gas horizon and a few Wilcox producers are cutting some water.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

Railroad Securities to Face Problems

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

ONE OF THE MAJOR types of American investments is threatened with eclipse. Bankers, insurance executives, a few far-seeing investors and the leaders in the industry in question are deeply concerned over the problem. Changing transportation conditions may seriously impair the strength of a large number of our railroad systems.

The business depression has hit the railroads just as it has hurt nearly every major industry. But this temporary condition is not the only factor which worries rail executives. The slow whittling away of rail rates and the increasing pressure of competition are giving the steam lines problems which are far more serious than a temporary business depression.

We might let the question pass with the remark, "That's tough for the railroads." But the problem does not end there. Railroad bonds constitute a large portion of the securities which are legal investments for savings banks, insurance companies and trustees. Changing conditions may affect the standing of a large share of these securities so that they may no longer meet the legal requirements necessary for investments of this type. Large blocks of rail securities may have to be sold within a few years. Unless a marked change takes place they will be dumped on an investment market which is not particularly receptive to such issues.

Effect May Be Widespread

IF THE DECLINE in railroad earnings continues long enough to produce such a condition, many phases of financial activity will be affected. The sale of large blocks of railroad bonds and the development of a demand for securities of high rating to replace them would have a widespread effect on the bond market.

Any such change in the status of railroad bonds would mean that the normal channels of credit would be closed to all but the strongest of railroad systems and that even these would have to pay a higher price for their money and they might have difficulty in refunding maturing obligations.

Economics Considered

WHILE RAILROAD OFFICIALS do not readily admit the seriousness of the present situation, the fact remains that a meeting of railroad executives was held at Chicago last week primarily to discuss these problems. The possibilities of reducing wages or of increasing freight charges were among the remedies considered.

F. J. Lisman has been one of the first students of railroad securities to publicly comment on their uncertain future. Another prominent expert on railroad affairs has privately expressed his doubt as to the future desirability of many railroad bonds. This particular economist has refrained from public comment from fear that his remarks might prove to be a further disturbing influence on an already shaky securities market.

Troubles Of Railroads

THE RAILROADS WERE asleep during the early period of development of their first serious competitor. They allowed hard roads and motor vehicles to snatch a large portion of their traffic before they realized they were not entirely indispensable to the business of transportation.

But the steam lines are very much awake to the dangers of newer forms of competition. They are planning a fight to the death with other forms of opposition. They do not intend to let reviving inland water shipping, pipe lines, air transportation and further development of trucks to take their customers without a bitter struggle. The major phases of this fight for the control of transportation will be discussed in future articles in this column.

Real Estate

The former Charles McKnight property, 1107 Beaver road, Osborn Borough, has been sold by Alice D. Ladley to Charles R. and Etta Barton, according to Miss Margaret Morgan, Sewickley broker.

The property consists of a large home of brick and stucco construction containing 14 rooms. The lot is approximately three acres. In part payment the purchasers gave title to a stone and shingle home on 60x300 feet at 332 Woodlawn road, Edgeworth.

TWO LOTS SOLD

Miss Morgan also reports that a lot 70x130 feet in Meadow lane, Edgeworth, has been conveyed by Mary D. Taggart, of Port Washington, N. Y., to C. Perry Streithos. Another lot in Meadow lane was purchased by James W. Cameron from Miss Taggart. This property is 65x130 feet.

A lot 60x145 feet in Orchard lane, Edgeworth, has been sold through Miss Morgan's office by Burgwin, Clarkson and Company to George E. McPherson.

A double frame house, 3162-64 Shadeland avenue, North Side, has been purchased by Francesca Ricelli from George Talipski, according to Carl W. Geyer, realtor.

The Freehold Real Estate Company has sold to Charles K. Piper a two-story brick home at 6346 Burchfield avenue, Fourteenth Ward. Piper has taken possession of the property.

An eight-room home of brick construction in the 2400 block of Penn avenue has been conveyed by A. L. Lowrie and the estate of J. W. Craig to F. Balistreri. The lot measures 24x100 feet. W. R. Shoup was the broker.

The Brentwood Land Company has sold for J. W. Wysor to George Lang a lot 51x190 feet, Brownsville road and Burdine avenue, and for Mrs. J. Holleran to Brim & Rosenfeld, contractors, a building lot at 13 Verson avenue, Brentwood.

Official—Pittsburgh 111

CITY OF PITTSBURGH,
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS,
BUREAU OF ENGINEERING.
May 7, 1931.

1. Separate and sealed proposals will be received at the office of the City Controller, City-County Building until 9 o'clock a. m. and will be publicly opened and read at 12 o'clock noon, eastern standard time, May 14, 1931 in Room 526 City-County Building for making the following public improvements:

REPAVING
Wilkins avenue from Dallas avenue to Beechwood boulevard.

CONSTRUCTION OF SEWERS
Noblestown road, east sidewalk, from a point about 1,300 feet north of Poplar street to the existing sewer on Poplar street, 15" T. C. pipe.

GRADING, REGRADING, PAVING, REPAVING, CURBING, RECURBING AND OTHERWISE IMPROVING
Noblestown road from the east curb line of Obey street to a point near the intersection with Baldwin road, including the construction of storm sewers for the drainage thereof.

Attention of intending bidders is directed to separate advertisement for proposals of the County of Allegheny to be opened in the near future for the improvement of portion of Noblestown road within the corporate limits of the Borough of Greentree and extending from Poplar street to a point near Baldwin road, which adjoins and parallels a portion of the foregoing improvement to be done by the city.

2. All bids must be made upon the prepared form of proposal to be obtained at the office of the contract clerk, Room 429 City-County Building, on and after May 9, 1931, upon presentation of receipt for deposit required for contract plans and specifications. Proposals containing any additions, erasures, omissions, alterations, additions not called for, or additional bid of any kind, may be rejected as informal, and no bidder will be allowed to withdraw his bid.

3. Bids must be accompanied by a bond in the amount of fifty (50%) per centum of the estimated cost of the proposed improvement duly and legally executed with a surety or trust company which has complied with the city ordinances relating thereto; said bond shall be in the form of bond furnished by the City of Pittsburgh.

4. Blueprint copies of the contract plans and specifications may be obtained at Room 440 City-County Building. Deposits in the amount of $5.00 will be required for each set of plans and specifications for each of the above improvements. Checks covering said deposits must be made payable to Treasurer, City of Pittsburgh. Receipts for deposits will be given and the money refunded upon return of the plans and specifications in good condition and without marking within 10 days of the date bids are opened.

5. The Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works reserve the right to increase or decrease the amount or class of any portion of the work which they deem necessary, to reject any or all proposals, or to accept any proposal which they deem it to the interest of the city so to do.

CHARLES H. KLINE,
Mayor.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Prince on Horseback

(All names of characters in this story are fictitious.)

Snobbish Girl Ignored By Wealthy Man

"And just then," Nurse Smith read from a gaily covered book of fairy tales, "the prince galloped up on a white charger and rescued her."

"What's a white charger?" little Olive Ryerson asked.

"A horse, dear—it means that the prince was on horseback."

Bess Matthews, whose parents employed Nurse Smith, giggled at this. Bess was two years older than Olive.

"The prince didn't gallop—the horse galloped. Baker said so!" she exclaimed.

"Miss Baker, dear," Nurse Smith chided.

Bess made no reply. She wanted to say something pert but thought better of it. Nurse Smith had a way of reporting her to her mother when she became flippant.

Miss Baker was the private tutor for Bess and inclined to be somewhat of a purist. She did not believe that fairy tales were good for children because they were not written with the style of a Carlyle or an Arnold Bennett.

"And what happened, please, Miss Smith?" Olive begged.

"Pooh! The prince married her. Princes are always rescuing young ladies and marryin' them," Bess said.

"Princes don't come galloping up and marry gardeners' little girls — mamma told me that," Bess said.

There were signs of tears in Olive's eyes.

"You are mistaken, Bessie," Nurse Smith said, hastily, putting her arm around little Olive. "It doesn't matter at all about whether the father is a king or a blacksmith, the only thing that matters is in the sort of a girl—if she is pretty and sweet and good, the prince marries her."

Opens New Business

Mr. Ryerson, after seven years of work, had made the Matthews estate look like one that had been in the family for generations instead of having been fields and woodlands 10 years before.

Now he left the Matthews estate and opened up an establishment of his own, something he had dreamed about for years; great nurseries where all sorts of growing things were sold, and crews of experts to go here and there and do landscape gardening.

While he wasn't a millionaire like Matthews, he was prospering mightily.

Olive and Bess no more played together. Even if Olive had remained on the estate living in the gardener's house, they wouldn't have played together, for little Miss Betty knew her place now. She wouldn't have associated with Olive Ryerson.

Olive was seventeen now, and going to one of the best of girls' colleges.

She had a beautiful little home, had her car and a quite satisfactory allowance from her father, who was well able to afford it!

But this sort of thing wouldn't do for Mrs. Matthews' daughter!

She had her private tutors, and then she was sent to a most exclusive finishing school—

After this Bess was taken to Europe.

She came home finally, at nineteen, quite thoroughly "finished" so far as her mother's ideals were concerned.

Returns From College

Mr. Matthews had, long before, came to a settlement with his wife and sent her on her way.

That was how it happened that Mrs. Hayden-Phipps, formerly Mrs. Matthews, was living with her second husband at The Cedars, an estate in the same district where Mr. Ryerson's extensive nurseries and beautiful home was located.

"Bess, now called "Betty," lived with her mother and enjoyed driving down to the village and snubbing all of the natives.

When Olive had returned from college with signal honors and a couple degrees she planned to put in the remainder of the summer playing around and resting. Then she was to study her beloved father's own professional—landscape gardening.

Olive drove her little yellow runabout down to the village on some errands and parked it in front of the drug store.

Just as she was getting out an auto horn back of her was sounding raucously.

"Young person," someone called, coldly, "move along, I always park there."

"Why hello, Bess!" exclaimed Olive, recognizing Bess Matthews.

"Will you move your junk and let me park?" Betty called out shrilly, and turned to her girl friend with, "of all things, it's the daughter of one of father's servants."

Demands Apology

Ollie smiled calmly and provokingly and said, still smiling, "Same monkey-faced little snob, aren't you, Bess!"

Olive went on about her errands and paid no heed to the shout of laughter from the bystanders.

That afternoon Gregory Hayden-Phelps, who had married Bess' mother, came to Mr. Ryerson and demanded that his daughter apologize. Ryerson smiled.

"I thought you had come to pay me the fifteen hundred you've owed me for two years," he said.

Hayden-Phelps struck at Ryerson. Ryerson kicked him out of his office, across the lawn and into his car where his chauffeur and Bess' mother were sitting.

All of this helped to enliven conversation in this village and also drifted to the ears of Mr. Matthews, who was so delighted that he sent Ryerson a priceless set of ancient first editions on landscape gardening in the days of Charles I. of England, and sent Olive a beautiful saddle horse.

One day, out in the country, she came upon Bess and a man riding. For the first time in her life Olive was envious—she thought he was the most attractive man she had ever seen.

The man was worth several fortunes and Bess' mother was doing her best to bring about a match.

The man watched Olive ride past them.

Rescues Girl

"That's perfect riding, Betty," he said.

"Pooh—the daughter of one of father's servants," Bess said.

"Does she live on the estate?"

"I mean one of my own father's servants," Bess said, flushing a little. "She's nobody, and always trying to force herself into our crowd."

The wealthy young man and his younger sister were guests at Mrs. Hayden-Phipps' place. The sister, Inez, wasn't very strong and not an expert rider, although quite as expert as Bess.

She, too, had seen Olive ride and mentioned it to her brother.

"Daughter of one of Matthews' servant, I learned," he said.

"From her—she's that sort—Oh, forgive me, Jack, it slipped out—I shouldn't have said it—but she is a snob and worse—and—"

Olive was riding across a field road on property her father had just bought from Hayden-Phipps, in payment of a debt, and intended to extend his nurseries there.

Bess, the rich young man and his sister Inez came along on their horses. The road was narrow.

"You," Bess called to Olive, "get off of this property, it is private! I'll have you arrested for trespass!"

Bess spurred her horse to crowd Olive, but the horse leaped the other way, into the horse Inez rode. Away went the horse; poor Inez clinging for dear life.

Olive followed across the stubby, uneven field. It was a long ride, but she overtook the frightened animal, got his bridle, and caught Inez as she slipped.

When the wealthy and handsome young man came up, a moment later, followed by Bess, Olive said, "I'm sorry, but my father bought this land the other day."

"Liar!" screamed Bess.

"Will you send our things to the hotel, Miss Matthews?" the young man said.

He and Olive got Inez to Olive's home and she had to be under a doctor's care for a week.

The young man?

He proposed to Olive the next summer and she accepted him.

His name was Kenneth Prince.

"I was told, long ago," the happy Olive said, "that I would marry a Prince, a Prince on horseback."

FIVE AND TEN -:- By Fannie Hurst

to him, as he stood tugging at his collar in the enormous mirrored bathroom which gave off their bedroom. "That man is no more comfortable here than we are in having him."

"What man?"

"Gerson, or whatever it was you said his name is."

"I said his name is Felix Gerkes," he pronounced, slowly and meticulously, as you might mouth a lesson to a child. "Dr. Felix Gerkes has condescended to come and make his home here."

"Isn't it usual, Rarick," she said, her rising anger crowding closer on her discretion, "for even so great a patron saint of indigent college professors as yourself to consult the members of his family before introducing a worthy outsider into the household?"

"There are few demands I make here. This is one of them."

"You have a young-lady daughter to consider."

"That is precisely what I did when I introduced into this madhouse a human being out of the world of ideas."

"I see. You feel that Jennifer's scientific education has been neglected and that no young woman is equipped for life without a Ph. D. knowledge of the glacial age," she said, and glittered as she stood there with her bronze-colored eyes and the points of light off the tapping toe of her slipper. She could have plunged her long jeweled fingers into the valleys of his shoulders and shaken him, as a smothering sense of futility began to crown her in.

Asks His Desires

"Not at all, Jenny. Our daughter's education is all one could ask. She knows a Hispano-Suiza from a Rolls-Royce. She knows a Cartier setting, Theodore at the Ritz, her finishing school 'R's,' and how to stack her artichoke leaves. I notice our son, too, already has quite a way with his artichokes."

The speech was not like him, but rather in mimicry of what she might have said under similar circumstances.

"What a devil you are, Rarick!"

"A poor devil, Jenny," he said, his face as pulled-looking as tarpaulin.

"You are a poor father." She was going to add, "and a poor husband," but she let the words lodge in her eyes.

"I am that," he said, replying to the spoken and unspoken indictment.

"What is it you want of us?" she cried. "Must you oppose your children on every occasion, just as you have always opposed me? Is merely the fact that we want something sufficient itself to dispose you against it? Why must you always be the stern parent to them, with the buffer between? What do you want?"

She did not know it, but she was voicing the cry within his heart.

Respects Wisdom

What did he want? He wanted some of the intimacy from that boy of his that was Jenny's. He wanted some of that intimacy from Jennifer. He wanted . . . What did he want? . . .

"Do you want your children to skip their youth, so that they may follow in the footsteps of some doddering college professor who spends his life fiddling among arrow-heads?"

"I want Felix Gerkes in my house," he said, climbing back from what was sure to be a discussion of defeat by reason of what he considered her colossal lack of logic, "because he knows things that we don't know. That we cannot buy for them. He has not mere learning. He has wisdom."

"I see. Why Eskimo Indians like blubber."

There was absolutely no way to capture a focal point of discussion when you found yourself in argument with such a woman. She invariably answered you in terms of something irrelevant. Damn her! Damn her! In the years since that thought first lightened into his brain it had flashed there with recurring frequency.

"Yes, Jenny," he said again, driven to the extremity of employing her same skidding method, "and why your son, a second-year boy at Newberry, maintains two roadsters, a motorboat, a trotting horse, and fails in his mid-year examinations."

"No man ever understood a high-strung boy less than you understand yours!"

The dart struck sure, and sent his head retreating down into his shoulders. True. True. Too, too true.

"Nor a gay and beautiful daughter, one with brains, let me tell you that, although you prefer to treat her as if she were a moron. She's a match for your professors. Jennifer's got brains!"

"Exactly, damn it all! And for what? Waste. Waste."

Professor to Remain

In a world of superficial interests, filled with the need to be clever and sophisticated, you could be clever with the sharp edge of your brain, if you had one, and sophisticated on a shoestring of intelligence and no heart.

"Your merely clever person is only a first-rate second rather."

"Try being one."

"I can't; it's not in me."

"Lots of things are not in you, Rarick. The ability to meet your world is not in you."

"I wish to God it were not so deeply in you."

"Gerke's world, I suppose . ."

"I don't know his world. He knows the secret of things and of not being smothered by them. Like you. Like me. Like your children."

"Obviously, from the look of his hair-brush."

You couldn't argue with a woman like that. You couldn't. You couldn't. The crazing sense of futility . . . .

She was in her gown by now, a sort of henna-colored affair, as if the threads had been picked from her hair—a gown that wrapped her eccentrically thin body on a diagonal, rushing to a high ruff about her neck in front, cut daringly, almost to her waist line, behind. Between the bang of her hair and a stiff, enormously brilliant dog-collar of diamonds, her eyes were red and level and full of the impudence of her remark.

"Dr. Gerkes remains, Jenny."

Damn her! Damn her! Damn her!

Education's Claim

Deserves Same Rank in National Government as That of Agriculture, Commerce and Labor,

Two hundred and fifty universities and colleges are ably represented at the fourteenth annual meeting in the national capital of the American Council on Education.

But this meeting is held in the building of the National Academy of Sciences because American education—unlike agriculture, commerce and labor—is still without a suitable home in the federal city.

Nor was there a member of the President's cabinet to welcome this great gathering to the federal city because unlike agriculture, commerce and labor, education has not yet been given its rightful place at the council table of the Chief Executive.

From its foundation the federal government has recognized that it had an obligation to aid and promote public education, which the Constitution places under the control of the several states.

Washington, Adams, Jefferson, and the other founders of the government earnestly emphasized the importance of this obligation and "expressed their faith in the necessity of education as the chief basis of their hope for the perpetuity of the American Nation."

Nevertheless the American people are approaching the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of Washington without having elevated education to an equality with agriculture, commerce and labor in the federal system.

The case for a Department of Education has never been more clearly stated than in these words of Dr. C. R. Mann, who is the director of the American Council on Education:

"Education may well claim rank in the national government equal to that accorded to agriculture, commerce and labor. The true functions of these departments are no more executive and administrative than are those of education. All are essentially research and news distributing agencies enlightening the public by collecting and disseminating significant and valid information of wider scope than any state could secure by itself alone. By their constructive influence on American life they have fully justified the wisdom of their establishment."

When the newly elected Congress convenes next December there will be again introduced a bill to create a Department of Education.

This bill will provide for the co-ordination under the new department of all existing educational activities in which the federal government is now engaged.

It will provide for educational research so urgently needed to assist the states in raising the standard of their institutions of learning.

It will create an advisory council of state superintendents of education.

It will authorize an appropriation for the conduct of the Department of Education.

The opportunity is offered the American Council on Education to join the country-wide movement for the establishment of this new department which is so earnestly supported by the National Education Association, the American Federation of Labor, the American Federation of Teachers, and many other national organizations that wish to see the federal government discharge more effectively its obligation in this field.

No more appropriate national celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of Washington's birth has been suggested than the creation of a Department of Education with a secretary of education in the President's cabinet.

Street Car Service

Company Should Not Be Allowed to Take Advantage of Business Depression.

The city of Pittsburgh will have to supply the $75,000 share of the cost of paving contracts due from the Pittsburgh Railways Company if it wishes to avoid further delay in the completion of $600,000 of improvement work. This announcement made last week by Controller James P. Kerr again calls attention to the fact that declining traffic has brought the local street car lines face to face with a serious situation.

A short time ago Thomas Fitzgerald, vice president of the Railways Company, told City Council that street car profits had fallen below the 6 per cent return guaranteed on its valuation under the Traction Conference Board agreement. The company's return is a claim prior to the $75,000 due the city every three months for the railway's share of repaving.

While Fitzgerald said that he hoped the company would be able to make up this amount in the future, he intimated that unless business improves, it may be necessary either to increase fares or reduce service.

Any move which must result in poorer service or a higher cost for transportation should be avoided as long as there are possible alternatives. The problem should be carefully studied and the Pittsburgh Railways Company should not be allowed to take advantage of a situation, created by a temporary business depression, to place an added burden of permanent nature on the car riders.

Life-Saving Sidewalks

Paths for Pedestrians Should Be Constructed Alongside All the Important Highways.

It is a pleasure to note that the construction, by the County Department of Public Works, of a cinder sidewalk alongside the Mt. Royal boulevard near Undercliff has already resulted in a decrease in accidents, though the walk is not yet finished.

The authorities have been slow to appreciate the danger that lies in compelling the people in the rural districts to walk on the highways. The path for pedestrians at Undercliff is the first to be laid out by the county.

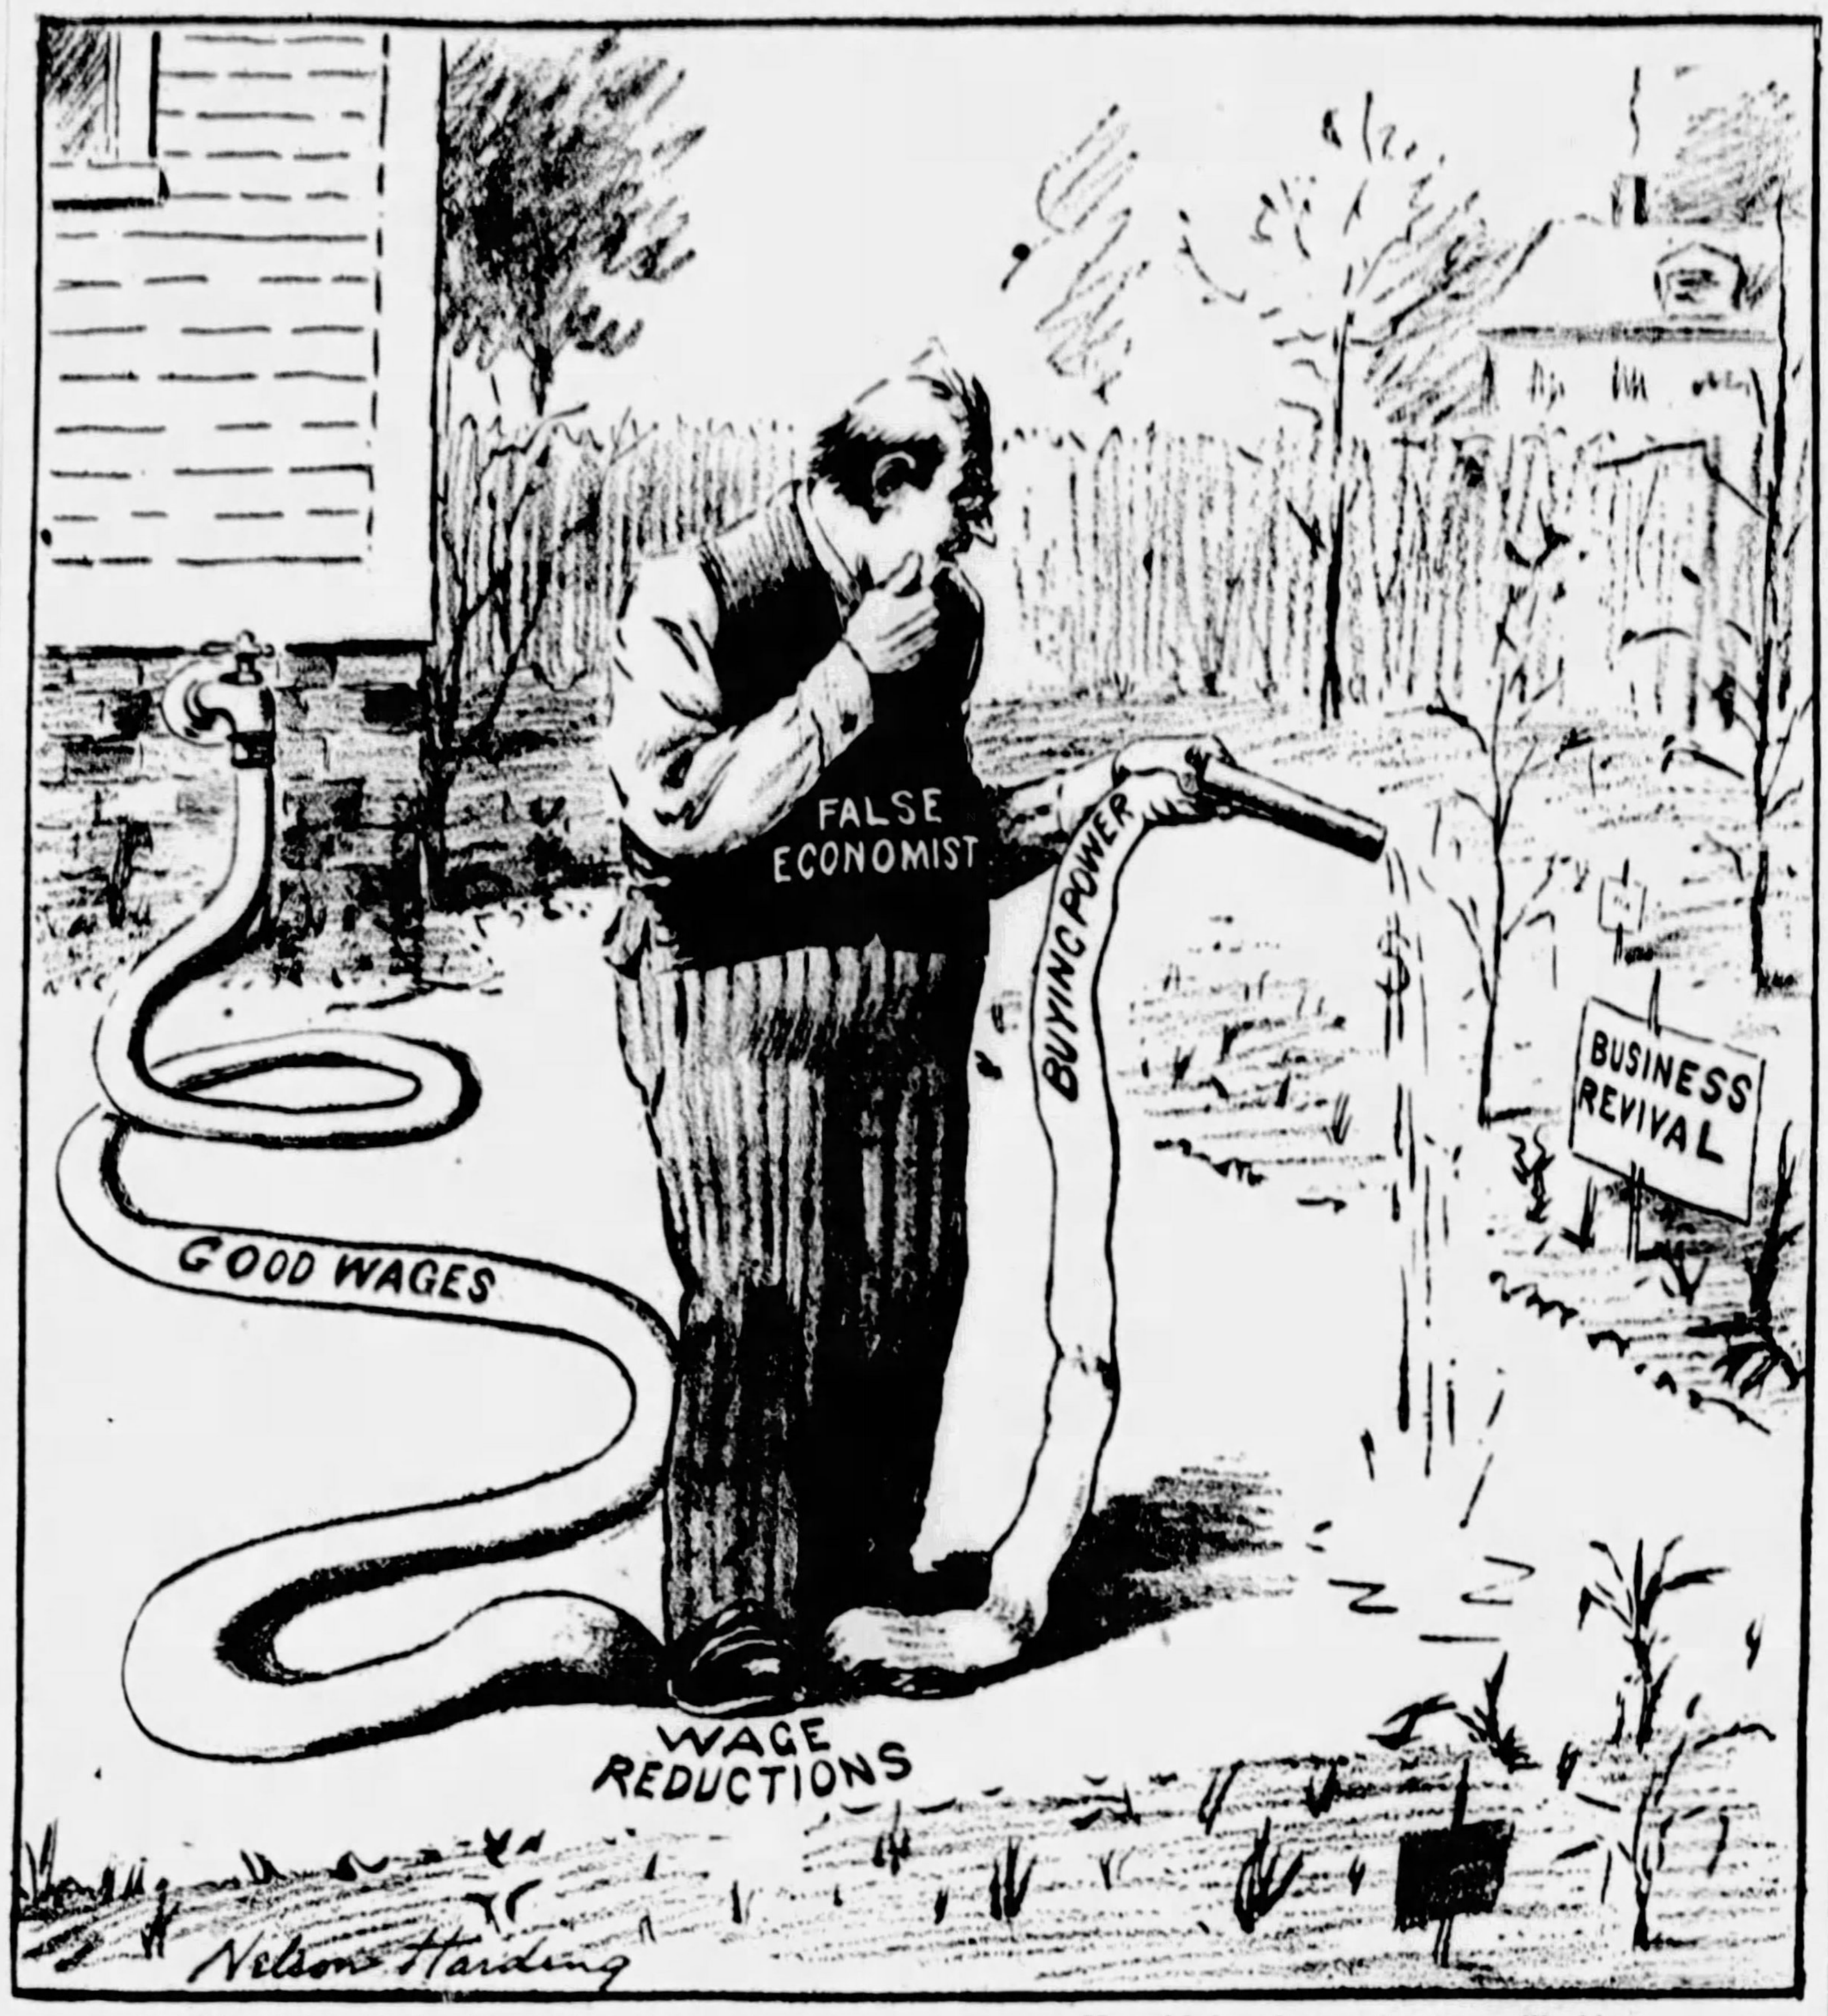
The danger is especially great at night when motorists, more or less blinded by the headlights of cars approaching from the opposite direction, are liable to fail to see pedestrians.

Thoughtless drivers sometimes become impatient with people on foot on the ground that the highways are designed for swiftly moving vehicles and pedestrians have no right to use them. They overlook the fact that people do not walk on the motor roads because they like to, but because there is generally no other place to walk.

Inexpensive cinder paths alongside all the main arteries of automobile travel would be a boon to motorists as well as to those who must go on foot.

How Can Your Garden Grow?

By Nelson Harding



Don't think to help the garden grow
By interfering with the flow
Of water through the garden hose
Or keeping water pressure low

Nor think a lowered wage will aid
The growth of business and trade.
If buying power is reduced
How can recovery be made?

Traffic Lights for Lovers

There ought to be a few more traffic lights for modern lovers.

Never, since the dawn of civilization, have men and women been so "frank and honest" with each other—and never, before, have they understood each other so little, and distrusted each other so much.

* * *

The old-fashioned man loved to talk of "woman's fascinating mystery;" but most of that mystery was in the masculine imagination. The traffic signals along the love-route were perfectly plain in those days.

A BACKLESS OR A MODEST LITTLE GOWN ?

Girls knew THREE things. First, that to let a man know that you loved him, before he asked you to, was fatal (And it still is). Second, that the woman who openly pursued a man, never got anything out of it except the exercise. And third, that to give your kisses away promiscuously as souvenirs, meant that no man would consider them worth the price of a wedding ring. Oh, life was easy!

But, now all that is out—as quaint as a tin bath tub or a pair of corset strings! Now, a girl doesn't know WHAT to do!

She doesn't know whether to wear a backless gown and appeal to a man's senses or to go modestly draped and appeal to his imagination. She doesn't know whether to refuse his casual petting and run the risk of losing his attentions. Or to respond to his kisses and run the risk of destroying his illusions—and possibly his INtentions.

* * *

She doesn't know whether to be a good sport and a gay whoopee girl or to be sweet and feminine and old-fashioned.

TO MAKE LOVE OR NOT TO MAKE LOVE ?

And men are even more at sea about women. They suspect ALL women, and trust no woman. But they are never clear as to what they suspect.

A man never knows whether to suspect a girl of having matrimonial designs on him, or to suspect her of being a man-tamer, just playing him for a good thing.

He doesn't know whether she is going to be insulted if he makes love to her—or insulted if he doesn't.

* * *

With no traffic rules to guide them, no wonder so many young lovers make such tragic and foolish selections, and plunge into matrimony right off the deep end!

HURTLING THROUGH SPACE

By Archibald Henderson

There is one sporting event which never fails in interest. In the human being lurks an instinctive passion for fast travel. Conquest of space at high speed is a tangible proof of the victory of mind over matter, of daring in the face of formidable obstacles. It symbolizes the majesty of science in its ability to manipulate, control and dominate the forces of inanimate nature.

Then too, aside from the sheerly human element, enter enormously pressing needs and demands of industry, travel, trade and transportation. Time is money; and the saving of time is being given a higher financial rating as the world moves forward into new ages. The needs for rapid transportation in war time have always been recognized as vital and imperative. The failure of orders to reach destination within a given time interval may spell the defeat of any army, procure the fall of a fortress, or even accomplish the termination of a great war.

A week seldom passes nowadays that does not announce the breaking of some new speed record. There seems no limit to the supply of daredevils of air, land and water, both male and female. Moreover, scientists and inventors are persistently at work on the problems of reducing friction resistance; of effecting new and more efficient designs for cutting down the eternal obstacle of this frictional resistance; for streamlining cars, boats, ships, planes, aircraft of all sorts. Resistance is a formidable foe, since it increases not proportionately, but by the square of horsepower; and the horsepower needed to induce the speed increases by the cube. Efficiency in design plays a large role in technical advance; engines which are at once lighter and more powerful are the goal of the inventor.

Present speeds and the constant breaking of records naturally prompt the query: Are there definite limits which may be set to various types of vehicles for different media? Approximate notions may be arrived at, and set down with some assurance of the accuracy of the prophecies.

Ocean liners, for example, now attain a speed of something less than 30 knots, although capable under forced pressure, for short spurts, of exceeding that limit. From the standpoint of the present day inventor, and unless some revolutionary changes in power, fuel or design are effected, 50 miles an hour for the best ocean liners may long stand as a record to be sought. The motor boat is the water flyer, since it avoids a large percentage of water friction by sticking its nose high in the air. Recently Gar Wood beat the late Sir Henry O. D. Segrave's record by almost three and a half miles per hour, driving his motor boat, Miss America IX, at the breakneck speed of 102.256 miles an hour.

Locomotives have traveled as fast as 102.3 miles per hour. It is not likely, chiefly for economic reasons, that this speed will be greatly exceeded in the near future, owing to the expense of keeping roadbeds in condition. The automobile has traveled on specially designed, straightaway track at the rate of 245.733 miles an hour, the record made this year by Sir Malcolm Campbell. But the psychological factor of attention, a limit for the human being, stands as a barrier to advances beyond a possible speed of 300 miles per hour. For a seaplane the fastest speed yet attained is 357.723 miles per hour. The possibilities for advance in speeds in the region of the air are immense. It is confidently prophesied that a speed of 500 miles per hour will be attained within the reasonably near future.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Generosity is another one of those things apt to hand you a painful surprise.

Way back when you were five, Mama told you to share your candy with little Jimmy. Then little Jimmy would love you and Mama 'n' Papa would be proud of you. For everyone loved and was proud of Generous Little Boys.

That was your first sales-talk on Generosity and it went over big with you. Naturally, all your instincts were against sharing candy or anything else with anybody. But you hankered for popularity and applause quite as much at five as you do at 45. And if you could get all that pleasing publicity just by divvying up on a lil ole lollipop—

So, with both eyes on the profits, you decided to be generous. But the years have brought a gradual disillusion. You're still sharing lollipops as Mama said you should. But do the folks who get your lollipops love you for your kindly act? And do the onlookers praise you for your noble deeds?

Quite contrary!

Instead of being grateful because you have given them one lollipop, the recipients of your favor are usually mad because you have three left. Why should you have lollipops to give away when they haven't? Why should they have to be grateful to you when they're really a lot smarter than you are and would have millions of lollipops themselves if they'd only had your breaks?

So, while he's outwardly gushing and grinning and telling you what a grand guy you are, "little Jimmy" is inwardly hating and envying you. Be generous—and buy yourself an enemy!

And how do the bystanders, who watch you go through your Big Act, feel about it? Mama had said they'd admire and praise you. Do they? Not so's you'd notice it! Generally they think you're a sap and say so. And they, too, are secretly mad at you. Not for one second do they believe in the pure philanthropy of your deed. No sir-e-e-e, you're just trying to Show Off!

So, if you're looking for popularity, generosity is one of the worst investments you can make. It will buy you little save grief. And yet—

If you are willing to undertake generosity as you would any other great adventure—

Facing its certain dangers and discomforts, realizing its limitations and handicaps—

Knowing that you must pay as heavily for this as for any other widening experience—

THEN GENEROSITY IS THE GREATEST AND MOST GALLANT EXPERIMENT YOU CAN MAKE WITH YOUR TIME, YOUR MONEY AND YOUR LOVE. AND, THOUGH OTHERS WILL DESPISE AND HATE YOU, AND NEARLY ALWAYS FAIL YOU, YOU WILL NEVER REGRET THAT EXPERIMENT FOR ONE INSTANT, YOURSELF, FOR YOU MAY EMPTY YOUR POCKETBOOK, BUT YOU WILL FILL YOUR SOUL.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Time: The Perfumer

Who knows how many roses went to make
This tiny vial of perfume that
I hold?
How many petals, for this attar's sake,
Lay, spoiled of life, their scarlet and their gold?
Yet such a fragrance well can justify
This wanton waste of beauty, lightly spent;
Better that thousand blossoms,
crushed, should die,
Than that we should not have this lovely scent.

Time, the perfumer, too, takes countless hours
In building lives through patient days and weeks,
Distilling from them, as men do
from flowers,
The essences that his desire seeks.
Ah, who can say how many years must go
To make the fragrant moments which we know.

Text for Today For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.—Luke, xi:10.

Death's Minaret

Good for Prayer, Good for Execution.

Condemned were thrown from top of this tower.

Towering above the earth, more than 200 feet, this narrow tower of Afghanistan, its height emphasized by the camel standing at the foot was used in various ways.

From the top the Muezzin called upon faithful Mohammedans to kneel with their faces toward Mecca in the East and pray to Allah.

And the tower was used for public executions. The condemned were taken to the top, which must have been a tiresome climb, told to say what they had to say quickly, and thrown down.

Two British officers, Stoddart and Connolly, were thrown from this tower 90 years ago by the Amir Nasrullah of Bokhara. Great crowds gathered for the executions, announced by public criers.

It was a painless death, better than the ancient Jewish custom of stoning the condemned, better than the Roman cruelty of crucifixion, more pleasant than the Spanish garrote, which strangles and stabs the base of the brain, far pleasanter than the knout, popular in old Russia.

Happily, there is always progress. Today one of these "minarets of death," of which there are several in the East, is used as a radio station.

It would surprise Mohammed to know that one single Muezzin broadcasting could summon the faithful from all over the earth.

We print this picture to call your attention to the fact that there is progress everywhere and that progress especially depends on swift and easy contact between employers and employed. A Muezzin, calling to prayer, was not as useful as a good classified advertisement calling a good man to a good job.

Read the Classified Advertising in this newspaper, all kinds. You will see in each printed column a "Minaret of Life," offering opportunity.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 11.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Out with my wife and we suddenly decided to visit the Metropolitan Museum of Art and saw the Havemeyer collection of paintings, including several Rembrandts, Corots and Manets. So walking through the park my head filled with grandiose thoughts.

On Fifty-ninth street a puzzled young man stopped and said: "Mister, I'm a greenhorn and am trying to find the athletic club"—and it was the first time I've heard "greenhorn" for years. In Fifty-seventh street we ran into the young hoyden Patsy Kelly, who is to me the most promising comedienne in the town.

In the evening to the seashore, driving down Ocean Parkway as Coney Island was lighting up and dining at Tappan's on steamed clams and lobster while a colored quartet sang plantation songs. Then to the Palace and talked to Irving Caesar, my favorite lyricist, and Sam H. Harris, the theater man.

Arthur Krock once wrote this short history of New York in a single paragraph: "Originally, New York City belonged to the aborigines. The last of these, the Indians, after selling Manhattan Island to the Dutch, retired to their native forests. The English then conquered the Dutch, who retired to their clubs—the Knickerbocker and the Union. The Irish then conquered the English, who retired to their clubs—the Racquet and the Brook. The Jews then conquered the Irish, all of whom retired to Southampton."

This is an actual telegram from Hollywood to a Broadway song publishing house: "Keep an eye on Gilbert and Sullivan. Said to be a coming pair of song writers."

At a dinner the other evening ice cream in a huge globule arrived wrapped in green spun silk on a large platter. "Look!" cracked a clown. "The death mask of Trader Horn."

I dropped into Frank Case's Algonquin last evening and to me it is one of the few hotels in the mad hurrah to preserve a pronounced hospitality. As hotels go it is one of the old timers, but there is an appealing leisure, galvanizing into efficiency when necessary. Bell boys, clerks and waiters soon begin calling patrons by name. The atmosphere has the inartistic victoriousness of calm. There are no shining fistfuls of mechanical tricks, but instead the friendly open palm of a sincere welcome. The Murray Hill, far older, diffuses the same quality of—at least to me—stimulating mellowness. Perhaps such vanishing enchantments have a more distinct tug as we grow older.

My father, I think, in a small way, was one of the best hotel keepers I ever knew. The comfort of each patron was an individual worry. He made a personal selection of every item of food served in his dining room and a similar inspection of every one of his 30 rooms daily. He was up at 5 o'clock and never retired until he locked the front doors at midnight. He would not receive stage folk—not because of any aversion to their calling—but because he regarded them as untidy. Yet he helped many stranded troupers with his own cash to the next town.

The bane and joy of my father's hotel life was Old Hannibal, the black porter and general handy man. Hannibal was always full of whisky and sleep. The enormous bell that was chimed to arouse Hannibal was at the curb outside the hotel office window. For many years it was also the village fire bell. I never heard my father speak a kind word to Hannibal, but both hands and both feet were frost-bitten driving to St. Joe in a blinding snow storm one night to get the lovable old rascal out of jail.

The last time I saw Hannibal he was drowsing in the sun on the kitchen steps of the hotel. His pipe, the smell of which would gag a hyena, had fallen from his lips and the sparks were burning his shirt. "Hannibal," I cried, "you are on fire!" He blinked a few times, struggled to grin, and replied sleepily: "Yassah, I most gen-ally is in the late afternoons."

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

In a way it is unfortunate that you cannot see yourself as others do.

It is easy to overlook your own deficiencies and emphasize those of other people.

If someone who knows you intimately would criticize you honestly you might be surprised at the displeasing traits you display at home.

Your study of people has not included yourself.

The greatest students of humanity most severely criticize themselves.

You have been a biased critic and biased in your own favor.

You may know those from whom you seldom hear a word of praise for others.

Nothing worth bragging about, these self-appointed critics of men.

The man who knows himself as he really is and is willing to admit it to himself, is more charitable in his criticism of others.

He knows how easy it is to err in judgment or in action.

He is willing to make liberal allowances for human frailties and he seeks to protect others, not to denounce them.
